Penny Latham, president of the Rainbow House of Winston-Salem, was guest speaker when members of the Archdale-Trinity Woman's Club met at Howard Johnson's.

Mrs. Latham stressed the need for a Rainbow House near the Baptist Hospital, stating that it will be a home away from home where families can stay while their children are receiving treatment at the hospital for chronic illnesses such as cancer, heart disease, cystic fibrosis, kidney dialysis or prematurity. The home will provide a friendly environment and comfortable accommodations for the family when it's needed most.

During the business session Lynda Huffines was selected as nominee for the District 7 Juanita Bryant Award, and Kay Fulcher, for the District 7 Minnie Lou Creech Award. They will represent the club at the district meeting on Oct. 19 in Greensboro.

The club also nominated Mary Hamilton, a Golden Age Club member, for the Madge Kivett Award which is given to an outstanding senior adult.

Fund-raising events for the year will include the sale of home care products, baked items and bazaar items as well as an auction sale.

The club's annual fashion show will be held Oct. 6 at Trinity High School Theater.

Welcomed into club membership were Kim Labonte, Mary Nell Roland, and Susie Turner. Guests included Michelle Richards, Juniorette Club president, and Donna Overcash.

Dear friends:

Rainbow House would like to express a very special and sincere thanks to you for the contribution that we have recently received. The money will go into our endowment fund in order to ensure that the house will be able to function smoothly on a yearly basis. It is because of people such as you that this will be possible.

Best wishes.

Merry Christmas

Dear Friends:

As we approach the Christmas holidays, we look back over 1983 and are overwhelmed with what you have accomplished through your volunteer efforts for the people of Randolph County.

A quick check of our records shows a staggering average of 150 trips per month to medical providers by those of you in volunteer transportation; 300 hours in making our fuel program a success; 130 of you who service 3,000 households with commodity distributions for times during the year; and 100 plus hours per month your clerical workers gave to keep the paperwork flowing. Countless times you have been called on with only a minute's notice to do a thankless job and your response has been overwhelming.

Altogether, you were a part of 12,000 individual hours of service. In addition, cash contributions $10,000 plus in goods were received to make good things happen. (Figure includes Christmas Cheer.)

Thank you for being a big part of this high privilege of services we enjoy. Merry Christmas! Happy New Year!

GERONTOLOGY

Our club sponsors a senior citizens club (The Golden Age Club). Each month club members provide transportation, decorate the meeting place, arrange programs, and provide food for the Golden Age meeting.

In March a birthday party was given at McDonald's for all the club members.

A Halloween party was held for the Golden Age members. They came dressed in Halloween costumes.

Special guests at a Christmas luncheon are the Golden Agers. Each club member presents a gift to a Golden Age Club member.

Mrs. Mary Hamilton, a Golden Age Club member, received the Madge Kivett Award for outstanding service in the community by a Randolph County senior adult. She was named one of the five outstanding senior citizens of North Carolina by the North Carolina Jaycettes. Mrs. Hamilton was the woman's club nominee.

Golden Agers Meet

By SHIRLEY CLODFELTER

Gordon Dillon of Archdale was the guest speaker at the Jan. 26 meeting of the Archdale-Trinity Golden Age Club. Dillon told stories of family and community history and gave the members a quiz to help them remember experiences they had had in the past. He told them that each one was living a life that matters and urged them to share or write down life experiences, even little things, or these memories would be lost to future generations.

Mary Hamilton presided over the meeting. It was reported that visits had been made to nursing homes to see Nannie Gray, Jewel Crowson and Elizabeth Skeen. A memorial had been given for Verna Bean. Bessie Padgett had the devotional with a prayer by Helen Boggs. Dot Elliot was welcomed as a guest.

Officers for 1984 were installed. They are Mary Hamilton, president; Mary McMahan, vice president; Zelma Bellamy, secretary; Lena Phillips, treasurer; Vera Tuttle, historian and Bessie Padgett, chaplain.

Lunch was served by woman's club hostesses for the month: Kemper Parris, Ruth Ann Small, Rachel Booze and Shirley Clodfelter.

Golden Age Club Has Meeting

The Golden Age Club met Wednesday, Feb. 22 at Archdale Methodist hut.

President Mary Hamilton called the meeting to order and Bessie Padgett gave the devotions. The club will go to McDonald's in March for their annual birthday party.

