

Sophia, NC Scrapbook

Vol. 3

RANDOLPH PUBLIC LIBRARY
201 WORTH STREET
ASHEBORO, NORTH CAROLINA 27203

PAY-DAY HAPPINESS—Anyone who doubts the pleasure that "pay-day" brings High Point's soldiers who are in training at Fort Moultrie, S. C., ought to be convinced by the photograph above. Here are a number of local young men in army training, displaying what they received on pay-day. At the right is a young artist who has outstanding talent at Fort Moultrie, displaying some of his work.—(Photos by Sergeant John F. Shields).

Althea Farlow Brown: she kept her community history By Ralph I. Bulla

For fifty years a chronological record of events in the Sophia and New Market areas has been recorded by Mrs. Althea Farlow Brown, a Route 1, Sophia resident.

Newspaper clippings, a record book of births, marriages and deaths, a personal diary, all measuring one and one half feet high, related the happenings of the community for the past fifty years.

This record has also reached into other areas of Randolph County, whenever a person with connections or association with the Sophia-New Market area was involved.

Helping Mrs. Brown to compile her amazing array of statistics and record of events in the community in which she has spent her life has been her work as a newspaper correspondent since 1916.

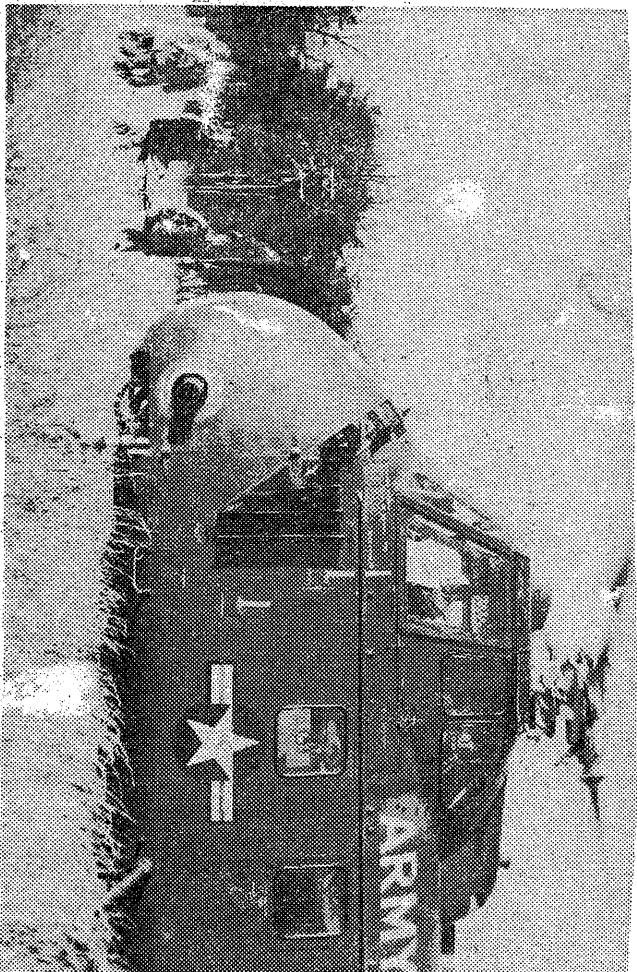

In that year she began writing the news of her community for The Asheboro Courier and continued in that capacity after the merger of The Asheboro Courier with The Randolph Tribune. She continues as an active correspondent for the Courier-Tribune writing under the Route 1, Sophia caption.

But in the tremendous volume of newspaper clippings which tell the story of the last half century, other captions under which the news appear are Marlboro News, Edgar News and Flint Hill News.

Her father, Nathan Hill Farlow, was a newspaper correspondent before her and wrote the Edgar News for The Asheboro Bulletin and perhaps The Asheboro Courier. Mrs. Brown said that "he could write beautifully" and that he got her interested in writing the news also. At that time the Edgar Post Office, about a quarter of a mile to the west, served Nathan Hill Farlow, his wife, Samila Cox Farlow, and their only child, Althea Alma. Another daughter, Mary Elizabeth, died shortly after her birth.

Althea Brown's father was a farmer, a carpenter, a brick mason and worked at a saw mill. Althea, speaking affectionately of him over thirty eight years after his death, says that "he was Jack of all trades and good at all of them". He died in January, 1928, in the month following the one in which Althea's mother died. An aunt, Hannah Farlow, died about the same time. All three deaths occurred over a five weeks period.

Shortly after her father's death, Althea married Albert Brown who came from the northeastern part of Maryland. Their union lasted until April 30,

THEY WANTED HIM BACK

When Wayne Jarvis came down with flu while on holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew M. Jarvis of 800 Meredit St., the Army decided he ought to be in one of their hospitals. So yesterday this helicopter arrived from Fort Bragg, picked up the local soldier and whisked him away. It landed on a vacant lot near the Jarvis residence. Jarvis, 21, as a paratrooper, with over 40 jumps to his credit during two years of service.

Staff photos by Bill Jackson

Mrs. Hayworth Passes Tuesday, Rites Wednesday

Mrs. Gladys Marsh Hayworth, 64, of Archdale, died in High Point Memorial hospital early Tuesday morning. She had been declining health for the past months.

She was a native of Randolph County and a member of Archdale Friends church. She was a member of the Elizabeth Frye class of her church and served as treasurer of the Ladies Auxiliary for a number of years.

Funeral service was held at Yow Funeral Home at 4 p. m. Wednesday in High Point and burial was in the Oakwood Memorial Park, High Point.

She is survived by one son, O. M. Hayworth, jr., of Archdale; four brothers, Leonard, R. D., and Oscar Marsh, all of Archdale and Gilbert Marsh of High Point; two sisters, Mrs. Lucy Hester of High Point and Mrs. Dora Hoover of Archdale; her mother, Mrs. Emma W. Marsh of Archdale; and one grandchild.

1964 when he died at the age of 83 years. They lived at Althea's old homelace and for many years her husband sold eggs, chickens, and other produce in High Point where he was known as "the egg man." Althea was several years younger than her husband. On August 21, 1966 she will be 69 years of age. Since Albert's death the sale of eggs and chickens has ceased but Althea remains busy with her newspaper correspondence, her interest in the Marlboro Friends Meeting where she has attended all of her life and with her various activities in the community and among her friends.

Since 1960 she has served as secretary of the old Marlboro School reunion which she helped to organize. The school was located near the Meeting House, about a mile and one half from her father's home just off of Highway 311, north of Sophia. She has always lived at the old homelace and for six years she and her husband operated a service station on the highway near their home.

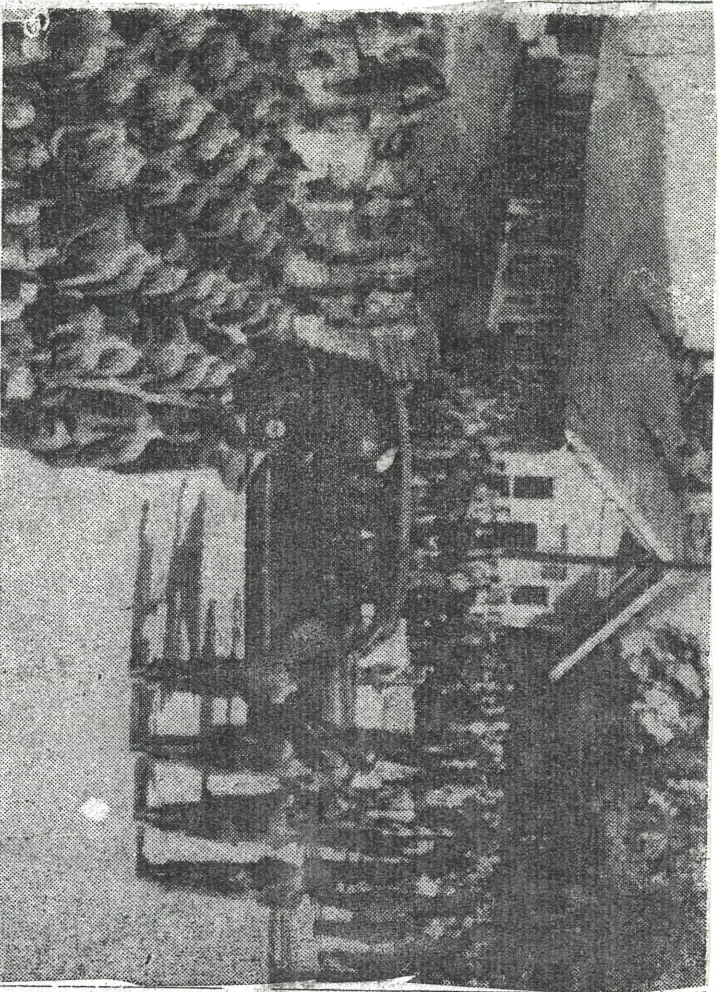

Although she has gathered the news for fifty years, she has only had a telephone for the past four years. She has got her news at church, from people coming in the service station which she and her husband operated and from other contacts within the community.

In the newspaper clipping which she has regularly filed, news from communities besides Route 1, Sophia, Marlboro, and Edgar have been Flint Hill, Randleman, High Point, Route 3, High Point, Holly Springs, Asheboro, Star Route, Rannseur, and other areas where there were Sophia connections. There is also a listing from the Draft Boards during World War II, with the names of the young men from Althea's home area underlined. It would be literally impossible to discuss the thousands of news items which can be found among the clippings which have already filled two huge scrapbooks and enough left over to fill another one.

Some of the items go back to 1915, a year before Althea started writing for The Asheboro Courier. One of the earlier notices was a listing of the honor roll for the Marlboro Graded School in the year 1919.

Since New Market township has always been a Republican stronghold, it is natural that a political note would sometimes creep into the news of that area.

About 1918 or the next year this question was asked in the column: "How about Democratic efficiency in New Market, when it fell so flat in November, 1914? Demonstrated in the case of R. L. vs A. B. Further news items led one to believe that the "R." referred to the R. L. White while A. B. was A. B. Coltrane, both of whom were leaders in their respective parties.

FAREWELL TO WARM SPRINGS—The motor hearse bearing the body of President Roosevelt is seen as it arrived at the little railroad station at Warm Springs, Ga., for transfer to the special train which brought the casket back to Washington. A picked group of marines, soldiers and sailors is drawn up in an honor guard.—(International Soundphoto).

Mrs. E. S. Harmon Passes Thursday;
Funeral Saturday

Mrs. Addie Giles Harmon, 65 died at her home on Asheboro route 5, this morning. Thursday at 4:45 o'clock following an illness of several months.

Surviving are the husband, E. S. Harmon; seven daughters, Mrs. Irma Isom, Asheboro; Mrs. Marie Vohcannon, Sophia, route 1; Mrs. Nellie Shaw, Asheboro, route 5; Mrs. Georgia Lamb, High Point; Mrs. Margaret Morris, Mt. Gilead; Mrs. Ruby Ashworth, Seagrove; Mrs. Lena Cecil Raleigh; one son, Milton Harmon, High Point; four sisters Mrs. John Jeter, Ramseur; Mrs. John Pi mm, Mrs. Albert Moffitt, Mrs. E. H. Morgan, all of High Point; three brothers, Willie Biles, Jesse and Paul Giles, all of High Point; 23 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at New Hope Methodist church and interment made in the church cemetery. The body will be returned to the home from Farlow Funeral Home Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

Lindsay C. Dorsett Passes Sunday;
Funeral Tuesday

Lindsay Charles Dorsett, 74, died Sunday morning at 7 o'clock in a High Point Rest home following ten months illness and one week critical.

A native of Randolph county he had spent his entire life in this county in the Mt. Gilead community.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Dougan Farlow, of Archdale; Mrs. Jeff Ecard, of Trinity, route 1; three sons, Robert and Truman Dorsett, of Archdale; two sisters, Mrs. Della Crofts of High Point; Mrs. Ida Prevost, Trinity, route 1; 15 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Mt. Gilead Methodist church with Rev. Dallas Rush and Rev. Waldo Smith officiating. Interment will be made in the church cemetery. The body will be removed to the home of Truman Dorsett this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Another political note, evidently in 1928, stated "The election passed off very quietly in New Market Township and we are well pleased with Hoover for President and our new county officers."

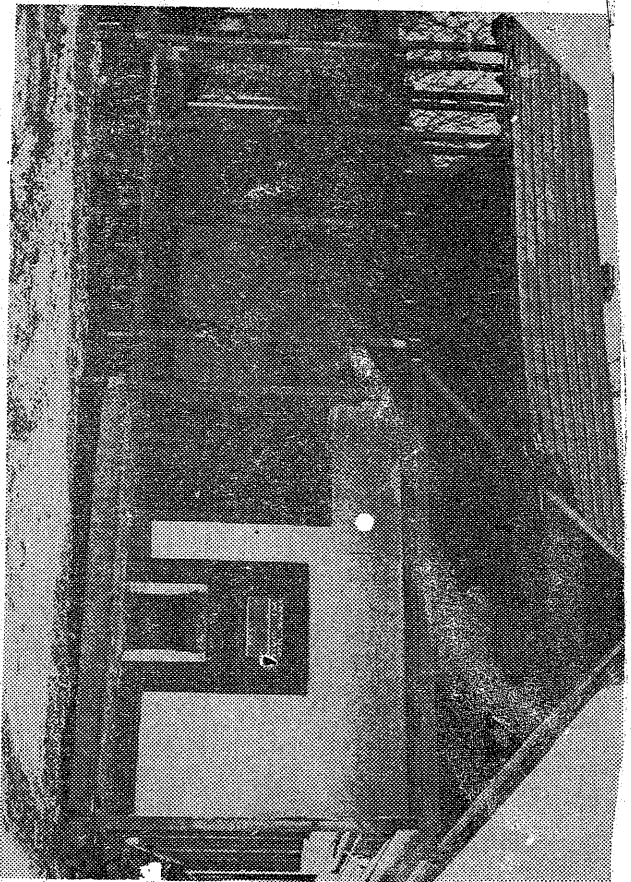

Then, there was the report, coming from the Asheboro scene, which revealed the arrest of an Asheboro attorney and another well known Asheboro citizen for interrupting a meeting and throwing eggs at a minister who had directed, remarks against Al Smith, the Democratic candidate for President. But in the main, the items tell of the births, marriages, deaths and the other happenings of the community in which Althea Brown was born and has lived.

Supplementing the scrap books of clippings, remarkably complete within themselves, are the personal records which Althea Brown has methodically kept for a half of a century. She has listed, in neat chronological order, the births, the marriages and the deaths of the people in the Sophia, New Market area and has also included the ones occurring outside of the community when it was of interest of her particular area. The list of the deaths is perhaps the more complete one, she having recorded 1,295 since the first one in February 1916. Marriages and births in the journal cover at least three generations and may in some instances take in four.

But the more detailed record of the births, marriages, deaths and other major events in the community is found in the diary which has been meticulously put down, with appropriate embellishment and explanation of each item.

This unusual document has been filled out in Mrs. Brown's own handwriting, the same as the record books of births, marriages and deaths, and it contains over a hundred extra long sheets with the transcripts having been put on both sides of the paper. It is complete, accurate and an unusual recording of what has happened in the community for the past fifty years. It sets forth the unique expression of its recorder just as Althea Brown's news column through the years has represented an originality and style which is not found with other news correspondents. Many people outside of the Route 1, Sophia area follow closely the news items of Althea Brown, due to the fervency, the sincerity and the quaintness of the manner in which she arranges her column. The efforts of Althea Brown, in the compilation of the statistical facts of her community, also represents endless hours, hard work, perseverance and a devotion to the community that is seldom seen in the day and age in which we live. But it has not been regarded as a sacrifice to recorder and writer, Althea Brown. She says that she has "spent many happy hours" in the task to which she assigned herself.

A small woman with an unassuming appearance, she has faithfully reported the news of her community for fifty years and also kept a permanent record of what has happened therein.

IN THE PATH OF PROGRESS

There'd be no lighting problem, but heating bills would be terrific if any hardy soul tried to occupy this faceless house on S. Main Street here. Like a number of other older residences on S.

Main, this house got in the way of a street right-of-way. The state and city are jointly widening the street to six lanes with a median.

