RANDOLPH COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY TO BETTER PUBLIC LIBRARY

volume xix no. 5 • November 2011

randolphlibrary.org

The Adequates (standing: Don Monroe, Tom White and Allen Holt; seated: Philip Shore III) will perform Christmas tunes and Barbershop standards at 7 p.m. Thursday, December 15 at the Asheboro library.

Barbershop group to croon for Christmas

♣Asheboro's celebrated barbershop quartet The Adequates will perform a holiday concert at 7 p.m. Thursday, December 15, at the Asheboro library.

The concert, sponsored by the Friends of the Library, is free and the public is invited.

The Adequates are Allen Holt, Don Monroe, Philip Shore III and Tom White. The group has won top honors in the Senior Games talent show for two years running, and is much in demand for local performances.

The group will perform holiday tunes as well as barbershop standards.

Aporkalypse Now!

Powell debuts cartoon collection

◆Observations about everything from regional gastronomic habits to "the sandwich that broke all the rules" can be found in Home of the Aporkalypse!!!, a collection of Rich Powell's Dixe Drive cartoons.

Powell will talk about his book at 7 p.m. Thursday, December 8, at the Asheboro Public Library, and will have copies on hand to sell and sign.

The program, sponsored by the Friends of the Library, is free and the public is invited.

Powell, an artist and illustrator, lives in Asheboro with his wife Frankie and daughter Bailey. His illustration work has appeared in magazines as crazy as MAD Magazine and as classy as Our State, on board games, in computer games and apps, on t-shirts and ball caps, in ads and anywhere else that can hold ink (or pixels).

Dixie Drive appears in Get This!, the weekly entertainment supplement of The Courier Tribune. Home of the Aporkalypse!!! covers roughly the first year-and-a-half of the cartoon in an 88-page soft-cover book.

Citizens of Randolph County will particularly enjoy familiar names and places mentioned in these cartoons.

Key county history books digitized, available online

Farlow pens new novel; more e-reader workshops; tree-trimming for teens & tweens

Archdale

336-431-3811 Fax 336-431-4619 10433 S. Main St. Mon, Wed, Fri 9-6; Tues, Thur 9-8; Sat 9-5

Asheboro

336-318-6800 Fax 336-318-6823 201 Worth St. Mon-Thur 9-9; Fri 9-6; Sat 9-5

Randolph Room

336-318-6815 Mon, Thur-Sat 9-5 Tues, Wed 9-9

John W. Clark

(Franklinville) 336-824-4020 111 Sumner Place Mon-Fri 2-6; Sun. 2-5

Liberty

336-622-4605 Fax 336-622-4605 239 S. Fayetteville St. Mon,Wed,Fri 9-5; Tues,Thur 9-7; Sat 9-1

Ramseur

336-824-2232 Fax 336-824-2232 1512 S. Main St. Mon-Fri 8:30-5

Randleman

336-498-3141 Fax 336-498-1139 122 Commerce Sq. Mon-Fri 10-6; Sat 10-1

Seagrove

336-873-7521 530 Seagrove Plank Rd. Mon-Thur 1-7; Fri 12-6; Sat 10-3

Extension Service

336-318-6816 or 336-318-6817; Mon-Fri 9-5

Dial-A-Story 336-318-6833

from the director

Ross A. Holt

Key county history books go online

♣ I must confess. I destroyed a Randolph County history book.

I did it with the best intentions. Honestly.

But I took a copy of Randolph County, 1779-1979 — the authoritative county history — and sliced the binding loose with a box cutter. Then I cut apart the sections of the codex and used a paper cutter to cut away the folds.

The idea was to use the scanning capability of our office copier to digitize the book and make it available online.

Due to factors beyond my control — the copier would not scan odd-sized pages fully — my efforts failed. The goal of putting this resource and other similar ones online, however, still tugged at me.

The history book, published by the Randolph County Historical Society and the Randolph Arts Guild in commemoration of the county's bicentennial, is exhaustive in scope. With its photographs, illustrations and primary source excerpts, it's the first place to go for this county's history.

But it's designed for reading and browsing, not necessarily for research. The indexes are very general. The book's structure, which moves era-by-era, makes it difficult to follow a single thread — the development of the railroads, or of the county's schools, or of a town — over time.

A simple keyword search capability would overcome all these problems and more effectively unlock the historical treasures held within.

This is now a reality thanks to Reference librarian and Randolph Room staff member Rachael Kuehl, who has coordinated with the North Carolina Digital Heritage Center to digitize a copy of Randolph County, 1779-1979 and place it on DigitalNC (library.digitalnc.org), the Heritage Center's online collection. The online presentation shows an image of each page, with zoom-in and zoom-out capability — and keyword searching.

The Center also has digitized and posted Sidney Swaim Robins's Sketches of My Asheboro: Asheboro, North Carolina, 1890-1910, and will make Mac Whatley's Architectural History of Randolph County, NC, available soon. A fourth title, Randolph County Business Directory, 1894, had already been digitized and posted.

The North Carolina Digital Heritage Center is a statewide digitization and digital publishing program housed in the North Carolina Collection at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. The center works with cultural heritage institutions across North Carolina to digitize and publish historic materials online.

With our county's key history books out of print, the center's work will keep them available and accessible for readers and researchers everywhere.