The guest speaker was Kent Bryant, who is missionary director of Child Evangelism Fellowship of Durham. His program featured slides of his missionary tour of the South Sea Islands. While there he trained natives and taught the Bible to their people.

Mary Hamilton and Juanita Hamilton provided spaghetti for club members. Hostesses from the Archdale-Trinity Woman's Club were Joyce Varner, Marge Clements, Lynda Huffines and Kay Fulcher. They provided the salad and potted plants to each Golden Age member.

Golden Age Club Meets

The Archdale-Trinity Golden Age Club met on Wednesday, Oct. 26 at the Archdale Methodist Church Hut for a Halloween party. Members of the Club and hostesses came dressed in Halloween costumes. Vera Tuttle and Lena Phillips won prizes for best costumes and Helen Boggs won a prize for pinning the tail on a black cat. The group was visited by a witch from Balloons, Unlimited. Mary Hamilton entertained with some scary stories.

Officers elected for 1984 are: Mary Hamilton, president, Mary McMahan, vice president, Zelma Bellomy, Secretary, Lena Phillips, treasurer, Bessie Padgett, chaplain and Vera Tuttle, historian.

Woman's Club hostesses Phyllis Hendrix, Janice Smith, Lynda Huffines and Shirley Clodfelter prepared and served lunch and carried out the Halloween theme in decorations.

The Golden Agers will have the Woman's Club members as their guests for a Thanksgiving dinner on Nov. 16.

The Rev. Issac Harris had the devotional.

Mary Hamilton: Pure Energy At 80

OUTSTANDING. Mary Alice Hamilton was named one of the five outstanding senior citizens of North Carolina by the North Carolina Jaycettes at their awards luncheon at the Sheraton Convention Center in Southern Pines recently. Among her other activities, Mrs. Hamilton is active in the local Senior Adults Association.

By GINA BROOKS MADDOX

She's a petite, fragile-looking woman with a quick smile and delicate features. But don't let that fool you. Mary Wingfield Hamilton is pure energy.

"I never see a dull day," said the 80-year-old Archdale homemaker. "There's so much to do. When people tell me they're bored with life, I just can't understand it."

Mrs. Hamilton received the Madge Kivett Award for Outstanding Service in the community by a Randolph County Senior Adult at an October 11 banquet sponsored by the Asheboro Jaycettes.

"I just couldn't believe it," she said. "I looked at the list of the other nominees, and I just couldn't believe I won." The Archdale-Trinity Woman's Club nominated Mrs. Hamilton for the award, which is based on contribution to the community, evidence of leadership ability and evidence of personal progress.

The nomination cited her years of involvement with church and civic activities, including her contributions to the Golden Age Club, which is sponsored by the Archdale-Trinity Woman's Club. "She has served the members of that club in many ways," her sponsors stated. "As president; with a telephone ministry; (she has) shared her poems and devotionals, helped to inspire seniors to stay active and interested in life and to reach out to help others."

"That's my aim — to cheer up people," said Mrs. Hamilton, who delivers lively recitations of favorite poetry during her regular visits to area nursing homes. She also keeps in touch with nursing home residents by telephone. "She's always on the phone," said her daughter, Juanita Joy Hamilton of Archdale. "She knows it means a lot to some people just to get a call from someone they know."

Mrs. Hamilton is an active member of Trindale Baptist Church, where she is assistant superintendent of the Children's Department. In 1979 she organized the Trindale Senior Club at the church and served as its president for three years. She has taught Bible classes for many years and currently heads up a Sunday school class for teenagers.

Her daughter is director of Child Evangelism in the Archdale-Trinity area.

Mrs. Hamilton is a member and past vice president of the Jolly Sixties, a group of seniors sponsored by the Salvation Army, and was the first president of the Randolph Adult Association in Archdale.

Born in Lynchburg, Va., Mrs. Hamilton traveled across the country with her late husband, Asheboro native Cecil Hamilton, and lived in Portland, Ore., before moving to Archdale, where she has lived for 32 years.

She returns to Virginia each year for her family reunion and sometimes entertains the Wingfield clan (as she calls them) with poems about the childhood experiences of her 12 brothers and sisters. "We have so much fun talking about when we were growing up," she said.