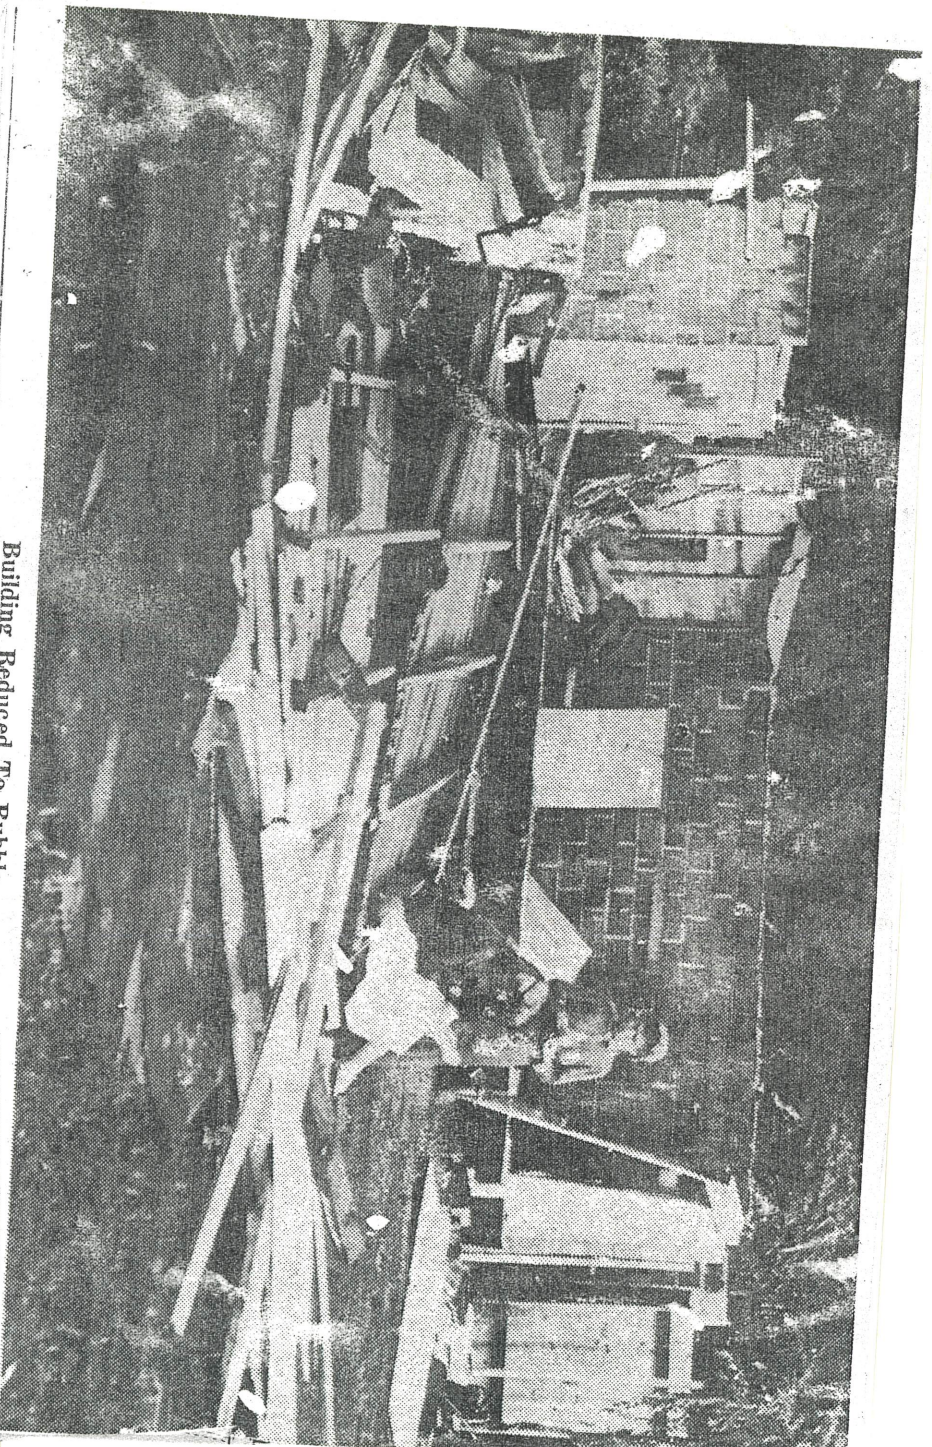

Almost a legend in her own time, Althea needs to be cited for meritorious effort to her community, well beyond the realm of duty. Some day time will take its toll and someone else will make an entry in the journal which has been kept so faithfully by Althea Brown. But her records will withstand the ravages of time and will continue to exist, even after she has become immortal.

HER COMMUNITY'S STORY — Mrs. Althea Brown, newspaper correspondent in the Sophia area for fifty years, is shown here with the mass of clippings which tell of the community's activities and happenings for the same period. Also included in the material, which measures one and one half feet, are record books listing the births, marriages and deaths in the community and a personal diary in which is recorded the latter three items along with all major happenings in the community for the past half of a century. Mrs. Brown became the Sophia correspondent for The Ashboro Courier in 1916 and remains as an active correspondent for The Courier-Tribune.

Courier-Tribune July 21, 1966

Building Reduced To Rubble

Huge Tree Blown Down
Mrs. Johnson was probably its hardest hit of any in the settlement.

TV Aerials Casualties

One Hurt In Heavy Rainstorm

B. FORREST CATES
Enterprise Staff Writer

A passing rain and wind storm struck in tiny Bakertown community three miles southeast of here with tornado-like force yesterday afternoon injuring one person, bowling over a huge tree and damaging roof tops on buildings.

The pint-sized but forceful temperature blasted unannounced into the small community about 1:30 p.m., literally ripping a sturdy cement block garage and storage house from around one resident, Mrs. Pauline Johnson. She suffered a slight leg injury from flying debris.

Citizens Terrified

Traveling in a northerly direction, the storm, described by most Bakertown residents as resembling a tornado, dipped devastatingly over approximately four square miles before roaring off. It left behind considerable damage to property and an entire community terrified citizens.

Photos by Don Sturkey

Mrs. Johnson was one of the few who actually saw the storm approaching. Most of those who were at home at the time said it "was on" them so quickly they didn't know what happened.

The injured woman said the cloud was funnel shaped, very dark at top turning a greyish white near the vortex. It lasted about five minutes, she said.

Rain In Sheets

Rain preceded the storm by a second or two, coming in an almost perpendicular sheet. "It looked like an ocean wave dashing against the window," one said.

The storm was heavily mixed with thunder and lightning. A young boy who was at home when the storm struck said his television screen "went black" until the storm was over.

Aside from damaging homes in the community, the flash storm leveled many young gardens, broke limbs from large trees, and felled one giant pine tree.

Little damage was noted on the outer rim of the tightly-compacted storm. Little rain fell in High Point although its southern boundary is only about two miles from Bakertown, as the crow flies. By its path, the storm appeared to have gained altitude after striking the little community. Lesser damage was noted just north of Bakertown, from the direction the storm came.

The winds which swept across a cleared ravine to the north of her home smashed against the shed, lifting off the roof and crashing one concrete block wall to the ground. The terrified woman, who was unable to walk after her leg was struck by a piece of the disintegrating building, was helped into the house by her daughter, Betty. The daughter said she ran into the storm when she saw from a kitchen window that her mother was in trouble.

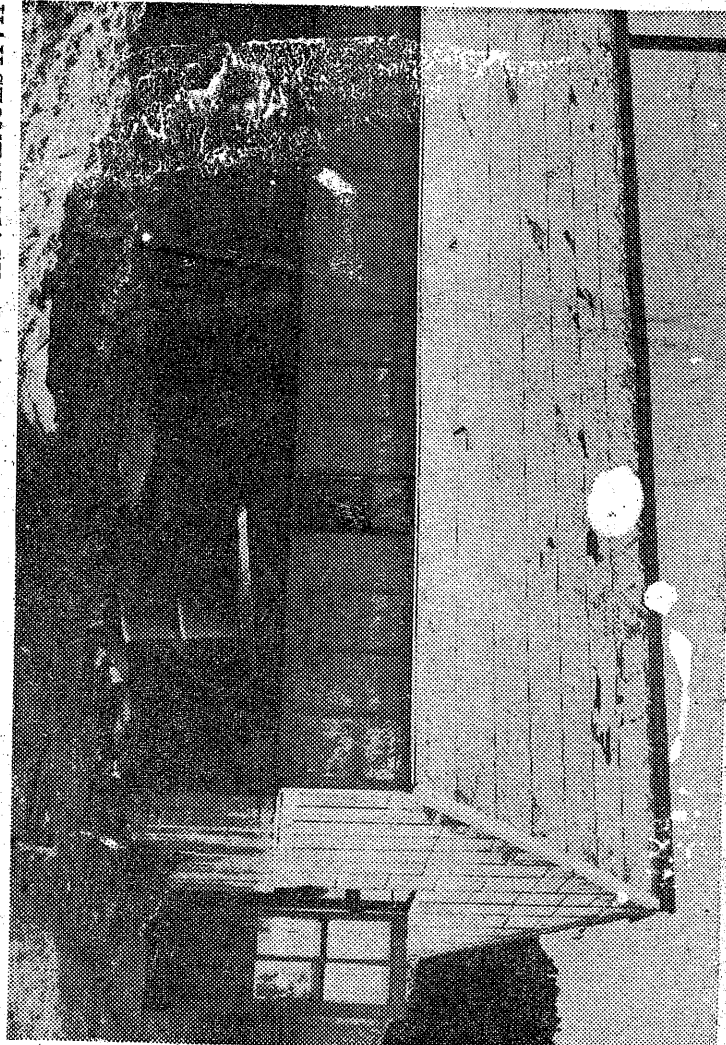

Flying Timbers

Pieces of the shed, timbers as large as two by sixes, were strewn about the Johnson's front yard. Some were carried as far as 200 feet by the storm. The family car, parked 100 feet away from the shed, was damaged by a piece of flying timber.

Most widespread damage in the community was to television aerials. Hardly one in the storm's path was left standing. Many were blown from roofs. At least two chimneys toppled during the height of the tempest and several roofs were damaged. A shack, in which an aged Negro woman lived alone, was nearly torn in two by the storm. The occupant suffered a mild shock.

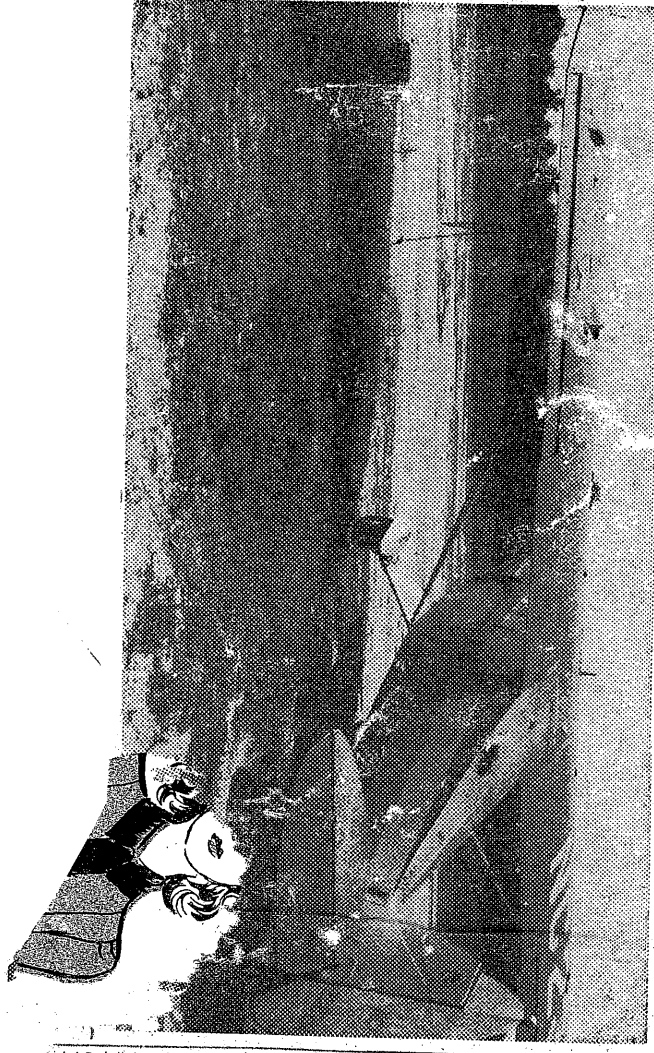

Door-knob-Size Hail Hits South Of City

A hailstorm which laid siege to the city for more than 15 minutes yesterday took a heavy toll in property damage. The worst damage seemed to be concentrated along the south and southwest boundaries of the city.

HAILSTONE DAMAGE—One of the large greenhouses owned by Ellington's Florist near the southern city limits here suffered heavy glass breakage in yesterday's hail storm. The plane (below) is owned by Jimmy Shaw and was parked at Fraley Field when the storm hit. Several planes had large holes knocked in their fabrics by the big stones. (Staff photos by Janet Langley).

Owners of at least five small airplanes, kept at Fraley Field near here, were faced with large repair bills today. The canvas covers of the craft were riddled by large hailstones which fell in the area. Pilots, who sought shelter of the hangars during the storm, said they saw stones the "size of door-knobs."

Weather forecasters at Friendship said the hailstorm was apparently "fairly well localized." Only cities hit in this area were High Point and Winston-Salem.

Present weather conditions indicate that the area may receive more hailstorms late this afternoon, they said.

Preceded by relatively light rainfall, the hailstorm struck High Point at 4 p.m. when traffic was at peak. The storm struck swiftly, startling motorists caught in downtown traffic jams. A particularly large stone tore through the top of a convertible in the southern section of the city, it was reported. There were reports also of gardens being damaged by the storm. Losses to farmers in this area is not expected to run high since relatively few had done spring planting in volume.

Weathermen said hailstorms of this severity are rare in North Carolina. Hailstones rarely reach the size of those reported in High Point yesterday, they said.

The hailstorm failed to bring appreciable relief from yesterday's high temperatures. Cooler weather is expected tonight, however, following thunderstorms in the area. Last night's low temperature, 22 degrees. The mercury is expected to reach the low 90s today, probably stop in the mid-70s tonight. Low tonight is expected to be in the high 50s.

It will be partly cloudy with a chance of showers in the warmer temperatures for Friday.

February 21, 1958

ICE DAMAGES BRIDGE TO OUTER BANKS—Wright Memorial Bridge from Point Harbor to Currituck Sound after ice dislodged its piers. (AP Wirephoto)

Ice Endangers Multi-Million Dollar Bridges

MANTOE, Feb. 21 (AP)—Thick chunks of floating ice, formed during North Carolina's worst cold spell in years, thumped and rubbed against the supports of two multimillion dollar bridges today, threatening to add to the damage ice floes already have done.

Endangered were the three-mile Wright Memorial Bridge, closed to traffic since yesterday, which crosses Currituck Sound from Point Harbor to near Kitty Hawk; and the new William B. Elmstead Bridge about 10 miles away, crossing the Croatan Sound to Mantoe.

The Wright Bridge, part of U. S. 158, reportedly had lost pilings in a section more than 200 yards long and had sagged several feet. Alpheus Drinkwater, veteran weather observer of the Outer Banks area, said the whole bridge might collapse because of damage done by floes.

Five-foot ice clogs clustered around the three million dollar Elmstead Bridge, dedicated only last year.

Dr. Walter, a telegrapher here when the Wright brothers made their first flight in 1904, said the ice c. Currituck Sound is the worst since February of 1899. Since the cold wave moved in early last week, Roanoke, Albemarle and Currituck sounds all have been frozen.

The state-operated ferry across Croatan Sound remained the only means of access to the mainland from the Outer Banks should both bridges be closed to traffic. John Wilson, manager of ferries on Dare Coast, said last night half hour schedules would be kept today during daylight. He added that the Hatteras-Ocracoke ferry broke through harbor ice yesterday and with favorable conditions would be able to make the trip across the Hatteras Inlet, Ocracoke had been isolated for three days.

Persons who ordinarily would use the Wright Bridge to reach Outer Banks could, by making roundabout trip of some 200 miles, have access to the United Bridge or the ferry. One line was planning a round daily to Elizabeth City and Volk, Va. via the roundabout until the Wright Bridge is again.

Friends Quarterly Meeting Held; World Day Of Prayer

BY ALTHEA BROWN

RANDLEMAN — Earl Franklin Johnson, 92, of Rt. 1, Randleman, died at 5 p. m. yesterday in Baptist Hospital, Winston-Salem, following a short illness.

He was a dairy farmer, a member of First Methodist Church here, a member of the Rotary Club and was a Mason and Shriner. He was a member of the Guilford Dairy board of directors and a past member of the Randolph County board of education. He was a member of the N. C. Re-employment Committee. For 13 years he was in the automobile sales business and retired in 1939.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Frances Bulla Johnson; one son, Richard E. Johnson of Rt. 1, Randleman; two daughters, Mrs. H. Wright of Greensboro and Mrs. Garland Young of Franklin; six grandchildren; and one sister, Mrs. D. R. Bulla of Sophia.

Randolph County Business, Civic Leader Dead

Funeral will be at 3 p. m. Wednesday at First Methodist Church here. Rev. T. G. Madison, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in Randolph Park. The body will be in the home of Mrs. Tom Pugh, 1700 Home Street, here, and placed in the funeral home here it will remain until 10 o'clock.

Each service was inspirational with a business session beginning the day at 10 o'clock followed by a worship service at 11. There were several ministers present and a young visiting minister, the Rev. Phil Guthrie of Graham (Western quarter) gave the message.

He read Timothy 4, the first few verses and his subject was "Challenge of Our Time". Also Charles Johnson, aged minister, spoke of more spiritual interest and visiting among friends.

This was followed by a delicious lunch and period of fellowship after which another business session was held. Committee reports were given and a memorial for Troy Watson Millham, 80, of South Plainfield was read. Following the memorial a number of people spoke of his good Christian life and of the many good deeds he did by helping others and of his interest in others.

This meeting adjourned to meet at Holly Springs in May. Much appreciation was felt is due the pastor, Bill Britt, and the Friends at Randleman for their kind hospitality. We thank you.

World Day of Prayer
There is to be a World Day of Prayer program at Marlboro Friends Church Friday evening, March 9th. Other churches in the surrounding community are invited to come and take part in the prayer service.

Programs Underway
Marlboro Friends Church youth have programs each Sunday evening. All young folks are urged to attend and take part in this worthwhile study group.

Also the adults have a study group and are being taught by the pastor, Bob Medford. Services begin at 7 and the public is invited to attend.

Personals
Janie Farlow, Lela Shelton, Roy and Frances Ballard of Asheville visited in this community during the weekend. They came because of the death of a cousin, Mrs. Annie Golden of Trinity, Route 2. They also visited their Farlow relatives, Mrs. Lillie F. Davis, her family, J. B. and Irene D. Peace and Mrs. Blanche Farlow.

Sophia, Route One News Resident Passes In Sophia Area; Adult Class Meets; Youth Feted

BY ALTHEA BROWN

SOPHIA, RT. 1 — Carl Clinto McDowell, 19, passed quietly from this life at the Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem on Sunday night, June 10th about 7:40 p.m. after an illness of six weeks. He was the oldest son of Clinto and Tona Favelle McDowell of Sophia, Route One.

His death was quite a shock to many as he had seemed to improve, but became worse on Saturday and Sunday. Carl was a good boy, steady, a good worker and dependable and kind-hearted. He will be greatly missed by many. But we feel he is at rest, waiting in heaven for his loved ones to join him there. He had been employed for some time at the dairy farm of Carr Redding.

The attendance at his funeral, although rainy, held at Science Hill on Wednesday afternoon and the many floral tributes attested to his high esteem.

The funeral was conducted by Cecil Wright, pastor of Glenola Baptist Church and Mount Olive Pilgrim Holiness Church with the pastor Rev. McDowell. He was laid to rest in the church cemetery in the plot with his grandfather, Rance McDowell and family members.

His home family consists of his parents, three sisters, Elsie, Jean and Linda and two brothers, Billy Ray and Randy. This family requests this writer to extend their thanks and appreciation to everyone who called on them with kind words of sympathy, for the food that was brought in and for the faithful flowers and every deed of kindness that was done for them during this time now and in the many kind messages of sympathy they are receiving.