Meanwhile, I've got one copy of the history book that's essentially a stack of loose pages. Maybe I'll make historical hats... or perhaps, paper boats.

RANDOLPH COUNTY

The Randolph County Public Library NEWS is published monthly by the Asheboro Randolph County Public Library and the Friends of the Library. To subscribe, join the Friends by returning the membership application on page 4.

Someone's trying to keep family secrets secret in Farlow's new novel

♣ First, some bumbling terrorists hid out in Welbourne County, NC, in Jonathan Farlow's Holy War.

Then, Ashewood Falls' mayor got some unexpected election opposition in Brouhaha.

Now, family secrets come to the fore in a favorite aunt's unpublished novel in Stuck in the Middle, Farlow's latest tale of small-town intrigue.

A longtime library staff member, Farlow released Stuck in the Middle in October as an ebook via Amazon.com for $2.99, and online at jonfarlow.webs.com for free. Hard copies also can be purchased

Jonathan Farlow

McFarland, a sports reporter with a large, eccentric extended family. His aunt Zephyr dies suddenly, leaving him

The plot concerns Jimmy for $10, directly from Farlow.

instructions in her will to promote a thinly-veiled tell-all she has written about a prominent area family.

But one member of this family may not want the secrets revealed, and when another death follows, Jimmy becomes suspicious.

Farlow is also a columnist for Our Hometown newspaper. He lives in Archdale with his wife Kathy and daughters Sara and Emily.

Library offers E-reader 101 sessions

♣Learn about e-readers and ebooks at workshops in Asheboro and Archdale.

The sessions will take place at 10 a.m. Tuesday, December 6 at the Asheboro library, and 7 p.m. Wednesday, December 7, at the Archdale library. They're free and anyone who wants to learn about ereaders is invited.

The presentation will include a demonstration on how to use the Digital Depot, Randolph County Public Library's new ebook lending service, to borrow eBooks, as well as an overview of the considerations involved in buying an eReader. There will be time after the presentation to try out a Nook or a Kindle with assistance from library staff.

Teens, 'tweens invited to trim tree

♣Teens and 'tweens ages 10-18 are invited to make Christmas ornaments for themselves and for the Asheboro library Christmas tree from 4-6 p.m. Thursday, December 1, at the library.

The workshop is sponsored by the Friends of the Library, and is free.

The ornaments will be on display for the month of December on the Library's main Christmas tree. Participants will have an opportunity to handcraft a variety of ornaments from various patterns.

This year's Christmas tree theme will be "Why I Love the Library — Let Me Count the Ways." Ornaments will be made from felt and variety of papers.

Book discussions

Asheboro Reads: B.Y.O.B. (Bring your own book!), 2 p.m. Tuesday, November 29.

Luna Book Club: State of Wonder by Ann Patchett, 7 p.m, 7 p.m. Tuesday, November 29.

Archdale Book Break: The Christmas Quilt by Jennifer Chiaverini, 2 p.m. Tuesday, December 20.

Liberty Book Club: Fourth Tuesday, Liberty library. Call 622-4605 for details. Library discussion groups are free and open to all. Refreshments are served.

Archdale Joblink

JobLink's NC SHARE
Network has set up shop at the Archdale library on Mondays and Tuesdays in December. SHARE is a computer lab with a JobLink staffer on hand to assist with job searching,
applications and resumes, and more. For more information contact JobLink
at 633-0304 or the library
431-3811

Stories sought

How have North Carolina's libraries made a difference in your life? NC LIVE, the state's online library, is collecting your stories in order to tell the state's library story. To participate, answer the question, "_____ was made possible by NC libraries" at www.nclive.org/mystory.

Friends stock library Christmas tree with potential presents Themed, wrapped packages of gently used books will be available for sale under the library's Christmas tree, which will go up on December 1. The packages, which make excellent presents, will cost $5 and will be sorted by genre (romance, mystery, suspense, etc.), and are available courtesy of the Friends of the Library Bookshop.

Randolph County Public Librar	NAMEADDRESS
YES! I'd like to become a Friend and support the wonderful programs sponsored by the Friends each year
Mail to: Friends of the Library P.O. Box 2806 Asheboro, NC 27204 Memberships are tax deductible	□ Student

Randolph County Public Library

201 Worth Street Asheboro, NC 27203

Return Service Requested

Non-Profit Organization U.S. Postage PAID Asheboro, NC 27203 Permit No. 50

memorials & donations

In Memory of: Clara Routh Bulla By: Lynne R. Qualls

In Memory of: Stephen J. Dix

By: Sue Joyner

Dot and Bob Walker

Quinton Winford Hussey By: Charles & Juanita Kesler

In Memory of: Carl B. Johnson
By: Talmadge and Sara Baker

In Memory of: Mary Ella Johnson

By: Best Sand & Gravel Rose C. Boyd Jonna Libbert Mary J. McIntosh Margaret A. Moore

In Memory of: Helen Deaton Parks
By: Steve and Diane Wrenn

In Memory of: Arlene P. Smith

Dot and Bob Walker

By: Irene Smith

In Memory of: Rev. Charles C. Spivey
By: Lynne R. Qualls

In Honor of: Mae Auman

In Honor of: Joan Boyd

By: Susan Coltrane Jonna Libbert

Memorials to the Asheboro Public Library Foundation, Inc.

In Memory of: Arlene Smith By: Asheboro Reads Book Club