Mrs. Hamilton writes poetry often, sometimes as tributes to friends who have been especially helpful. "She's very creative," said her daughter, Juanita Joy. "She enjoys all sorts of crafts."

"Everybody should know how to do something that interests them," Mrs. Hamilton said, "so that when they get older and retire, they won't be bored. People should stay busy."

And, despite arthritis in her back, Mary Hamilton stays busy, and hopes others her age don't "lose interest in life."

"Seniors have so much to give," she said, "so much to teach others."

This Life

Life has been so good to me,
That's why I'm as happy as can be;
I enjoy the sunshine, the skys of blue,
The flowers, the tree, and the things that I do.

I have kindred and friends that I love,
But most of all — my Father above;
I know all the good things that come my way,
Are sent by my Lord, day after day.

So why should I worry as I go on my way?
Knowing I'm cared for both night and day;
At the end of this life, when I round the last bend,
I'll go on rejoicing world without end.

Dear Mrs. Varner:

Thank you for your recent donation to Randolph County Women's Aid. It is because of generous donors that we are able to continue the program at the shelter.

As you probably know, we operate totally on donations of money, supplies, and services. Most of the clients who need our help have little, if any, money. Some come to the shelter with only a few clothes, no car, no job, no furniture, etc. with which to begin life anew away from the abuser, should they decide upon that course of action. Our goal is not only to enable them to live in safety but to lead them in learning how to prevent family violence from continuing from generation to generation.

Membership dues are $10.00 yearly. Members receive The Advocate, our newsletter, three times yearly and are invited to attend the Annual Meeting. If you would like to help further through membership, or in any other way, please call the shelter for more information.

We do appreciate what you have done to help reduce the problem of family violence and its resultant tragedies in our community.

Yours truly,

Greensboro Clubs Take Top Honors At Arts Festival

By JUDY PHILLIPS
Enterprise Women's Editor

Greensboro clubs took top honors at the District 7 Arts Festival held Saturday at High Point Friends Meeting House on Quaker Lane. Woman's Club of High Point was hostess group for the event, which attracted more than 200 members of Woman's Clubs and Junior Woman's Clubs throughout the district.

Members of the High Point Junior Woman's Club assisted the hostesses in welcoming guests and directing them to the exhibit areas.

Approximately 180 entries, winners in local festivals, were received from 20 district clubs in competition for blue ribbons in crafts and the arts. The entries included club members' as well as students' work.

Greensboro Junior Woman's Club received the Sweepstakes Award for winning the most blue ribbons in overall competition.

A member of that club, Julie Hill, was honored with the Linda G. White Award for outstanding service to her club, church and community. Ms. Hill is the incoming state Junior director.

Elizabeth Avent of Greensboro's O'Henry Woman's Club won the tricolor ribbon, the Hamilton Lakes Woman's Club Clubwoman Crafts Award, for best in show.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

The community service projects of the Archdale-Trinity Woman's Club for September 1, 1982 - September 1, 1983 include: GOLDEN AGE CLUB. The ATWC sponsors a senior citizens club in the Archdale-Trinity area called The Golden Age Club. The Golden Age Club has 20 members. Its purpose is to give the senior citizens a social outlet and to let them know ~~there~~ ^{are} there people who care about them.

Members of the ATWC take turns providing transportation to the meeting place, decorating the meeting place, seeing ~~there~~ there is an interesting program each month, having recreation and favors for each Golden Ager every month, and giving each Golden Age member a gift at Christmas.

Twenty-six members spend approximately five hours each for a total of 150 hours to this project and we spent $ 145.00 ~~on~~.

This year a Senior Adult Center was built at Creekside Park in Archdale. Our Club contributed $ 500.00 to this building and also collected glass, magazines, and newspapers for this project. CAROSUEL THEATRE. The ATWC Education Chairman served as a liason for the Carousel Theatre, which presents a series of plays each year for children. Members of the club act as clowns and go to the three elementary schools in the Archdale-Trinity area to promote ticket sale. The Education Department provided $ 56.00 for gas to transport the students to the Carousel Theatre and also made arrangements for all third graders in the three elementary schools to attend these plays. Three club members spent 20 hours on this project.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK PROJECT. Letters of appreciation were sent to the teachers at the local schools during National Education Week.

Our Sallie-Southall Cotten Scholarship winner was Eliazbeth Saunders. She was awarded $ 100.00 from the ATWC.