Adult Class Meets
The Adult Class of Marlboro Friends Church held their June class meeting in the church basement last Saturday night, June 16 with 14 members present. The class president Burtleigh Fall presided. He read the 100th Psalm and commented on Rev.

Prayer was offered by Nora Farlow, class teacher. New officers elected, Rufus Davis, president; Mary A. Alford, secretary and treasurer. Assist. Elsie Davis, Teacher Nora Farlow and Frank Davis. The hostesses Vera Davis and Lillie Wall served refreshments during the social period.

Horse Missing
If any one sees or hears of a red pony Massey-Harris tractor or owner really unknown please notify Asheboro Sheriff. Last seen on 220 below Asheboro. Supposed to be in woods somewhere. It belongs to George Cox who wandered off from home on it. He is quite aged and feeble. He was found but unable to remember where he left it. He has been put in the hospital at Butler for treatment. His wife is spending some time with her daughter and husband, Clyde and Kathleen Spencer not far from Glenola Baptist Church, High Point, Rt. 3.

Youth Entertained
Saturday night, June 2nd Rufus Davis entertained the Youth Fellowship of Marlboro with a cook-out on the church grounds. The food was delicious in spite of the down pour of rain that moved the group inside.

Personals
Glad to note that Robert Bulla has returned home from High Point Hospital and doing nicely.

Sorry to hear that Mrs. Eva Bulla has been sick again. Eva underwent minor surgery. She is resting nicely at home.

Ken Steed is improving slowly from an appendectomy, recently at High Point Hospital. Sue Davis of Archdale spent last Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Blanche D. Farlow. H. A. Brown whose 82nd birthday was June 5th, was honored Sunday, June 10 by several relatives who came to the home and had a sumptuous picnic dinner out under the large oak tree approximately 28 were present. He received some nice gifts. Cedar Square Friends Bible School closed last Friday night.

58 children attended. Mary Coltrane and Gwynn Davis were leaders. Charles and Cora Lee Johnson will conduct services at Cedar Square this Sunday at 11 o'clock. Dallas Rush pastor has resigned and gave his last message there last Sunday. Dallas left after 2 years service here for Emory University, Atlanta, Ga.

Junior High, Sunday School
Class of Marlboro enjoyed a tractor trailer hay ride by their teachers Curtis Farlow and Garfield Davis last Saturday night. There were 27 of the group gathered at McClain Farlow's the starting place and played ball until dark then drove several miles around about and returned. Then in cars the group went to the home of Wilfred and Lolla Davis where homemade ice cream and cake was served.

Mrs. Edith Davis entertained 13 little folks last Friday evening in honor of her little son Lowell's 6th birthday. June 15. Games were enjoyed and ice cream popcycles, Koolade and cookies were served. Lowell received some nice gifts.

The descendants of Jim and Corinne Smith Hill gathered at the old homestead last Sunday for their annual family reunion, even though no one lives there it is kept up as a memorial for the family to gather a few other relatives attended.

A picnic dinner was enjoyed by a large number present. Marlboro folks last weekend week enjoyed a retreat at Quaker Lake from Friday to Sunday after dinner, approximately 50 or 60 were present. Orville Dillon was leader. The subject Christian living. This was conducted Saturday afternoon and continued over for Sunday. There were vesper services by the lake Saturday evening sun down.

We are sorry to note that Mrs. Frank M. (Nannie) Davis Sr. is confined to her room for bed rest for several days. Vacation Bible School was held at Marlboro last week at night with an enrollment of 59.

Vacation Bible School was held at Glenola Baptist Church last week. They had an average attendance of 117.

Now for ball game information Little League played V. F. W. May 30. They V. F. W. won 6-5. June 2 New Market played Archdale Jaycees losing 4-6.

New Market Little League played Archdale Lions June 6 winning 19-0. Phil Mills hit 2 home runs and Holland White 1 hit. Gary Davis pitched allowing only one hit.

Sat., June 9 New Market played the V. F. W. defeating them 11-8. Rodgers Beeson was winning pitcher.

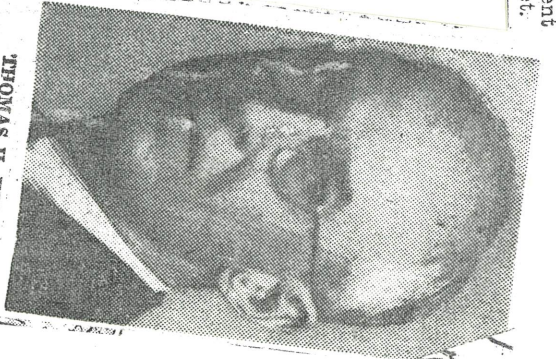

New Market defeated Archdale June 13, 7-4 Saturday, June 16. The Lions of Archdale defeated New Market 8-4.

Pony Games
May 27 New Market won over Randleman Reds 7-4. The game was played at the new elementary school.

Funeral Services
Funeral services for Rickie Morton Rich will be held in H. G. Allen, pastor, assisted by the Rev. W. R. Kelly of Gastonia, a former pastor. Interment will follow in the family plot in Mount Vernon Cemetery, Randolph County. The body will be placed in the church 30 minutes prior to the services.

Funeral Services
Funeral services for Rickie Morton Rich, 7, of Asheboro, who died Tuesday morning at the home of his parents, were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Oakhurst Baptist church and interment made in the Randolph Memorial

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Rich, and one brother, Dannie Rich, of the home; the maternal grandfather, Mrs. J. E. Moore of Asheboro; and paternal grandmother, Mrs. J. M. Rich of Sophia.

THOMAS H. ELDER
Tom Elder Passes In Hospital

Thomas Henry Elder, 59, of 1707 E. Green St., died in High Point Memorial Hospital about noon Sunday, June 22, 1958. He was taken to the hospital following a cerebral hemorrhage which he suffered at his home about 9:20 o'clock.

He was born in Randolph County on July 25, 1895, a son of John and Martha Hill Elder. He was married to Miss Daisy Steed on Oct. 20, 1918. He received his education in the Randolph County schools and Trinity High School. Following his graduation, he taught in the Randolph schools for a few years.

Mr. Elder was reared in the Methodist faith and joined the church during his boyhood. He was always active in the work of the church and for many years had taught in the school. At the time of his death he was a member of Main St. Methodist Church and the teacher of the Big Brothers Class of that church. He was a member of the Aacola Lodge No. 674, A. F. & A. M. and the City of High Point from Randolph County about 37 years ago. He was associated with the Stehl Silk Mills for about 17 years and for the past 20 years had been with the City of High Point, as assistant director of the public utilities department.

Surviving are his wife, Daisy S. Elder and his daughter, Mrs. Thomas H. Elder Jr. of Virginia. He is also survived by three grandsons, one daughter, Mrs. J. J. J. Elder of Miami, sister, Mrs. E. E. Warren, of Olympia, Wash., and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held in Main St. Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Dr. H. G. Allen, pastor, assisted by the Rev. W. R. Kelly of Gastonia, a former pastor. Interment will follow in the family plot in Mount Vernon Cemetery, Randolph County. The body will be placed in the church 30 minutes prior to the services.

March 13, 1958

Heavy Winds, Rain Lash County Area On Friday

Strong winds of near-gale strength lashed through the county late Friday, accompanying heavy storm showers, and caused frequent damages in their wake.

Weather observers noted that the flash storm, which swept northward through the center of the county about 5 p. m., was part of intense thunderstorm activity that struck South Carolina and south-eastern North Carolina. The storms were also connected with Hurricane Audrey, on the Gulf Coast.

Measured rainfall during the period ending Saturday morning showed .97 inch, with .75 inch falling after 5 p. m. Friday. Observers estimated gusts at nearly 50 miles per hour, and added that the gusts were of relatively short duration. During the late afternoon and early evening, following the last flash of the storm, the wind "settled down" to between 10 and 20 miles per hour.

The storm blocked county road, the Liberty from Julian, as a tree was blown down, but the road was cleared by highway crews.

Partial obstruction of highway on Main street, a derpass, began caused by an overblown tree, but workers speedily opened the thoroughfare to full traffic.

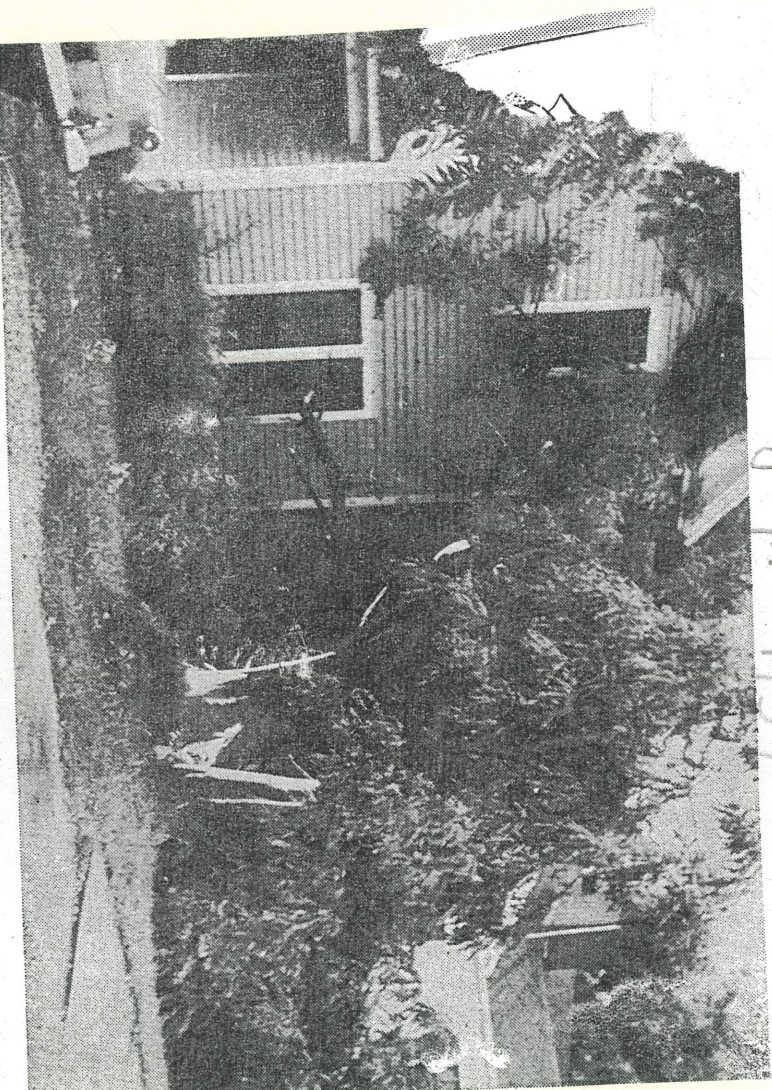

One tree was blown over on a house on East Salisbury street in Asheboro, while the high winds damaged the roof of the house next door. No injuries were reported. The house struck by the tree was reportedly owned by Garland Pritchard.

A number of trees were reported down east of Ramseur, while telephone and power lines were also severed by falling trees and branches. Storm damage struck power lines in the Asheboro area, interrupting power service several times at the peak of the first strike.

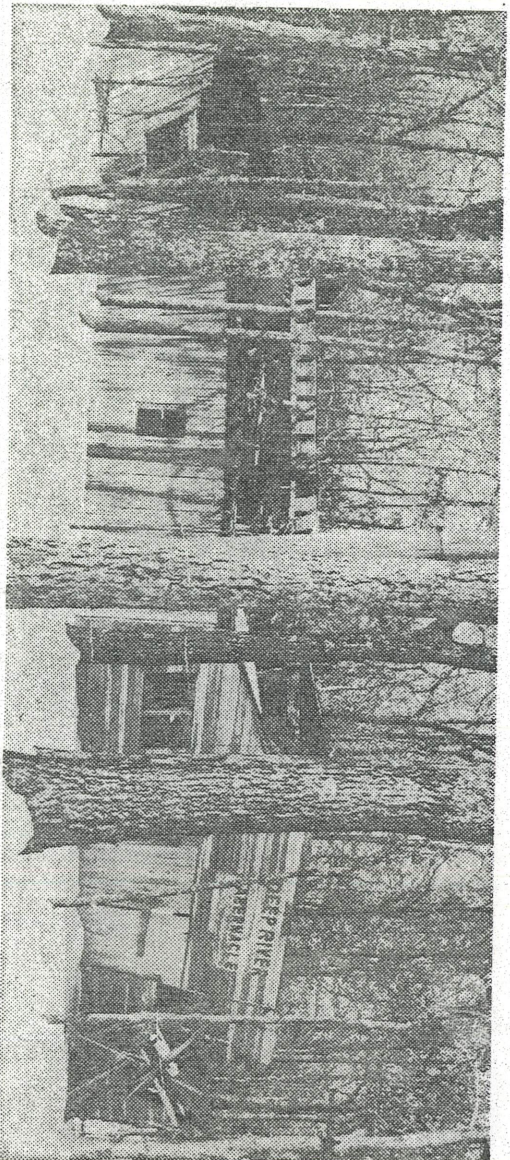

Reports were coming in fairly frequently Saturday morning from homeowners, telling of damaged roofs, usually shingled, and of toppled television antennae. In North Asheboro, chimney news

CORN CHOPPED—The Friday afternoon wind- and rain-storm hit crops across the county with frequent heavy blows, as shown by the remains of this cornfield, near Ramseur, that was practically laid flat by the intense wind.

STORM DAMAGE—A toppled tree lies against an East Salisbury street house following the flash windstorm here Friday afternoon. The house, owned by Garland Pritchard, receives damages estimated as "medium" when the high winds blew the tree over, with the upper branches brushing the front of the building.

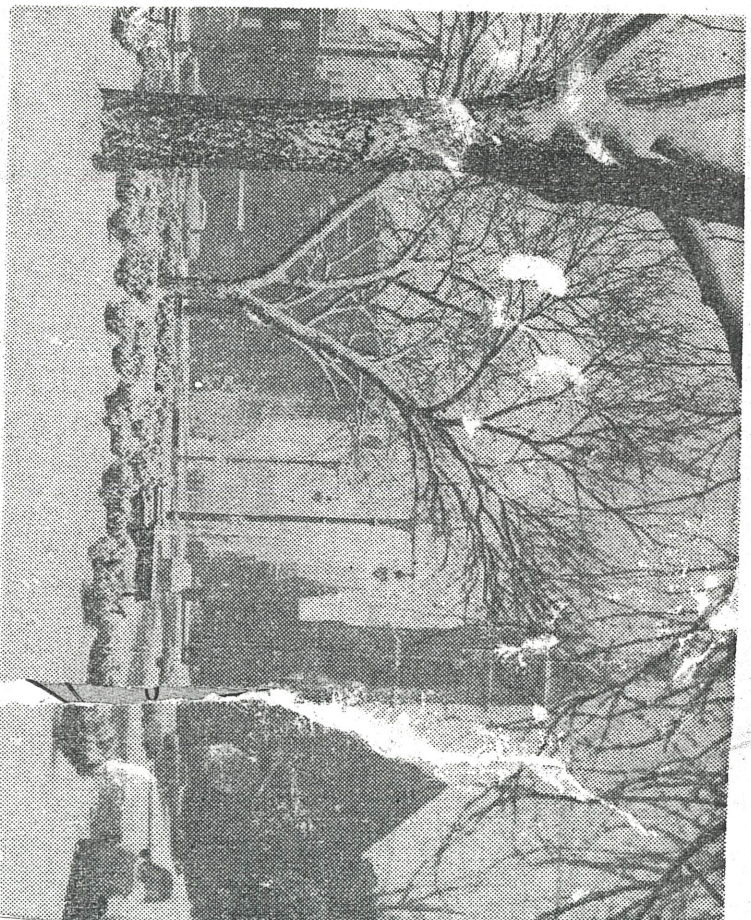

ANOTHER VICTIM OF RECENT SNOWS--

A landmark of the Cedar Square community, the Deep River Tabernacle, last week became a casualty of 1960's heavy snowfall. Weight of the sleet and snow was too much for the structure's timbers and down came the roof. The Tabernacle was first erected as just a shed and later the sides and windows were installed. It has long been used as a place for revival meetings in the summertime, having been built about 15 years ago.

WELDON R. PUGH
Ramsack Val 682

Downtown Roanoke Was Covered With Blanket of Wet Snow

A surprise storm swirled across the southern portion of the Old Dominion Sunday morning covering a large portion of the state with snow that ranged as high as 12 inches in Central Virginia.

The Roanoke Valley and Western Virginia escaped the full fury of the storm, but driving was hazardous for a time in the mountain sections.

Quick work by highway crews and rising temperatures brought clear highways in most sections. However, a glaze of treacherous ice covered many highways as temperatures dropped to near 20 during the early evening.

The Roanoke area received five inches and depths as high as seven inches were reported in Rayson, Wythe and Bland counties. Some portions of Henry county had 10 inches and a average of seven inches reported elsewhere in the county. In the Salem and Bristol highway districts all primary highways were reported clear of snow with most paved secondary roads being cleared late Sunday afternoon.

The Shenandoah Valley escaped most of the storm with no snow being reported in Rockingham County. Rockbridge had about two inches and Bath, normally reporting greater snow depths, having one and a half to two inches.

Central Virginia appears to have been hit the hardest. Falls reported from 10 to 12 inches were reported in northern Halifax and eastern Campbell counties.

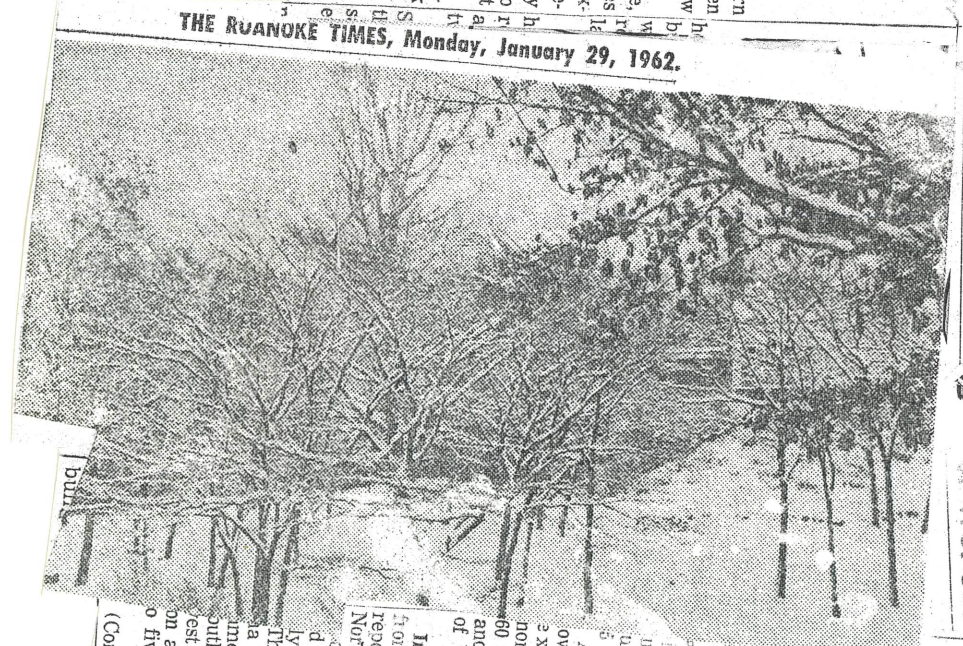

The outlook for today and Tuesday calls for fair skies and cold with a high near 40. The temperature was expected to drop near 20 on Sunday night. It had dropped to 25 at 8 p.m.

A complicated system of three a p e c t e d storm. One was in northern Georgia, another about 60 miles off Charleston, S.C., and another about 80 miles southeast of Wilmington, N.C.

In North Carolina snow ranging from a light fall to 18 inches was reported. Reidsville, near the North Carolina-Virginia border, reported 10 inches. Winston-Salem had seven while Charlotte had only a minor amount.

The western part of North Carolina was not as hard and the same situation was reported in southwest Virginia. No snow fell on and Smyth counties had three to five inches. Carroll and Floyd

(Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Storm Closes Some Schools

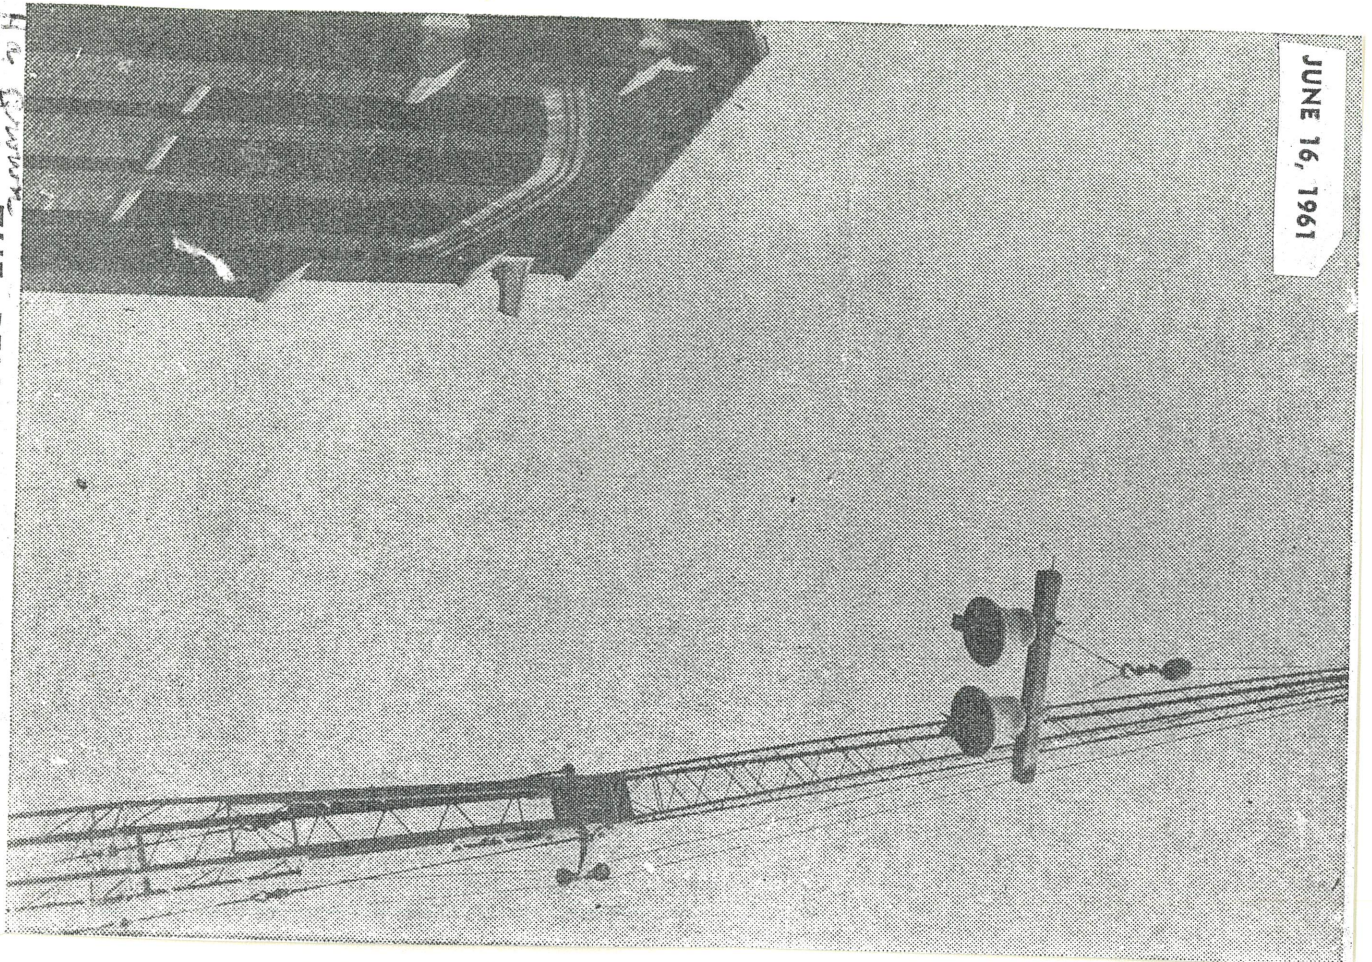

Schools in a number of Western Virginia counties will not be open today because of Sunday's snow storm.

And Hampden-Sydney College, which was due to resume classes this morning after midterm examinations, postponed their resumption until 8:30 a.m. Tuesday to enable vacationing students to get back to college in hard-hit Prince Edward County.

Schools will be closed in Bedford, Franklin, Carroll, Patrick and Henry counties.

School authorities in Montgomery County reported late Sunday night that their schools would be open.

JUNE 16, 1961

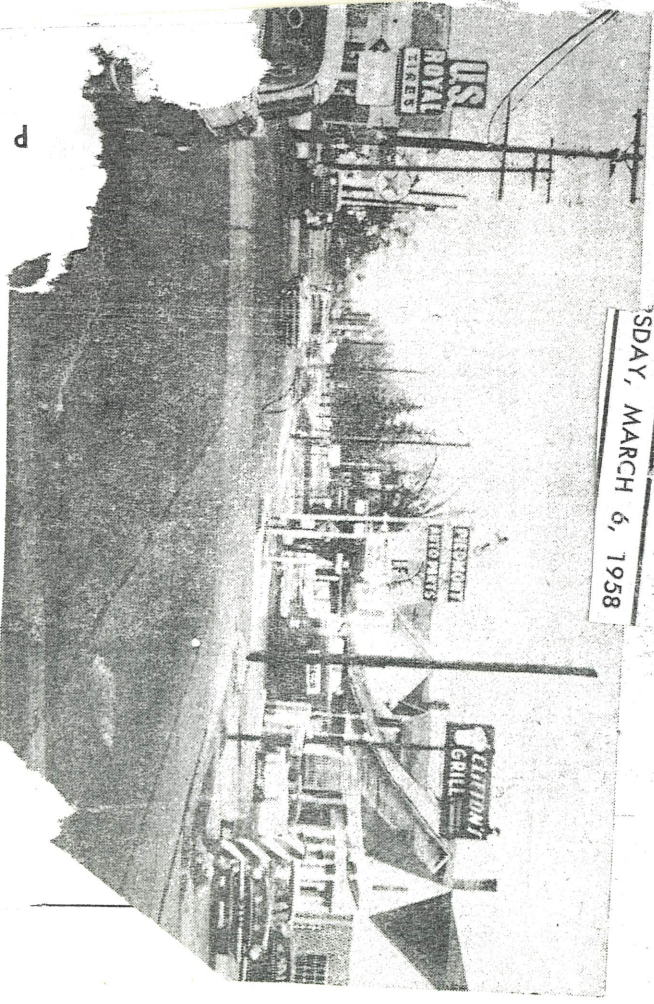

THE BELLS STOP RINGING

In the long period of time it has taken to demolish the old Wesley Memorial Methodist Church on N. Main Street, the most interesting thing was the moving of the 13 bells for R. K. Stewart & Son took the top off the tower and lifted the huge bells from it. It took most of the morning to remove the 13 bells.

THE COURIER ESTABLISHED 1876

Improvements Evad By City Officials

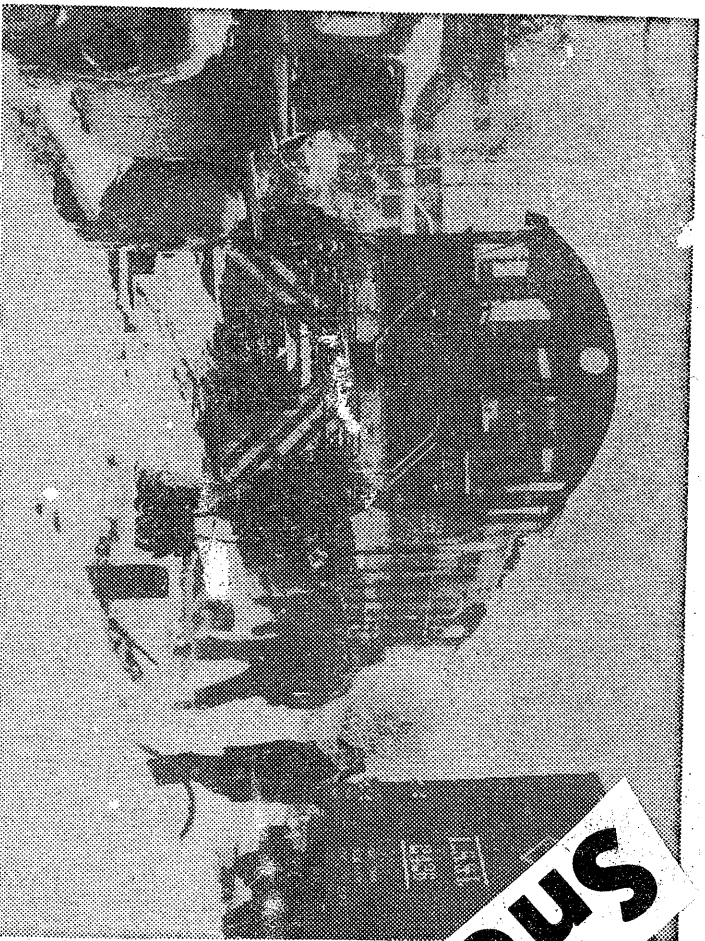

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1958

One of the improvements planned by officials say, is the installation of a traffic light at the corner of South Payson and the village street corner.

P A

Snow Tomorrow's Fe A Blankete

AMONG THE SNOW'S VICTIMS

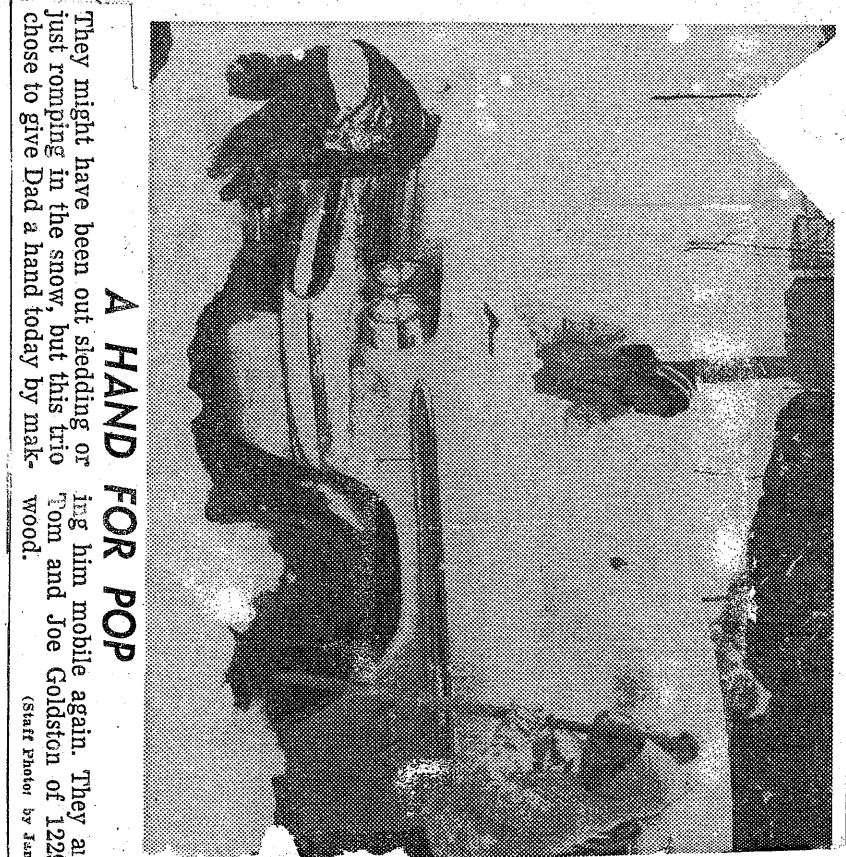

Snow banked thick and deep succeeded in pushing this Southern Railway switching engine off its tracks at the intersection of Mangrove Avenue and Kearns St.

(Staff Photo by Janet Teasdale)

THE HIGH POINT ENTERPRISE

THURSDAY, MARCH 10, 1960

SECTION 2

A HAND FOR POP

They might have been out sheding or just romping in the snow, but this trio chose to give Dad a hand today by making him mobile again. They are Tom and Joe Goldston of 1224 Wood.

(Staff Photo by Janet Teasdale)

Traffic Snarled

Traffic came to a virtual standstill in many areas yesterday. It was moving more smoothly today, but police warned conditions are still hazardous in many places. Consolidated buses, which suspended operations yesterday, started running again at 10:30 a.m. today.

Most wrecks resulting from the storm were of the fender-bender variety, but one crash last night did $2,000 damage to a city-owned dump truck. The truck skidded into the path of a Southern and Northwestern Railroad diesel locomotive, police said.

The crash, which occurred at the Tryon Street crossing, demolished the truck. The driver escaped without injury. Another locomotive came to grief this morning. A diesel reportedly owned by Southern Railway was derailed at a crossing at the intersection of Mangum and Kearns Streets. Although the storm was nothing but trouble for many people, it was welcomed by school children. City schools, which were closed yesterday and today, will not open tomorrow, either, Suplt. Dean P. Pruette said.

Businesses Close
Many businesses and industries were also closed today, although some had hopes of opening by noon. Also closed—probably for the remainder of the week—was High Point Municipal Court.

Yesterday's storm made the services of the court almost unnecessary anyhow. Only four arrests were reported by city police. Half the total was accounted for by two persons who had let overdue parking tickets linger too long without paying. The other half was a pair of hardy souls who braved the elements to get drunk.

Braving the elements won't be necessary, however, for residents who have books due at High Point Public Library this week. Neal Austin, librarian, said today that all books due this week have been automatically renewed.

By J. W. P. MOONEY

Enterprise Staff Writer
If you think this is the snowiest winter High Point has ever had, you may be right.

It's definitely the snowiest in the 31 years the Weather Bureau at Friendship has been keeping records—and it may get even snowier. More snow or rain is forecast for tomorrow.

Snowfall so far this winter has totaled 28.4 inches. The previous record was 23.6 inches in the winter of 1935-36. That total, however, was for an entire winter. This winter, the weatherman is careful to point out, isn't over yet.

Not only did this winter break all records before completion of the season, but it did so with a late start. There was no snow at all until January.

In January, High Point received 1.8 inches of snow. In February, the figure was 8.5 inches. It wasn't until March, however, that the skies really opened up.

Quiet Entrance

In the 10 days since March came in like a lamb, High Point has received 18 inches of snow—17 inches more than the normal total. It took only two snowfalls of seven inches a week ago and one of 11 inches yesterday—to account for the new record.

All but four inches of the month's total is still on the ground. That 14-inch blanket, the weatherman said, is the equivalent of a citywide puddle 1½ inches deep.

Although the season's snowfall to date is only 4.8 inches more than the 31-year record, it is a whopping 21.5 inches more than the normal seasonal snowfall of 6.9 inches.

Yesterday's all-day snowfall came close to doubling the normal fall for an entire season. Snow swirled into High Point at dawn and continued until nightfall. When it stopped, 11 inches of fresh snow lay on the ground.

In its wake the storm left snarled traffic, clogged streets, stranded cars, closed schools and disabled victims of falls on city pavement.

The library was closed today, and will be closed tonight, Austin said, but will probably reopen tomorrow.

Yesterday's snow proved useful to at least one local resident. In the absence of ice deliveries, a workman at an industrial plant was observed filling the plant's soft drink cooler with snow from the front doorstep.

Storm Victim
At another place of business, the snow wasn't so welcome. A marquee at New Service Laundry on Centennial Street collapsed from the weight of the snow.

Although snow-shoveling was pretty much a universal occupation in High Point, most shovellers appeared to be avoiding over-exertion. Authorities at High Point Memorial Hospital reported no snow-attributed heart attacks.