Our club gave a plaque to the Best All Around Boy and Girl at the Archdale-Trinity Middle School. Five members helped with these projects for a total of 20 hours. We spent a total of $ 195.26 in the Education Department.

CHRISTMAS TOY PROJECT. The Home Life Department and the ATWC members help the Trinity High School students collect toys for needy children in our area at Christmas. Club members get a list of children and divide them among the homerooms at the high school. The students are given the age and sex of each child. They provide toys, etc. for these children. The ATWC members pick up these gifts and deliver them to the Health Department in Archdale. A total of 60 children received these Christmas gifts.

The ATWC gave 18 fruit baskets to needy families at Christmas. We spent $ 51.50.

TALENT SHOW PROJECT. Each year the ATWC sponsors a talent show at Trinity High School. This year we had 35 students participating. They were from ages 13 - 18 years.

They participated in three categories, vocal, instrumental, and dance.

Cash awards of $50, $30, And $20 were awarded to the top winners in each category. This prize money amounting to $ 300.00 was donated by local businessmen.

The purpose of the talent show is to raise money for a $ 500.00 scholarship, which is given to a Trinity High School Senior planning to major in the Arts.

All members participated in this project - contributing 150 hours.

ARTS CONTEST - HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS. Each year our club puts alot of emphasis on our Arts Contest. We try to get many of the high school students to participate in this contest. We feel this one way of getting to know the students and to have them share their talents with us. This is also a good way for the students to become more aware of their talents and to get them to be very creative. We had 22 student winners in our local Arts Contest. $ 375.00 in prize money was awarded to these winners. We had one 2nd place student winner and one 3rd place winner in our State Arts Contest, these two winners were first place winners in the District Arts Festival. Five members helped with this for a total of 40 hours.

HOME LIFE. Three of our club members helped distribute cheese to low-income families. We donated $ 10.00 and cookies to the Leukemia Bike-A-Thon. Four members participated in these porjects for a total of 20 hours.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS. Our Public Affairs Chairman organized an outing for the Special Education Class at Braxton-Craven School to go to the zoo and lunch. Also part of our members helped with the Special Olympics. We spent $ 10.00 and Seven people gave 35 hours.

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS. The International Affairs Chariman arranged a luncheon at Casa Gallardo Mexican Restaurant in Greensboro for the club's April meeting. We were served a variety of Mexican food in a Mexican atmosphere. Ten members attended for a total of 40 hours.

WORK WITH JUNIORETTES . The ATWC sponsors the Archdale-Trinity Juniorettes at Trinity High School. This past year they had 54 members. Two Club members are advisors and attend all board meetings, monthly meetings, and other functions given by the Juniorettes.

The ATWC members take turns serving refreshments to the Juniorettes at their monthly meetings. A Juniorette member is a guest each month at the Archdale-Trinity Woman's Club meeting.

Club members help with the Juniorette scrapbook and they also helped with the "Beach Bash" given for new members.

The Juniorettes sponsored a Walk-A-Thon for the Rainbow House in Winston-Salem. Several of the ATWC members sponsored some of the walkers. Three of our club members walked in this Walk-A-Thon.

The ATWC members also helped collect toys and games for the area hospitals at Christmas. We also collected newspapers to help the Juniorettes raise money for "Save The Lighthouse".

Mrs. Jean Parsons installed the new Juniorette Officers at the May meeting of The ATWC.

Our two clubwomen who were Juniorette advisors won 2nd place for Advisor of the Year at the Juniorette Jamboree. The Juniorette president won Clubwoman of the Year, they won 1st place in Scrapbook, Conservation, International Affairs, Public Affairs, and Best Over All Department at the Jamboree. They won the Parker Morgan Award for work in fighting and preventing drug and alcohol abuse. They won the Susan B. Mills Award, granted for work with the disabled and handicapped. The Juniorettes received first runner-up for their work with their sponsoring club, The Archdale-Trinity Woman's Club.

We feel that the Archdale-Trinity Juniorette Club gives its members an insight into different community projects and needs and ~~teaches~~ teaches the members how to be leaders and good citizens in their community and school.

All of our club members participated in this project for a total of 1,050 hours and spent $ 52.00.

The Archdale-Trinity Woman's Club was presented a service award certificate from Randolph County this year.