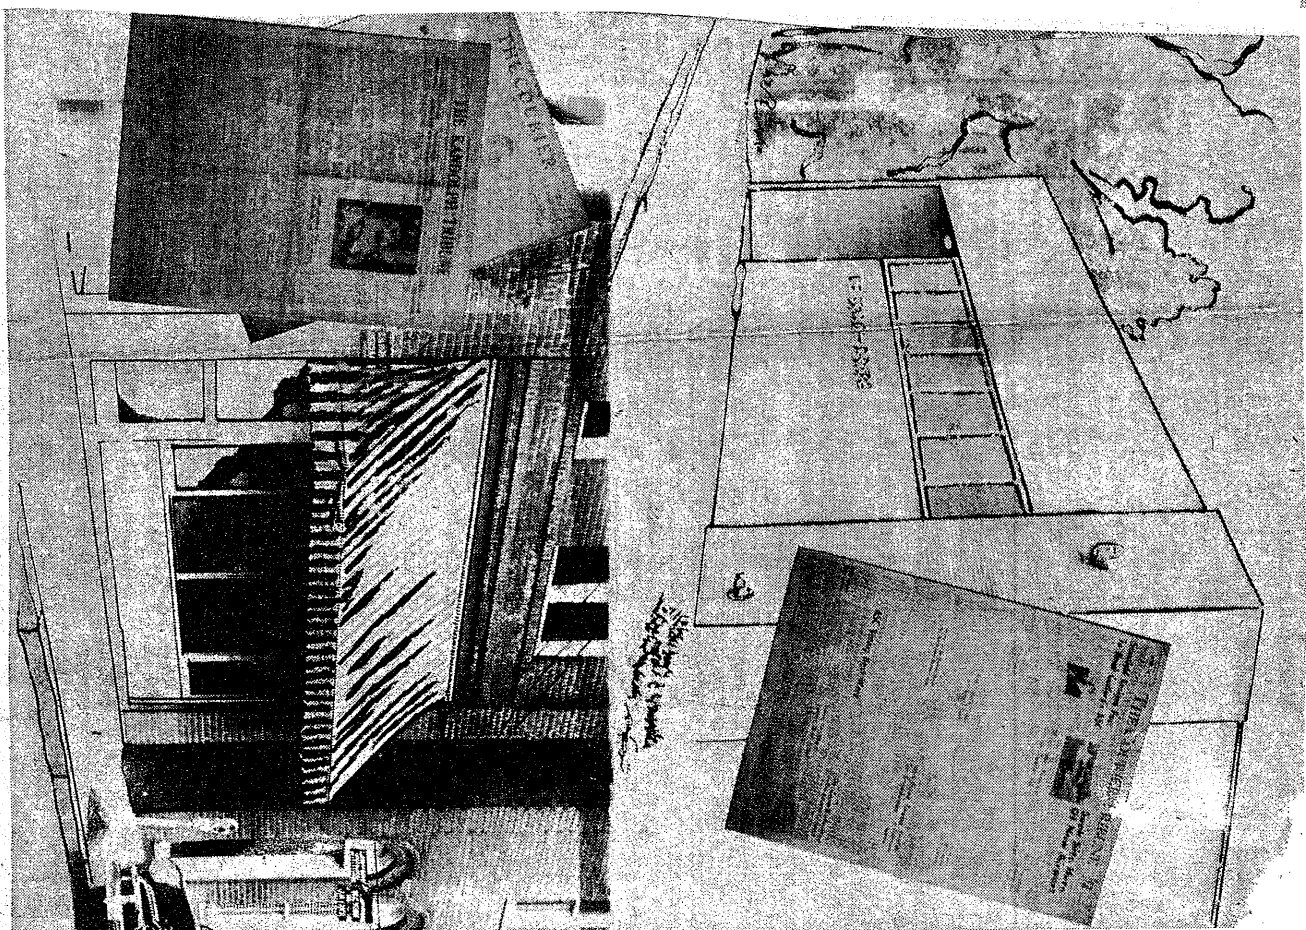

Three persons were treated at the hospital for injuries suffered in falls today, and two more were treated for injuries suffered the same way late yesterday.

Snow removal crews from the department of public works today continued their battle to clear the streets. Thirty-five pieces of equipment, exclusive of trucks, are being utilized, and a cleanup is expected all night.

Resid
Streets were slated for plowing today and some garbage removal was scheduled to be resumed at noon.

No Estimate
George Dean, director of the department, could place no estimate on the cost of removing snow from the last two storms. He reported the Feb. 13 storm cost $3,300 for snow removal. That bill will be split between the state and the city.

The last two storms, Deane reported, will cost "considerably more."
"We're just watching the weather and hoping we don't get any more," he said today.

... The Courier-Tribune
1876-1957—growing every week

Weather Halts Rescue Efforts In Mountains

March 13-1968

Families Are Isolated By Deep Snow

WEST JEFFERSON, N.C. (AP) — New snowfall and turbulent winds Saturday again interfered with relief efforts for some 1,500 mountain families, snowbound by about six feet of snow in the last month.

The fierce winds halted expeditions by four Army helicopters after only a few flights early in the morning. They will try again Sunday.

But Jepps, Weasels and other land vehicles continued the effort to take emergency supplies of food, fuel and medicine to remote coves and mountainsides in northwestern North Carolina.

And as rescue crews bucked their way in through massive snow drifts, many of the hardy mountaineers trudged out on foot to replenish their dwindling supplies.

A storm Friday night added more inches of snow to the Ash, Alleghany, Avery, Watauga and Wilkes counties area. But the fall was concentrated on the North Carolina coast, some 300 miles away. The port of Wilmington, where the record March snowfall of 4.5 inches occurred in 1927, recorded 5 inches in less than 24 hours.

Communications Out

The lack of communications is hampering the relief operation, precluding a precise knowledge of just what is needed and where.

"No one can really judge this thing," said Adj. Gen. Capus Waynick, who came here from Raleigh to set up the National Guard's armed forces' participation. "I pointed out that the mountain residents are highly self-sufficient. Nevertheless, he felt there is some real suffering, but we don't know the extent of it."

Many communities haven't been heard from for weeks.

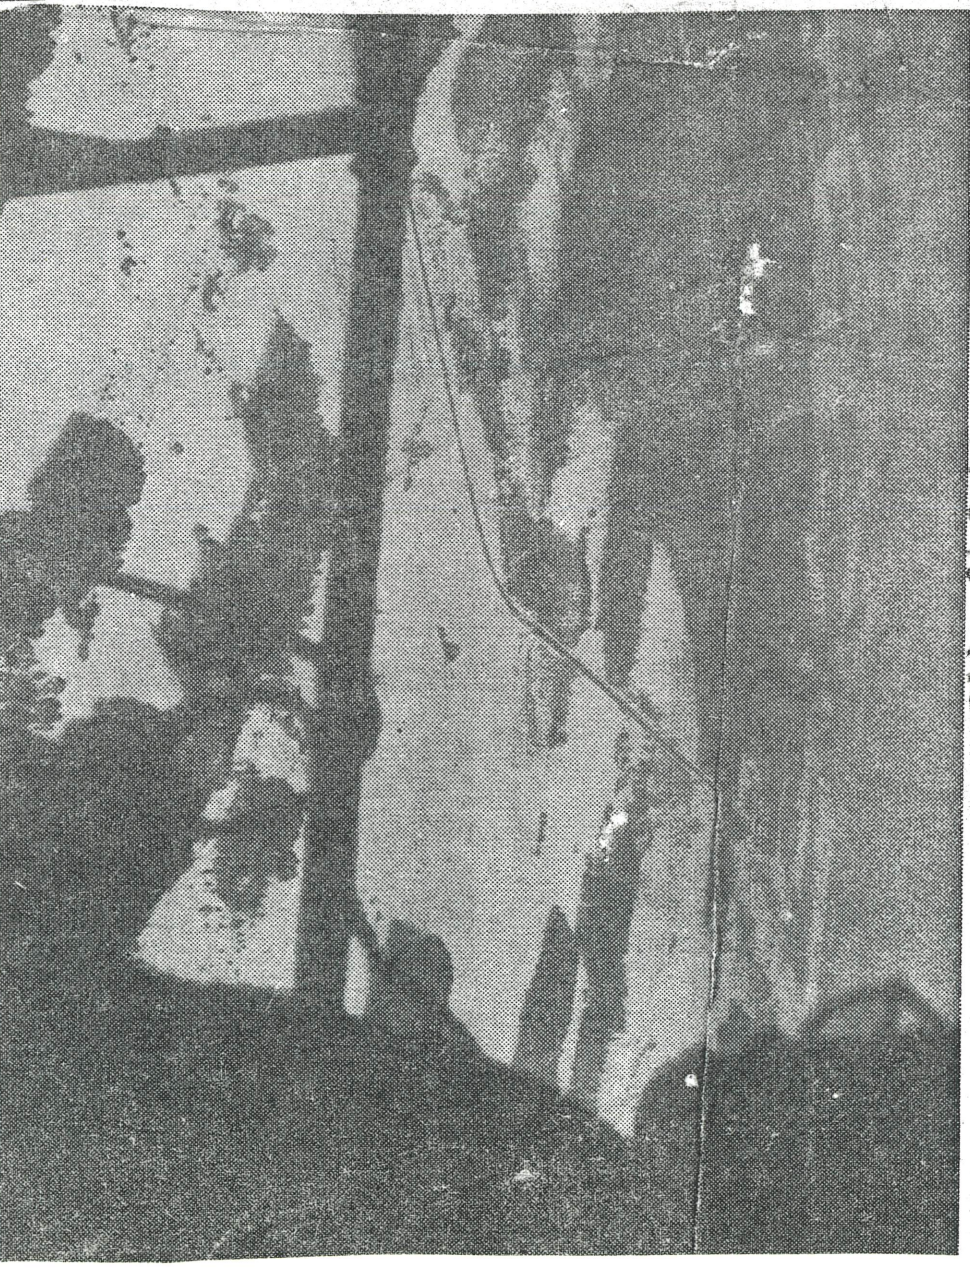

But the snow in the last month has not dimmed the proud independent nature of the mountain men and mountain women, many of them living years in the valleys and coves their pioneer forefathers settled. Often, help offered has been refused.

It is a trait, perverse:

Expectant Mother

An Army helicopter crew twice risked their lives Saturday to reach an expectant mother living in a small cove about 2½ miles from the nearest cleared road. "I thought the wind was going to turn that thing upside down one time," said a local guide after the unsuccessful attempts to land. Two Army Weasels, with a nurse and a doctor, then started toward the valley.

Meanwhile, a relative of the woman battled his way out on foot. Roy Calhoun said his sister-in-law was up and about. But, he added, "There's nothing wrong with her. That's why I'm down here, to stop them — the rescue crews. I don't think she'll come out with them."

HELICOPTER CREWMAN SURVEYS SNOWBOUND ASHE COUNTY

Yet it is a trait, admirable: A relief crew reached an elderly couple living in an isolated area and delivered 100 pounds of food. The man, despite his advanced years, had been attempting to shovel a path from his home to get food. He had cleared about 50 yards and was ready to continue. But he told the crew, "I don't think I could have made it."

Weatherman Shivered And So Did We, Last Year

By J. W. P. MOONEY
Enterprise Staff Writer

From beginning to end, 1960 was a year to make the weatherman shudder.

The year's rather story in case you've forgotten, can be summed up in one word: winter.

By the time Baby 1960 was barely six weeks old, he was trading in his traditional satin banner for earwax and a snow job. He wore fur-lined Bermuda shorts throughout the year, what there was of it.

He did his summertime swimming in a wool bathing suit, hunched back to the fur-lined trunks for the fall and veed out yesterday wearing an frock.

And it all came as a terrible year to him. He started with deep-freeze weather. January, the most part, was a month of normal temperatures and blation.

He sure, there was a little Jan. 5 — but only 1.8 inches of that was to be expected. Little breeze whipped in town Jan. 15, falling a feet and a 45-foot radio — but occasional gusts of wind are wont to do that sort of thing.

On Jan. 28 a rather nippy fog crept in on little cat feet, as fogs are supposed to do, but all it did was make it a mile difficult for motorists to navigate.

On the whole, January was a pretty good month. Even February, in fact, in light of what was to come.

It came in February. The very date on which it all started should have been an omen, but at the time, nobody regarded it as such.

It started Feb. 13. With 8.6 inches of snow. The weatherman had an explanation. A low-pressure storm off the South Carolina coast was the culprit. The snow, he admitted, was a surprise; the precipitation didn't come when it was expected. If it had, it would have fallen as rain.

The "surprise" closed streets, canceled athletic and social events, caused wrecks, tied up traffic, closed schools, gave birth to snowman contests and provided fun and excitement for countless youngsters.

And the public accepted the weatherman's explanation. Before spring, however, the weatherman was to run out of explanations. Snow quickly stepped being a surprise, snowman contests were no novelty, clogged streets and snarled communications were the accepted thing and youngsters no longer found the fluffly white stuff a source of fun and merriment.

For a while, in fact, people were talking in terms of "a snowstorm every Wednesday," with justification.

Second Snow It snowed Wednesday, March 2 — 6.1 inches, with another inch the next day for good measure.

It snowed Wednesday, March 9 — 11.1 inches, no less. With another .7 of an inch on the 12th.

It snowed Wednesday, March 16 — 2.4 inches. With a little more the next day and still more March 26.

Then came the end of the month and another 2.4 inches. The grand total was a record-breaking 31.7 inches — the most snow in one winter since the Friendship weather bureau started keeping records 32 years ago. The previous record was 23.6 inches in the winter of 1935-36. That mark toppled during the March 9-storm last year.

That storm alone came close to doubling the normal fall for an entire season.

Accompanying the snow were narrow-chilling temperatures similar to last month's. The mercury hovered around the 10- or 12-degree mark for days.

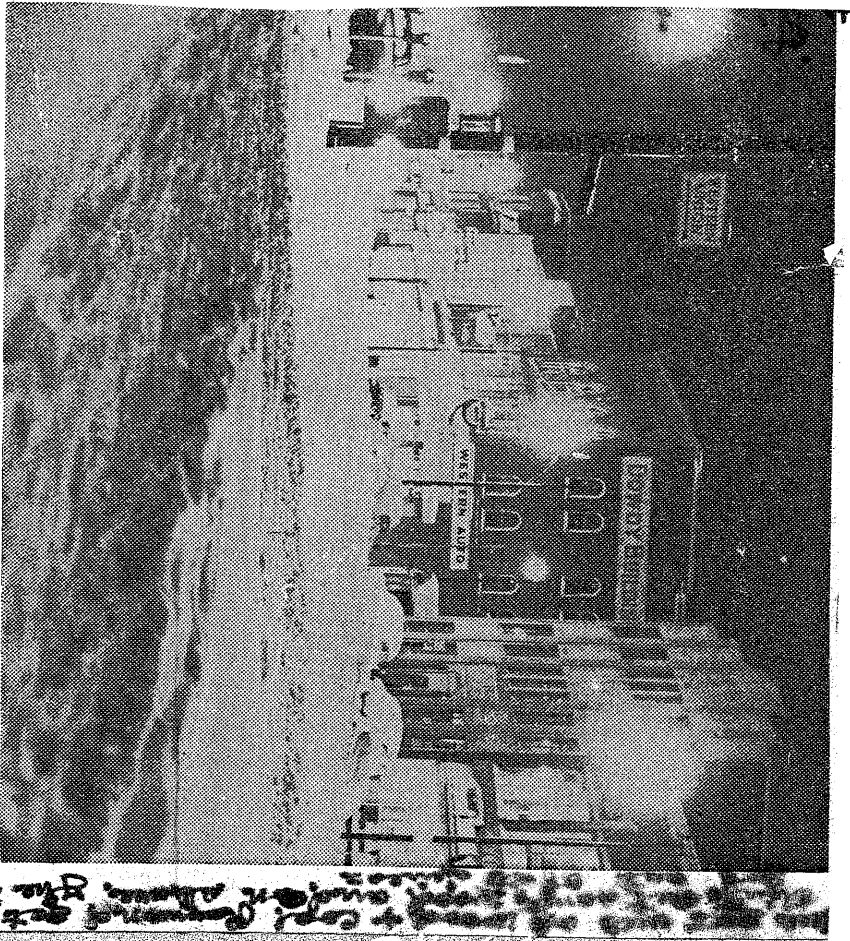

It froze City Lake, preventing the ducks out there from taking their daily swim. And it froze the pond at Floral Garden Park Cemetery while two hardy ducks were in the very act of swimming, trapping them in the ice.

In the city, schools closed, businesses closed, even the public library closed, during automatic renewal for a books in the hands of borrowers.

But the mail, true to the tradition of the postal department, continued to go through. The postmen were on the job.

Also on the job, all day every day, were the hard-working crews of George Dean's public works department — even the garbage collectors. They weren't collecting garbage, though. They were shoveling snow, plowing snow, loading snow and dumping snow.

Sales of snow tires and the chains boomed. Stores found themselves completely sold out of foul-weather footwear. Snow shows were at a premium — when they could be found. Awnings, roofs and entire buildings collapsed from the weight of the snow.

DOWNTOWN HIGH POINT SNOWBOUND DURING LAST WINTER'S SNOWS

It was a long, hard winter, but then came spring. Late, but welcome.

Spring came sometime in April. Summer came sometime after that. Both were short; both were chilly. There were spurts of warmth throughout autumn, but only enough to give colds and viruses a chance to sink their roots.

Before long, Thanksgiving was past and Christmas was on its way. So was winter.

The mercury plummeted in December and gave definite indications of being most reluctant to rise.

Almost nightly, the thermometer sniffed with disdain at the freezing mark and dived below it. Early the morning of Dec. 12, it dropped to 12 degrees. It was not much warmer that night.

With the frigid temperatures came frigid winds. They howled down from the North, which was buried under a foot of snow from a storm spawned in the Carolinas. The snow, however, bypassed the Piedmont, refusing to give even the relative warmth that comes with a snow blanket.

And as 1960 faded into history, Piedmonters were still shivering. Whether or not it was gold made no difference — shivering had become a habit, born of a year's practice. It's up to Baby 1961 to break the habit.

But rumor has it that his satin banner has a sheepskin lining.

Aggs will begin at Marlboro Friends Meeting next Monday night. A new guest minister will be present each night. They will include Isaac Harris of Archdale, Cecil Haworth of High Point, David Stanfield of Springfield, Seth Hinshaw, executive secretary, Victor Murphison of Winston-Salem. Will close the meeting Friday night. John Pipkin is pastor of the church.

We feel that hearty congratulations are in order for Mrs. Wilford Davis for winning the new Chevrolet in the subscription contest sponsored by The Randolph Guide.