A-T Women Win District Awards

Archdale-Trinity Woman's Club won first place for its scrapbook and newsletter at the NCFWC District 7 Fall Meeting held last week in Greensboro.

The members also won second place for their community service projects and third for their yearbook.

In addition, the Juniorettes received a certificate for their contribution to CARE.

Attending from the A-T Club were Kay Fulcher, Lynda Huffines and Joyce Varner. Juniorettes attending from Trinity High School included Julie Mendenhall, Michelle Richardson, Myra Robbins and Patricia Small.

During the session Mrs. W.T. Russ Jr., Junior director, gave an address on "Homestyle Clubwoman," and Mrs. Kern Holo-man, state federation president, spoke on "Success Stories."

It was announced that the district's fine arts festival will be held Feb. 25 at High Point Friends Meeting House.

NCFWC President Issues Challenge To Women

Mrs. W. Kern Holoman of Raleigh, president of the N.C. Federation of Women's Clubs was guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Woman's Club of High Point held Wednesday at the club on Johnson Street.

Mrs. Holoman discussed the importance of adapting to the changes in today's world. She used as an example the international scope of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the advantages brought by the introduction of a computerized information bank into the GFWC network. Statistics on women's clubs around the world have been fed into the system, and the result is an overview of what clubwomen are doing. She said this information is influencing changes in programs and projects on the local level.

The speaker urged club members to meet the challenge of change by assessing where they are today, where they want to go and how to recognize success when they attain it.

It was noted that the N.C. Federation of Women's Clubs has introduced specialized projects for new involvement by local clubs.

Following Mrs. Holoman's presentation, the club presented her a $200 check for the "Invest an Hour" scholarship project.

During the business session, Mrs. Kenneth Stevens commended Mrs. Ralph Martin for being named District 7 Clubwoman of the Year. She also announced that the club won the community service award for the fourth consecutive year; a first place award for the club yearbook and a certificate from CARE for work done by the International Affairs Dept.

Curt Huber of Greensboro, executive director of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, discussed the problems encountered by MS victims and the research which is under way. He said the funding is done by voluntary contributions and noted that there is only one paid worker in 15 counties, with the rest of the work being done by volunteers. Huber said 40 percent of all donations is used in research, and the balance goes to aid local victims.

Mrs. Martin reviewed final plans for the club's bridge benefit, fashion show and bazaar, which will be held Nov. 10 at 10 a.m. in the club. Tickets will be on sale at the door.

Mrs. Coy Hendrix and Mrs. Dale Speight were voted into the membership.

Guests included Jean Parsons, district president; Mrs. Neal Lancaster, NCFWC fine arts chairman; Mrs. Benny Phillips; Dot Hoskins; Mrs. William Wasserman; Mrs. Carl Montsinger; and several members of the Burlington Woman's Club and Hamilton Lakes Woman's Club of Greensboro.

Also visiting were Mrs. Roy W. Andrews Jr., Linda Murphey and Ann Byerly of Oak Hollow Junior Woman's Club; Mrs. W.S. Petree, Mrs. Thomas C. Freeman, Sue Schoch and Helen Esch, Furniture City Woman's Club; and Joyce Varner, Diane Meredith, Judy Grisson and Janice Smith, Archdale-Trinity Woman's Club.

The Junior Woman's Club of High Point prepared the table decorations, and Dot Hoskins provided piano music during the luncheon.

Hostesses were Mrs. Rimmelt Nijhuis and Mrs. Arthur M. Terry.

and miniature furniture and toys which are in keeping with the theme "High Point Heritage."

During the business session, club members endorsed the garden council's proposal to host the district meeting in September 1985. Also, approval was given to the council's having a flower show in the spring.

A highlight of the meeting was the club's annual bazaar, where items donated by members were auctioned.

Hostesses were Mrs. Goley Marlette and Helen Betts.

REQUESTS FOR ELECTRICAL SAFETY AUDITS

4 ARCHDALE/TRINITY NEWS—Thursday, March 22, 1984

Local Club Participates In Program

By JANICE SMITH

The Archdale-Trinity Woman's Club is joining the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission in a program to identify and eliminate electrical hazards in households in Archdale and Trinity during Electrical Safety Awareness Month in March, 1984.

Club members will undertake safety audits of their homes using checklists furnished by the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission. The checklist is based on common electrical hazards and consumer practices that may cause serious accidents.

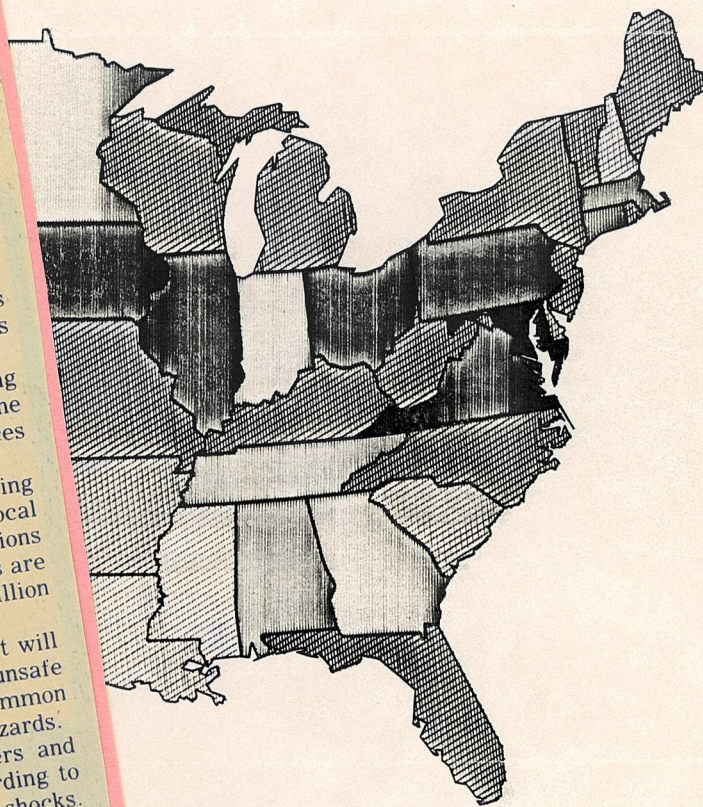

"We are pleased to be involved in this important project demonstrating federal and local cooperation," said Joyce Varner, president of the local club. "Some 1,600 persons die in electrically caused fires or in electrocutions each year in the country, according to CPSC, and almost 28,000 persons are injured in such accidents. Property losses from these fires total $950 million a year."

Those club members who participate in the Electrical Safety Audit will receive written safety information that will help them recognize unsafe practices with electrical appliances. The checklist will identify common deficiencies and will help them learn what to do about electrical hazards.

Varner said that installation of ground fault circuit interrupters and smoke detectors will be stressed during the audits. GFCI's, according to CPSC, are devices that will prevent most electrocutions and severe shocks. Smoke detectors give early warning of fire in the home. They are particularly important for alerting residents to fires while they sleep.

Post audit checks will indicate how much householders learned as a result of the audits, and whether they took steps to eliminate identified hazards after the audits, Varner said.

For a copy of the checklist write "Electrical Safety Audit," Washington, D.C. 20207.

The Chairman

Dear GFWC Club President:

May I personally thank you and your club for participating in the Consumer Product Safety Commission's Electrical Safety Awareness Program.

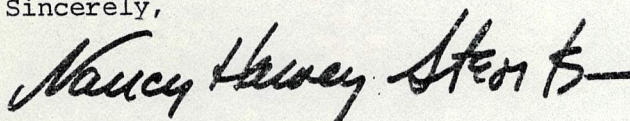

Your support will certainly ensure that many Americans will have safer homes. Enclosed for your perusal is a map indicating the number of Electrical Safety Audit check lists requested thru mid-March.

Success often breeds success! CPSC and the Federation are justifiably proud of your leadership in this electrical safety program, and we are especially impressed with individual club dedication to the cause of home safety. For this reason, randomly selected clubs will be contacted by letter over the coming weeks to assist the Federation and CPSC in measuring the effectiveness of the home safety audit. We hope we can count on your cooperation if your club is included in this survey.

I am pleased that the General Federation of Women's Clubs was able to join the Commission in this consumer program. Even though the Federation program has officially ended, we feel much can be gained by continuing the Electrical Home Safety Audit Program for the remainder of 1984.

Best wishes.

Sincerely,

Nancy Harvey Steorts
Chairman