By Mrs. S. J. Cash
Mrs. Lee White of High Point is seriously ill in High Point Memorial Hospital. She is the former Stella Nantz of this section. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Among the visitors at Della Robbins' Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. John Newby and Mr. and Mrs. Phillips of Graham.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Short of Danville, Va., have returned home after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Pickard. S. J. Cash was a visitor in Randelman Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lee Bennett of High Point visited Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bennett Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Carr Radding and little son and Leola Alford visited relatives at Erkin recently.

Mrs. Nannie Reynolds and daughter Margaret of Lakewood, N. J., visited Mary and Sadie Osborne recently.

A large crowd attended the chicken pie supper at New Market School Saturday night.

Among the visitors at the John Newbys Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Garland Newby and family of Roullet. Mr. and Mrs. David Dorsett of Archdale, and Mr. and Mrs. Ferree Newby of near Greensboro.

Mrs. A. P. Cress and Mrs. S. J. Cash were shoppers in High Point Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Farlow are patients in the Randolph Hospital. They were injured in a car wreck near Asheboro Sunday afternoon. They were returning home from Mt. Gilead where they had visited their daughter, Mrs. Curtis Andrews and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Neely and family and Pat Scarborough of South Mountain Pines were supper guests Sunday night at C. E. Lanier's.

Mrs. C. E. Lanier visited Mrs. Leyton Loflin one night recently at the High Point Hospital. Mrs. Loflin recently underwent a very serious operation, but is improving satisfactorily.

Mrs. Jennie Welborn of High Point, a patient at High Point Hospital, is improving and will soon be able to return home.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Cash visited Mrs. Iola Morton and daughter, Mrs. Allen Gailley in High Point Sunday afternoon. They were both badly injured in a car wreck in Columbia, S. C., three weeks ago. Mr. and Mrs. Cash also visited Mrs. J. E. Jones and Miss Alice Overaker.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lanier and son Raymond visited at Virgil Gray's Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Loflin have returned home after spending several days with their daughter, Mrs. E. C. Pearman and family at Norfolk, Va. They report a delightful trip.

Mrs. Dora Farlow Adams, who some months ago went to spend a year at the home of her son Howard Adams at San Bernardino, Calif., is in the hospital there, having underwent major surgery.

Fifteen of the Marlboro Friends Women's Missionary Society members met last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Halice Beeson to make gulls as their month's project. There were 12 quilts made and six brought in, making 18 in all. Also made were 10 baby blankets and a baby quilt. A covered dish lunch with hot coffee was served. Each one enjoyed the work and the good fellowship. Quilting material was donated to the Society.

The supper the Marlboro Friends Women served at New Market Cafeteria last Saturday night was quite a success. The profits were about $540, which will be used toward obtaining a room for the church basement. Women express their appreciation to all.

Series of five night songs

BY LEONARD DUDLEY

News Editor

The art of making sorghum, a product that most city dwellers and many modern-day country folks never heard of, is still practiced in Randolph county. And like many of the other old time arts, this one has been handed down from generation to generation with little change in the way the job is done.

Mrs. Ellis Farlow and Willard Farlow, a mother-son combination in the Sophia community, are now in process of turning out hundreds of gallons of the golden brown molasses, most of which has long been sold or promised to their regular customers.

The Farlow mill is located near Mrs. Ellis Farlow's home in a wooded area and is standing on the same foundation laid by Willard Farlow's grandfather many years ago. About the only change made in the cooking facilities has been to increase the size in order to step up production to meet the demand.

Willard Farlow says he has no idea how long his grandfather operated the mill. He remembers how he and his father worked on the operation after his grandfather's death. He continued to operate the mill with the aid of his mother since his father's death five years ago.

"I don't know how long my father and grandfather ran the mill, but I have worked here for the past 29 years," he said.

During the current season the Farlows have turned out more than 700 gallons of the molasses, most of which was sold well in advance of the making. They have several steady customers who place orders for the molasses early in summer. By the time they begin operation of the mill, they are usually enough orders on hand to exceed the supply. Most of the time, the last to be sold is the time the cane is all gone.

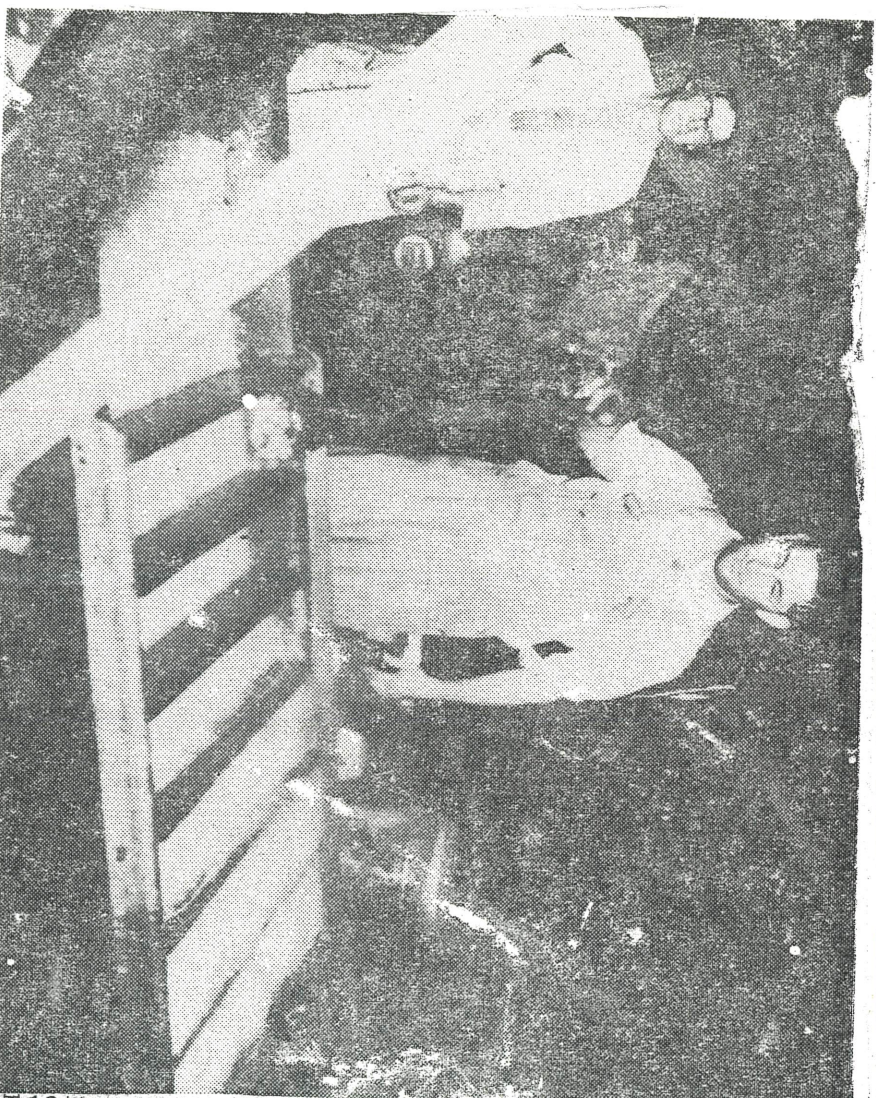

With the passing of the years and the growth of the business, Farlow has sought ways in which to step up his production in order to take care of all his neighbors and friends who are clamoring for sorghum. In the days, the mill was operated by a team of horses that were alternated at turning the grinder. There has been changed now with a tractor replacing the horses. Along with this change, Farlow was able to increase the size of the grinding mill. This has allowed increased production all along the line, he said.

The cane is hand-fed into the mill for grinding. The juice is allowed to flow into a large wooden barrel and then into a pipe about 20 yards to another wooden tub. From this tub, the flow of juice into the cooker is controlled in order to cook it properly. The open cooker has several baffles that control the flow of juice from the time it enters until it is allowed to run into a huge can from which it is taken and poured into jugs.

During the flow of juice from one end of the cooker to the other, it is constantly stirred with the waste being skimmed off and discarded. The color of the juice changes during the cooking process from a clear water-like substance to a golden-brown hue. During this final process, Mrs. Farlow keeps a watchful eye on the molasses to see that it is not over-cooked. When it has browned and thickened sufficiently, she pulls a plug from the last vat and allows the molasses to flow through a piece of cheese cloth in order to strain off the last impurities.

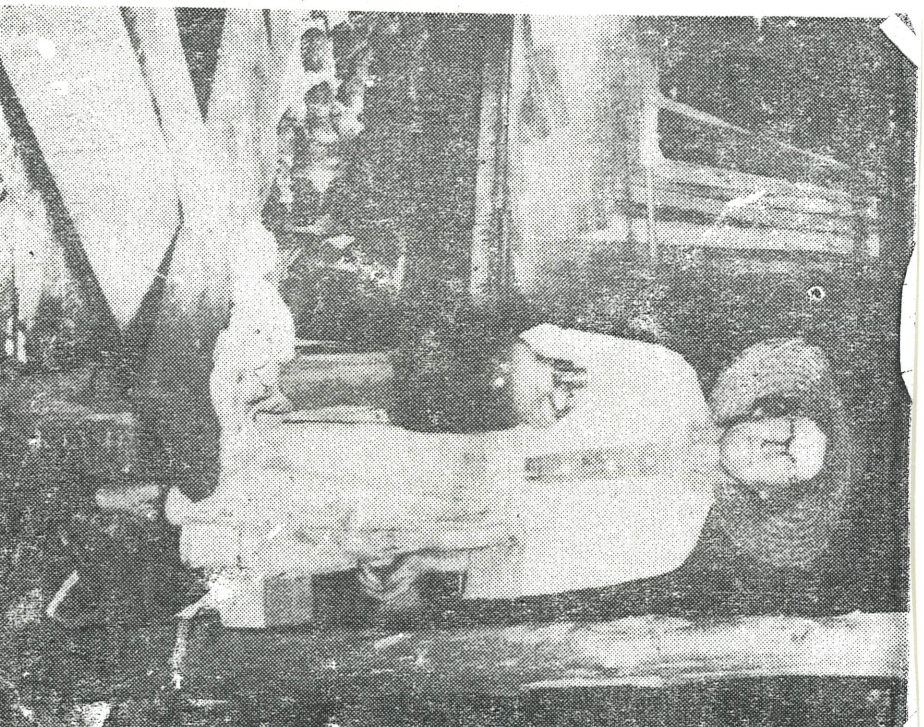

From this can, the molasses is poured directly into jugs and after a cooling period, is ready for the table.

Staff Photo — Mr. Farlow, his son and his father are shown here in the process of cooking up the golden brown molasses. The boy is Willard Farlow, the man is Mrs. Ellis Farlow and the woman is Mrs. Farlow's mother.

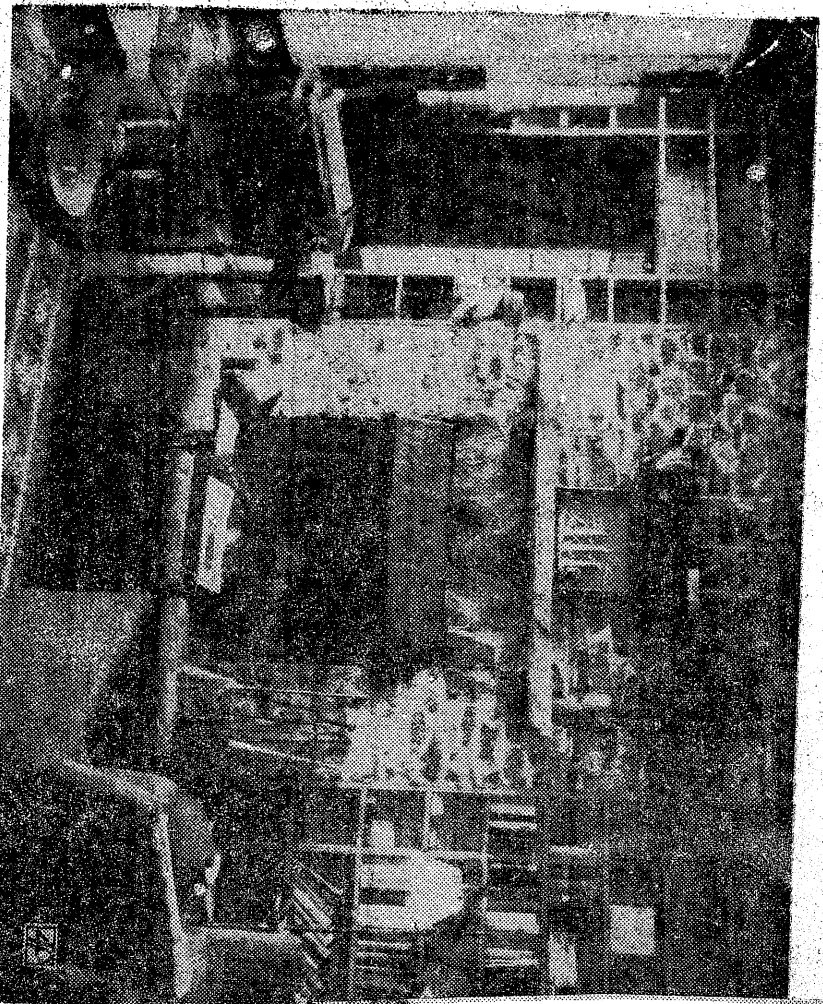

Staff Photo — A pile of sugar cane that will soon be turned into sorghum at the Farlow mill near Sophia.

Staff Photo — Mrs. Farlow displays a jug of the golden brown molasses she and her son have been turning out for years.

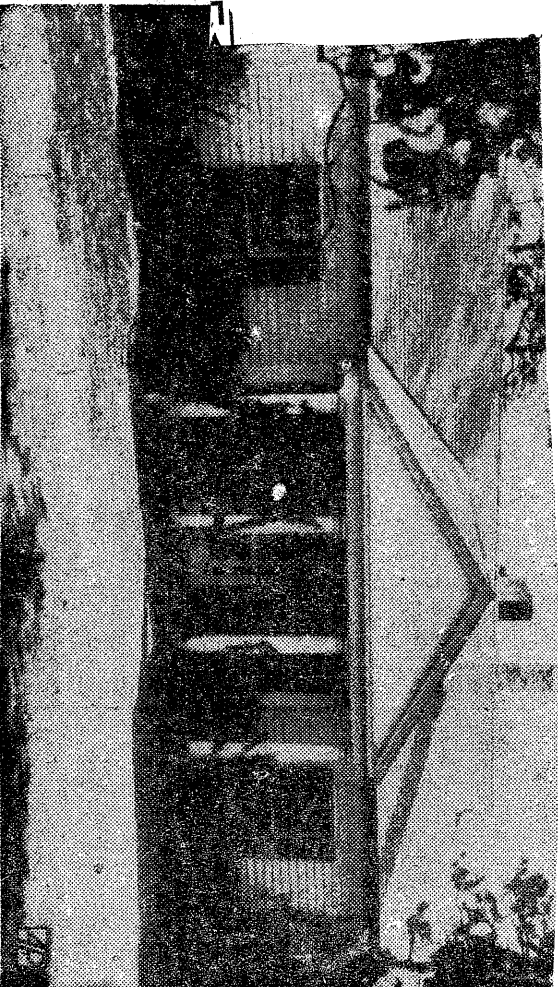

PICTURE STORY

LIVING ROOM OF COTTAGE WHERE PRESIDENT DIED — This is a view of the living room in the "Little White House," a five-room southern colonial cottage at Warm Springs, Ga., where President Roosevelt died April 12. He was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage while sitting in this room. He was carried into an adjoining bedroom in which he died. At the left of the fireplace is the President's little round desk.—(AP Wirephoto.)

ROOSEVELT FAMILY PLOT AT HYDE PARK—This is a view of the Roosevelt family plot in the cemetery adjacent to St. James Episcopal Church at Hyde Park, N. Y., where Franklin D. Roosevelt will be buried Saturday. The graves in the foreground are those of his father, James Roosevelt, (right), and his grandmother, Mrs. Rebecca H. Roosevelt. The picture was made before the burial of his mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt.—(AP Wirephoto.)

'LITTLE WHITE HOUSE' WHERE PRESIDENT DIED — This is the cottage at Warm Springs, Ga., known as the "Little White House," where President Roosevelt died unexpectedly of a cerebral hemorrhage April 12. The president built the cottage many years ago and went there periodically for rest. It is close to the Warm Springs Foundation which he helped to establish for the treatment of patients suffering the after-effects of infantile paralysis.—(AP Wirephoto.)

Ninety-Year-Old Tours Randolph In Whirlwind Visit Of Relatives

Alabama Visitor

"How young am I? I'm 90. I'll be 91 on July 30, but I don't want you to ask how old I am," Nixon. Lucas spoke with a twinkle in his eye and a vigor belying his years. Indeed the years rest lightly on the ninety-year-old gentleman, as he stands erect without aid of a cane and bears a distinguished close-dropped white beard as a mark of his senior citizenry.

Visiting with his niece, Mrs. D. C. Richardson, and her daughter, Mrs. B. M. Vick of Ashboro, Lucas tells his visitors: "I'm hoping to reach 91 first, and then I'll set it up to a 100."

Lucas last week ended up a whirlwind tour of familiar faces and places and had what he called the "happiest time in my life." After making the first plane ride in his life from his home in Alabama, he found great delight in planning his return flight—on a medium he likes better than any other. Born and raised in Montgomery County, he taught school in several communities in Randolph County, as well as Montgomery and later in his new home in Alabama.

Randolph County? "Some changes have occurred: 400-500 per cent better than since I lived here. I've seen lots of nice houses where there were just woods before—not only in the towns but in the rural districts."

Lucas left Randolph with his brother, Ben (who died in March of 1957), and went to Alabama during the turpentine boom and traded in naval stores —at one time owning 7,000 acres of productive land. His two other brothers followed him to Alabama: John who died in May of 1958 and Vance who is in Alabama.

The panics? "I let some of it slip away to take care of credit. I remember going through three panics, but the Hoover panic hurt worst because I was carrying heavier accounts."

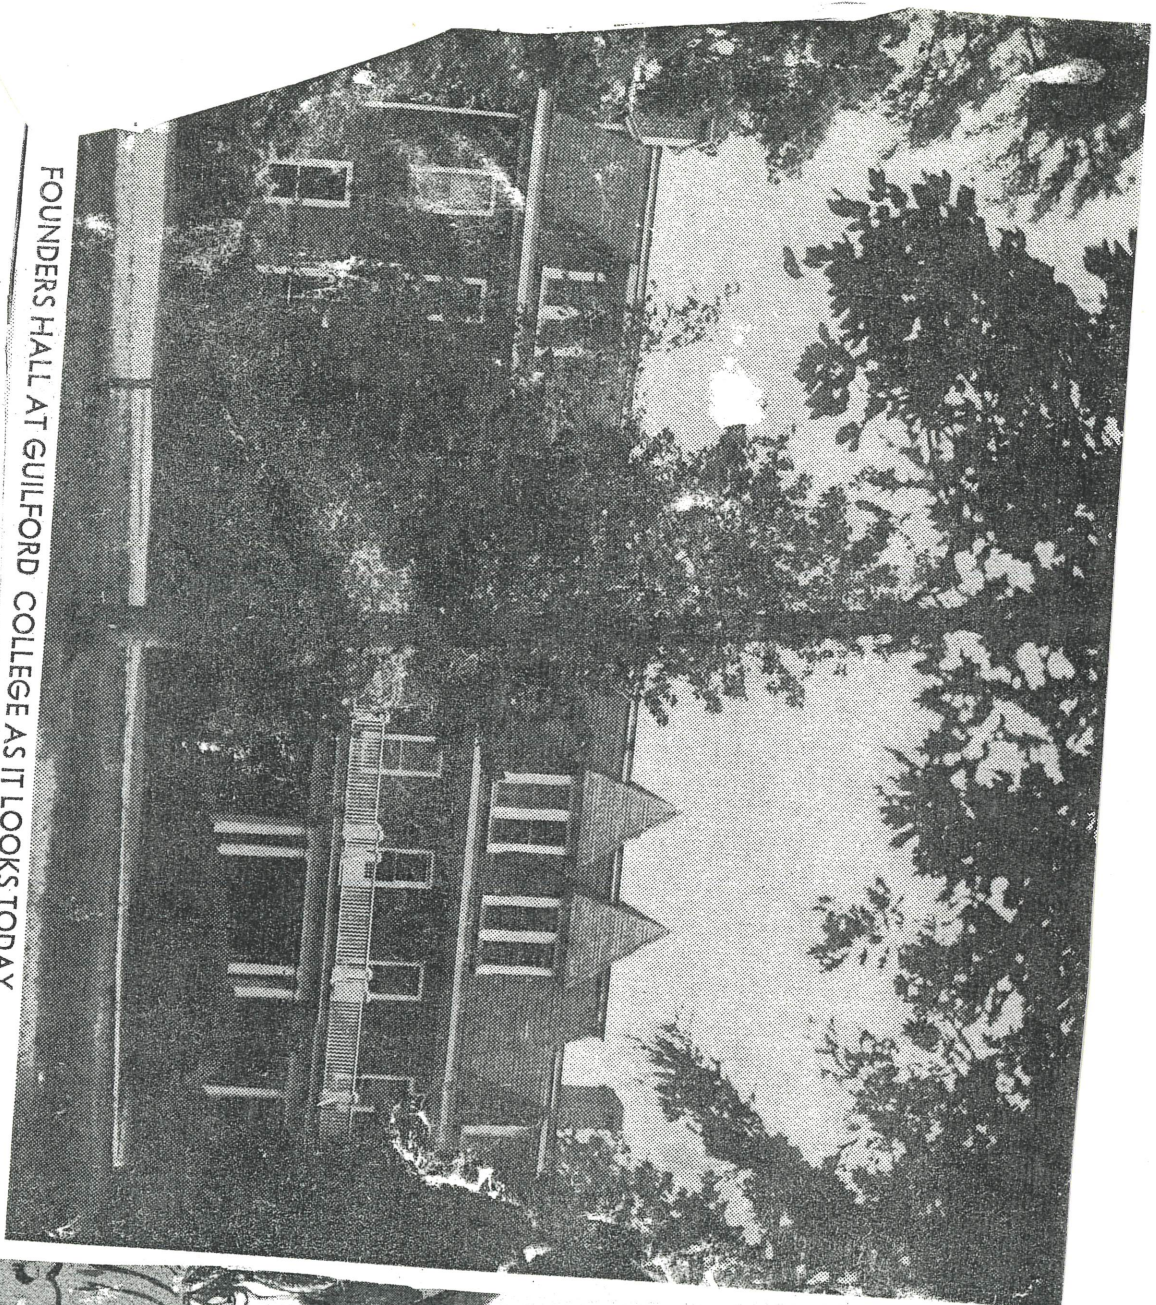

Longevity? "I attribute my longevity to two or three things. One thing, in my early life I abstained from drinking any kind of liquor. I didn't go to 'breakdown' parties, and I made it a rule to go to bed at an early hour and lay aside everything that happened that day whether I had good luck or bad luck and sleep, and rest." Lucas has been a hard worker all of his life and until a year he kept a garden, a time begun 70 years ago. In seven years ago, he had tenant families, tractors and mules. He even canned this year.

He has three children, two boys and a girl, and grandchildren.

And of his life in Alabama he had this to say: "I learned all about politics got enough for the balance by life. I didn't win, but way I did win, for it cut of politics. I've had no to run since then, although friends have tried to persuade me."

Lucas considers himself a "regular finner." He belongs to the W.O.W., the Redmen has been a Mason for a number of years, and is now a 33rd degree Mason.

FOUNDERS HALL AT GUILFORD COLLEGE AS IT LOOKS TODAY

Merchant Gave Critical Funds

BY LANE KERR

Greensboro Daily News Staff Writer

MOST PEOPLE know that a tobacco empire built by Duke University but how many realize that the whaling industry played an important part in the founding of New Garden Boarding School—now known as Guilford College?

This is a story of a kindly Quaker minister, Nathan Hunt, who settled in the New Garden community and became a beloved leader among members of the Meeting. In the early 1830s he led a campaign to build a school at New Garden.

And it is the story of a wealthy whaling merchant who lived in New Bedford, Mass., home port of the largest whaling fleet in the world, George Howland, as did Nathan Hunt, had an interest in education.

Quakers Attracted
Long before either of these men was born, Quaker immigrants from Pennsylvania and the island of Nantucket off Massachusetts had settled in New Garden. The time was approximately 1750.

New Garden was a spot in a land of wilderness five miles west of what is now Greensboro. J. Hector St. John de Crevecoeur in one of the most notable books written in Colonial America, "Letters from an American Farmer," described the area:

"No spot on earth can be more beautiful; it is composed of gentle hills, of easy declivities, excellent low lands, accompanied by different brooks which traverse this settlement. I never saw a soil that rewards men so early for their labours and disbursements."

The Quakers came from Nantucket "like bees in regular and connected swarms," Crevecoeur wrote. The Coffins, Maceys, Starbucks, Gardner's, Barnards, Worths, Wickershams, Reeces, Giffords, Bunkers, Swans and Dixons all sought the earthly paradise at New Garden.

But there was still no school at New Garden in 1830 for the children of the settlers to attend.

Nathan Hunt Stressed
Nathan Hunt continued to emphasize the need for such a school and by 1833 New Garden Boarding School had its charter—but not a single building or acre of land. More money was needed.

Land was purchased, and work began in 1834 on the building now known as Founders Hall. In January of 1837, work had lagged and more than $2,000 was due on building contracts. But Nathan Hunt had faith in God—and in George Howland. History does not record where these two men met or where their paths first crossed. But the day they did proved a blessing to the Quakers of New Garden. Mrs. Dorothy Gilbert Thorne tells the tale in her book, "Guilford, a Quaker College".

"Nathan Hunt had been soliciting funds with the zeal of a crusader and more than a crusader's eloquence: He was firm in his assurance that a draft would be received from George Howland in time to help with these building expenses."

George Howland had said to him: "Nathan Hunt, they get all the cane from others and when my ship comes home next spring, if she is well laden with oil, three shall have the thousand dollars thee asks for," and Nathan Hunt knew the ship would come.

"Early in January, 1837, he saw a vision. His little grandson, David Hunt, watched him come toward the house, his face aglow with pure delight, his eyes fixed on far distant things, and heard him say to his daughter-in-law: 'Well, Nancy, I shall get that draft from George Howland in a few days. I see his ship just at this moment sailing into the harbor at New Bedford, and it is well loaded.'"

Nancy Hunt set down the hour and the day. A week later George Howland's enclosing the draft was received—the ship had docked at New Bedford at the hour when Nathan Hunt had seen it in his vision."

Doors Opened
Howland's enclosure was for $1,000; work on Founders Hall was completed and in 1837 New Garden Boarding School opened its doors to 50 boys and girls.

Howland's donation, of course, did not pay for the building, but his gift came at a most opportune moment. He visited New Garden in 1833 and made another present of $1,000 to his friend, Nathan Hunt.

The Quaker patriarch wrote to his New Bedford friend: "I have sometimes fancied I could see your gallant ships sailing to the South Seas, gathering their freight and returning richly laden and coming to anchor in New Bedford harbour under the care of some guardian angel."

"And to crown all, it seemed as if I could see thee, my very dear G., going on board with a humble heart and thoughtful mind to receive the rich treasures of the seas, which the Lord hath sent thee."

Newspaper accounts and the history of the Howland family insist that in his will, Howland bequeathed $50,000 for a school for young women at Union Springs, N.Y., $15,000 to Haverford College and $5,000 for a school in North Carolina."

Not Found
But a check of the will shows no such bequeathment to either Haverford or the "school in North Carolina" and college records here show no such donation.

Howland, one of the wealthiest whaling merchants of the first half of the 19th century, made one serious error of judgment during his lifetime. He believed that a substitute for whale oil would be found and that the whale fisheries would be ruined. He decided to invest in land.

There were three points that appeared to him: New York City, the region around Haverford College and central New York.

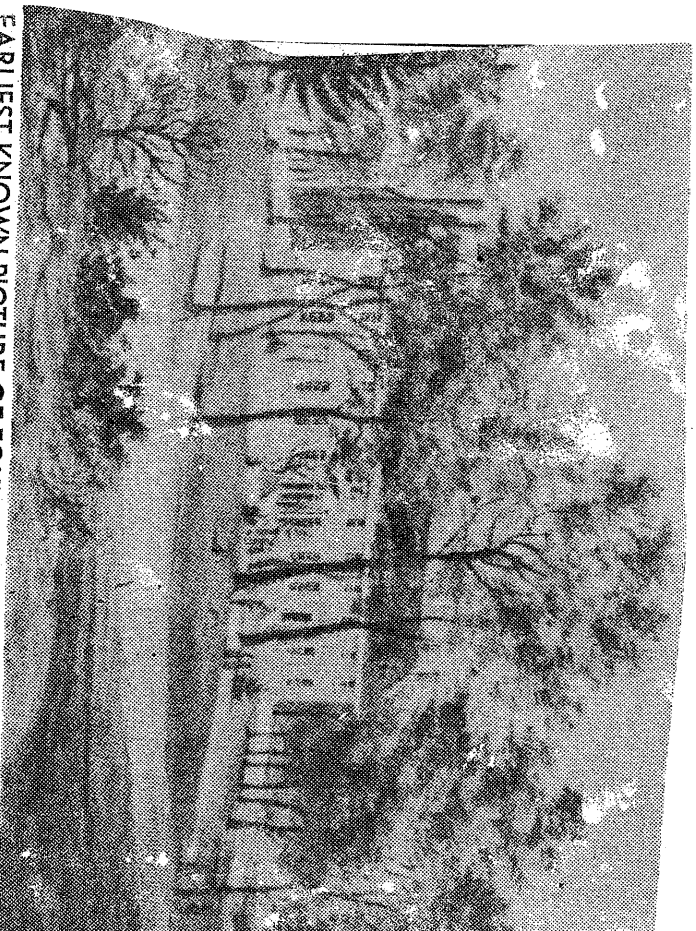

GEORGE HOWLAND OF NEW BEDFORD
A Whaling Merchant Who Helped A School

The whaling merchant abandoned any ideas of buying in the New York City area; prices were too high. He saw no future in the Haverford College area as the land was not fertile.

Venture Failed
That land now is just nine miles west of Philadelphia and is the suburban center of the

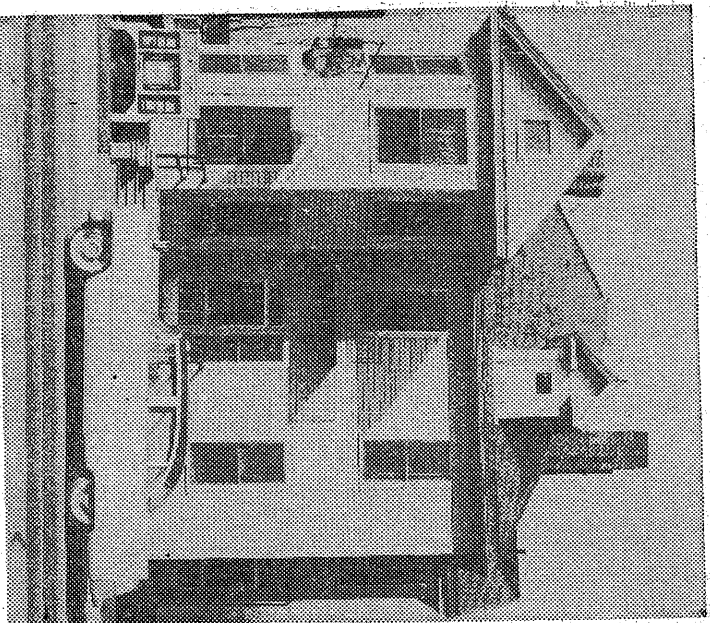

NATHAN HUNT OF NEW GARDEN
A Quaker Minister Who Had A Vision

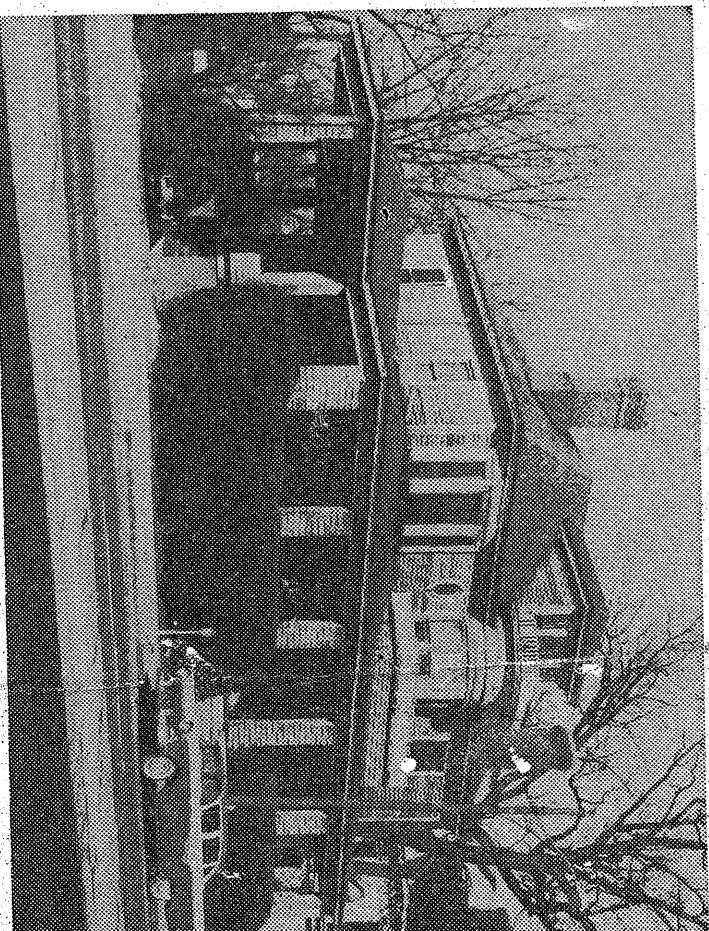

EARLIEST KNOWN PICTURE OF FOUNDERS HALL, DATE UNKNOWN

Stately 'Old Ladies Of Main'

July 26-1946

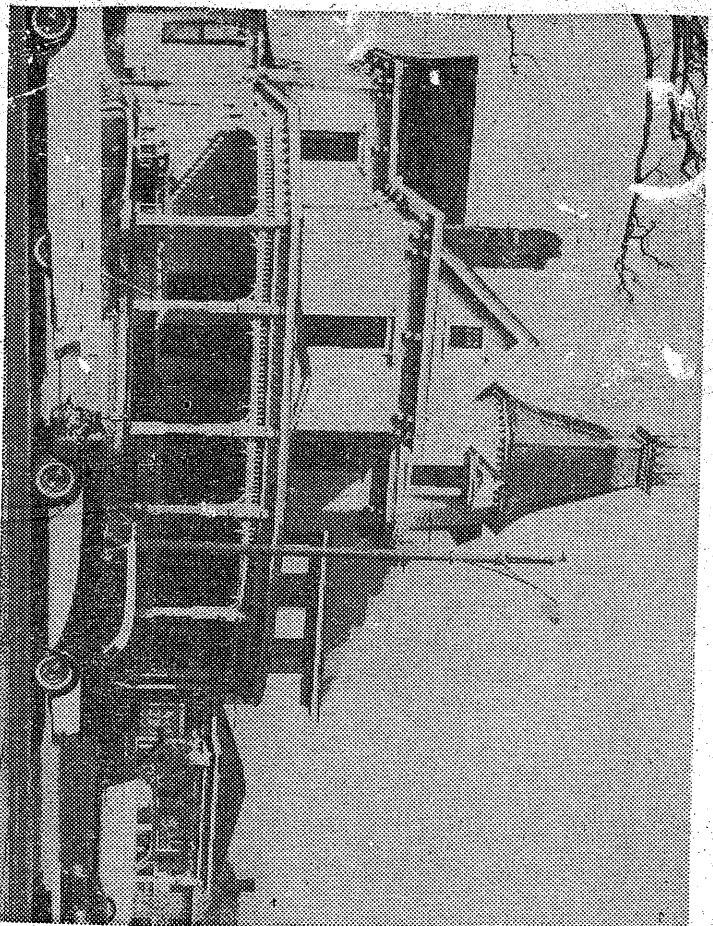

Preparations for the construction of a multi-million dollar motel and furniture exposition layout will mean that these old homes in downtown High Point will fall to the wrecking crews' hammers. First to go will be the northernmost of the three, the large home (right) built in 1876 by Ernest A. Snow. It was the first to be built on a tract of land purchased that year by Captain W. H. Snow. The other two houses will pass into possession of New South Furniture Corp. on April 1. The smaller of the three (at left) Phaebe Davis and Nellie Du later years as an office building center was built in the late 1

Street' Will Go

(Staff Photos by Janet Teague)

Was built in 1904 by Mrs. Ernest Snow. These lots, along with the Main Street frontage north to the old Quaker Church property, will be the site for a 60-unit motel, a five-story furniture exhibit building and a restaurant, all to be known as the Furniture Plaza.

Funeral Service Williard Hill Thursday Afternoon

Williard Hill 37, died suddenly at his home on route 2, Ashenboro, early Tuesday.
Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Elsie Trotter Hill; a son, Muckle and a stepdaughter, India Trotter, both of the home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Hill of route 2, Ashenboro; four sisters, Miss Ethel Hill and Mrs. Robert Crofts of route 2, Ashenboro, and Ruth and Rosetta Hill of Ashenboro; and two brothers, Everett and Raeford of route 2, Ashenboro.
Funeral service was held Thursday at 2 p.m. at Mt. Shepherd Methodist church and burial was in the church cemetery.

Schooling in parent hood is urged to cur youth crime.

Will Continue In Politics

HOPEWELL, Va. P.—When D. D. Lane Elder declined to seek reelection here for 28 years as mayor and 3 1/2 years on city council an erroneous rumor started that he would retire from politics. Newsday said he will continue as a member of the Hopewell Democratic Committee and the committee for the Sixth Virginia Senatorial District. He has headed the Hopewell Committee since 1916.

Native's De

The death in Phoenix, Ariz., Monday of a Randolph county native, Alan J. Cox, recalls the personal tragedy of this man in the 1920s.
Mr. Cox, whose family lived at Ramstein, Route One, prior to going west, lost his first wife and their two children in a situation which perhaps is not paralleled by the writer of the saddest turn of mind.
(Please turn to page 2)

FALTON L. COX

Funeral services for Talton Louis Cox, 82, were held in Marlboro Friends Meeting House Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by the Rev. York Teague, minister of Cedar Square Friends Meeting, the Rev. H. W. Ritz, minister of Center Valley Friends Meeting, and the Rev. Robert Melvin, retired Friends minister. Interment followed in the family plot in the Marlboro cemetery. Pallbearers were Zonie Tutterrow, Franklin Cox, William Cox, Ben Cox, Jack Hinzaw and Wade Frazier.
Mr. Cox, resident of Route 1, Randleman, and Greensboro, died at his home Sunday morning at 3 o'clock. He had been in declining health for several months.

Retired Friends Minister Will Celebrated their Anniversary

By SA. TH BULLA

Rev. Benjamin Harrison (Ben Harrison) Millikan, a distinguished looking, silver-haired Randolph county native, and his wife celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday afternoon at their home on Route 1, Snow Camp.

Friends and relatives from far and near came to extend their best wishes and to felicitate this retired Friends minister and his fine looking and handsomely dressed wife who served more than a score of churches during their active ministry of around forty years.

Ben Harrison Millikan was born three score and ten years ago at the old Millikan homestead in Back Creek Township. His parents were Benjamin and Ada Farlow Millikan. The elder Ben Millikan was the father of 14 children, all of whom are dead except for his name-est child, the Rev. Ben Harrison Millikan.

The elder Ben Millikan once served as high Sheriff of Randolph county and while serving in this capacity officiated at the county's only legal hanging. For his participation in this hanging he was for many years denied admittance to the membership of the Friends Meeting, which his son has so conscientiously served throughout the years. But the church group relented before his death and he was allowed to come into the religious circle with which his family had been traditionally identified.

Mrs. Ben Harrison Millikan was the former Sallie Pearl Andrew, daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. Thomas F. Andrew. Her father was a veteran Friends minister and at the time of her marriage the family was living in Chatham county, near to the town of Staley. She was one of eight sons and daughters of the Rev. and Mrs. Andrew, all of whom are still living.

The marriage of the Rev. and Mrs. Millikan took place on December 23, 1909 at the home of the bride's parents. The vows were spoken before Rev. Albert Peete, a Friends minister from Guilford College, and according to the bridegroom of fifty years ago, it was "a nice home wedding." The bride of fifty years ago, who looks youthful despite being a year older than her husband, was too busy Sunday afternoon getting ready for the host of friends and relatives who were to come to express her opinion of the wedding fifty years ago or to give the reporter other information which he would like to have had from her.

Asked if he was a minister at the time of their marriage, Mr. Millikan quickly replied, "far from it." But in 1918, the call to preach was heard and after one year of preparation at the Cleveland Bible College in Cleveland, Ohio, the active ministry began. The earlier educational training had been received at the town of Guilford, College where Mr. Millikan's father had moved his family for six years for the purpose of giving them the benefit of the schools in that vicinity.

The Rev. and Mrs. B. H. Millikan

The first pastoral work for the new minister and his wife came at Galax, Va., with service at the churches of Mountain View, Center Valley and Yackin Valley Quarterly Meeting and the churches of Deep Creek, Harmony Grove, Union Cross and Forbush. Then the church at Mount Aily which was followed by four churches near Goldsboro, namely, Nahant, New Hope, Oakland and Hood Swamp.

After the tour of duty in the eastern part of the state, the Millikans came to the Centre Friends Meeting just over into Guilford county, across the Randolph county line, and then the Archdale Meeting House in this county, followed by the Phney Woods church near Hertford. Then to historic Cane Creek and Providence in the Alamance county area, back to Galax to the church in town, then Pilot View in Yadkin county and a second call to the work at Deep Creek. The last place of service came at the South Fork Friends Meeting, near to where the Millikans now reside.

Asked if he had actually retired, Mr. Millikan, with a wry face, said: "I don't like it but I will have to say it." However, the grey-haired minister, who still retains the eloquence and the fervency of the years of the past, has not completely retired and is still subject to invitations to the pulpit, although not available for active pastoral work.

Looking back over his ministry of four decades, he recalls during the first two years of his active ministry and he also has the consolation of always having "preached a full gospel."

This fine looking and distinguished appearing couple were in fine form Sunday as they greeted their relatives and also the friends which they had acquired through the years of their service to their fellow man, their church and to their God. They were a most gracious pair as they stood just inside the door of their well kept home to welcome the people who called during the appointed hours of their golden wedding reception.

On a more personal note, we salute you, both Ben Harrison and Pearl, on the passing of your fifteenth year of marriage. We appreciate the contribution which you have made to the family, to which we also belong, and we look with admiration upon the exemplary lives which you have lived. As you pass this milestone of your marriage and as you also go into the period beyond your allotted years, may peace and happiness be yours now and forevermore.

By ALTHEA BROWN

SOPHIA, Rt. 1—The descendants of the late Sidney and Nan Coltrane Beeson along with all families held their annual family reunion last Sunday at the home of a granddaughter and her husband, Wade and Marie Beeson Pugh. It was held at the Pughs' lovely new home which they have just moved into. A long table was arranged in the basement filled with all good eats and drinks. There was no program, just visiting and reminiscing.

The Beesons had six living children with all present. They are Elmer, Carl, Willis, Garland, Colbert and Mrs. Edna B. Kemp. There were about 40 present. Congratulations to the Pughs on their lovely new home, just moved into.

The descendants of David and Rachel Millikan Davis held their annual reunion last Sunday, beginning with a picnic dinner on a long table in the yard under the shade trees at the old home place of the Davis family. There was a large number of children and these have many relatives. The old house remains empty since the death of the last one, Elva Davis, some years ago, but is kept for special occasions. It is owned by a Davis close relative.

Otis Davis is president of this reunion. No special program, just short business session and time spent in social conversation. Quite a number was present. Will Davis, 83, was the oldest person present. A close relative, Miss Belle Davis of High Point was unable to be present as she recently entered High Point Hospital for treatment.

Quite a number of Marlboro folks attended yearly meeting at Guilford College last week especially the missionary conference. Friday afternoon and night. The banquet at 6:15 p. m. was largely attended. Though the weather was hot, the week's meetings were much enjoyed. Some real good messages were given by several.

A number of the relatives of Burleigh Wall had a family get-together dinner with him and Lillie at their home last Sunday. The occasion was in honor of his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Owens of Myrtle Beach, S. C. Other visitors at the home were Lillie's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Spencer and a cousin, Mrs. Pearl Wampler, all of Salisbury.

Quite a number attended services at Marlboro last Sunday morning. Quite a few visitors were welcomed. Glad to see many come. Rev. Earl Redding, a former Marlboro boy and his wife, Helen, and their three children of Miami, Fla., were present. They have charge of the Friends work in Miami. He has services and work with both the Spanish and American speaking Friends.

Jerry Davis who has been sick with "flu" a few days is improving. He was right sick at rs. Catherine F. Andrews son, Keith of Mt. Gillead, her parents, C. A.'s brother sister-in-law, A. D. and Farlow at their home near same and they spent Sunday at the home of the Far- daughter and son-in-law, and Cecelia F. Cagle at on. They returned home on day.

Raphael Farlow of son Air Base, near Washington, D. C., spent a three day with his mother, Mrs. W. Farlow and family.

Arlene Gaughran of Asheboro is spending this week with Wanda Farlow, Paul and Dot Lowe and children, Jay and Polly, of Louisville, Ky., who are visiting Lowe relatives around, were dinner guests of C. A., Mabel and Vada. Farlow last Friday. Other guests were Miss Ione Lowe of High Point and Miss Virginia Lowe of Asheboro.

Reclaiming Worn Out Farm Land Limited Only By Man

July 19-1953

The task of reclaiming worn-out farm land and returning it to useful production is limited only by the capacity of the owner for hard work and wise planning, says George D. Shelton of Sophia. And Shelton is a man who should know.

A veteran of World War II and a man who had spent a good many of his 42 years at public work, Shelton had a banking to return to the farm after his discharge from the army in 1945 after spending more than four years in an armored division and 11 months in Europe. The first task that faced Shelton and his wife, the former Allene Winslow of Farmer, was finding a farm they could buy.

They talked with realtors in High Point and looked at several places before finding their farm near Sophia. It was listed with a High Point real estate dealer but when they heard the price, $9,000, neither of them expected much. They were not disappointed when they visited the run-down place, they recalled.

The weather-beaten little house was set in a thicket of honeysuckle vines and the remainder of the place around the house was also covered by undergrowth and all but hid the house from view. It was about the best they could do on their finances, however, so they bought the 123 acre tract in the spring of 1947 and moved into the house. It was too late in the season to try to raise any kind of crop so Shelton continued to work in Thomasville along with his wife until the following spring.

Today, after five years of hard work, the Sheltons are making the farm pay by producing a variety of crops for the market. It was a long hard pull, however, Shelton said that when he first began clearing the honeysuckle vines from his place using a sling, his neighbors shook their heads and told him, "You're really going to make them grow now." Undismayed by this comment, Shelton kept plugging away until finally beat the vines.

One big field near the house was so badly eroded that he had to use a bulldozer to fill up the gullies before he could plant small grain on it.

In October 1950, Shelton applied for a loan which was used for a job of seeding 24 acres to alfalfa to be used for winter feeding. At the present time, he has about 68 acres of open land, including 20 acres he has reclaimed by soil conservation practices, and he has built some 18,000 feet of terraces to prevent erosion.

Shelton began buying calves which he would grow out and resell to dairies as milkers. He also produced veal for awhile and is still growing pork. He has six brood sows and about 50 sows now. He recently began selling milk and plans to fix up his barn and get into the production of grade A milk. Shelton built his 40 by 50 foot barn using lumber cut from his farm.

While he has been working on improving his farm, Mrs. Shelton has also kept him busy helping her remodel their home. At the time they bought it there were three large rooms and a small one. They built an additional room at the rear of the house and added a back porch. The small room was converted into a bath room and a pump was placed in the at the rear of the house to aid running water. They have also remodeled the entire inside of the house and are planning additional improvements for the future.

It's been a long hard pull over the past five years but the Sheltons are beginning to see the fruits of their work and day

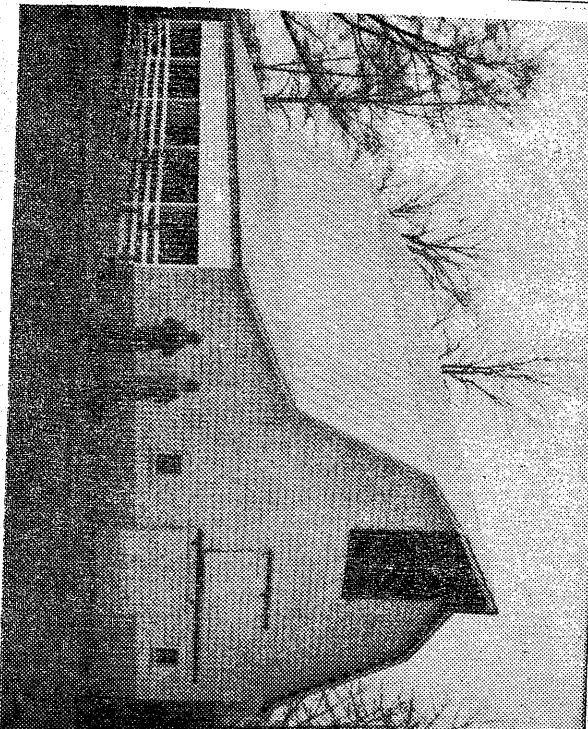

—staff photo by Dudley

REMODELED HOUSE—The above photo shows the Shelton here in their attractive living room as they make further plans for remodeling of their home. Note the pine paneling in background. This was placed directly over the old wall and a new celotex ceiling has also been added, making the Shelton home one of the most attractive in the community.

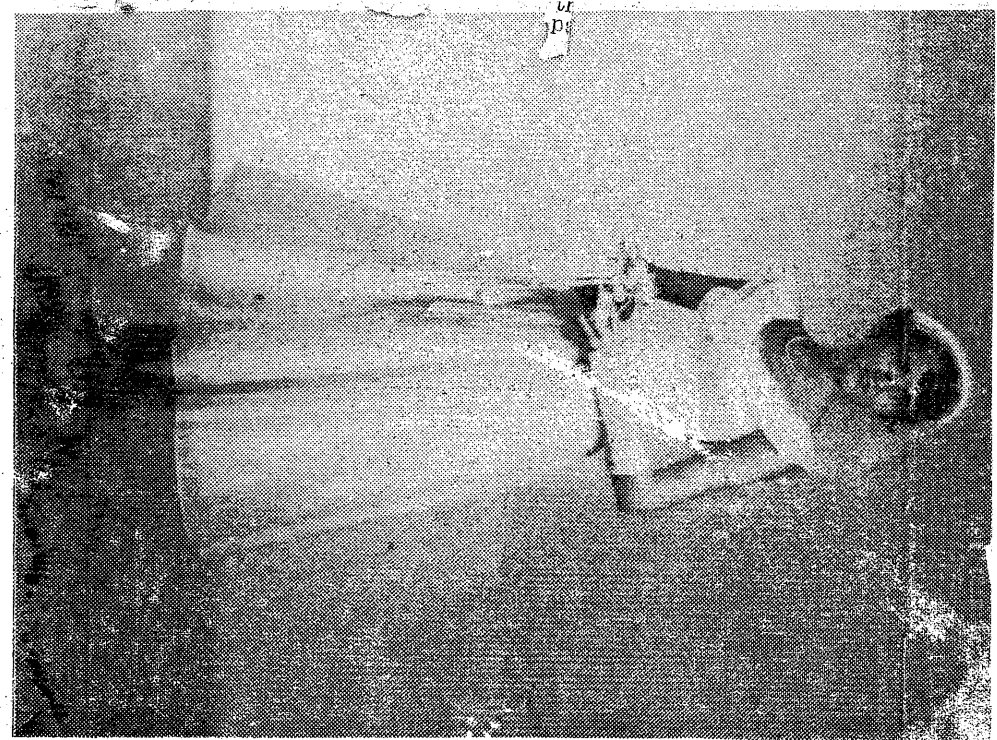

—staff photo by Dudley

REMODELED HOUSE—The above photo shows the Shelton home which the couple has remodeled since moving in more than five years ago. They have also added an extra bedroom and back porch to the house and installed a bath.

—staff photo by Dudley

NEW BARN—George Shelton, left, and William Arthur, right, FHA supervisor for Pittsboro, look over Shelton's new barn which was built entirely from lumber cut from the Shelton farm at Sophia. Shepton is placing the barn up for study.

AUGUST BRIDE—Mrs. Walter Burton Peck, of Topeka, Kansas, was Miss Mena Lou Robbins of Sophia, before her marriage to Mr. Peck on August 7th.

Mona Lou Robbins Bride Burton Peck

The marriage of Miss Mona Lou Robbins, daughter of Carlton Robbins of Sophia, and the late Mrs. Lillian Canoy Robbins and Walter Burton Peck of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Peck of Topeka, Kansas, took place August 7, at 7:00 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Howard Hall sister and brother-in-law of the bride, with which he was making her home. The Rev. Claude Young, pastor of New Salem Methodist church, used the ring ceremony amid a setting of white flowers, white candles and greenery.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Peggy Harris, best man for the bridegroom was Howard Hall brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride wore an ankle length dress of white crystal-ette over taffeta with a deep V-neckline and a full princess style skirt. Her veil was shoulder length, and her only ornament was a single strand of pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

The bride and bridegroom are 1954 graduates of Randleman High School. The couple plan to live in Topeka, Kansas where Mr. Peck is employed.

Hohns Feted On Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hohn were honored Sunday at an open house at their home on Route 7 in the Groomtown community. Hosts for the 50th anniversary celebration, were children and spouses of the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Williams of Sedgetfield and Mr. and Mrs. Stacy Kirkman of Winston-Salem.

About 350 relatives and friends called during the afternoon.

Assisting in the serving were granddaughters of the couple, Misses Martha, Lynne and Su Futrell of Sedgetfield, and Miss Alice Kirkman of Winston-Salem. Others assisting were brothers and sisters of the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Branson Davis and Mrs. Lewis David of Randleman, and Mrs. Reuben Hohn; and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Wagner of High Point.

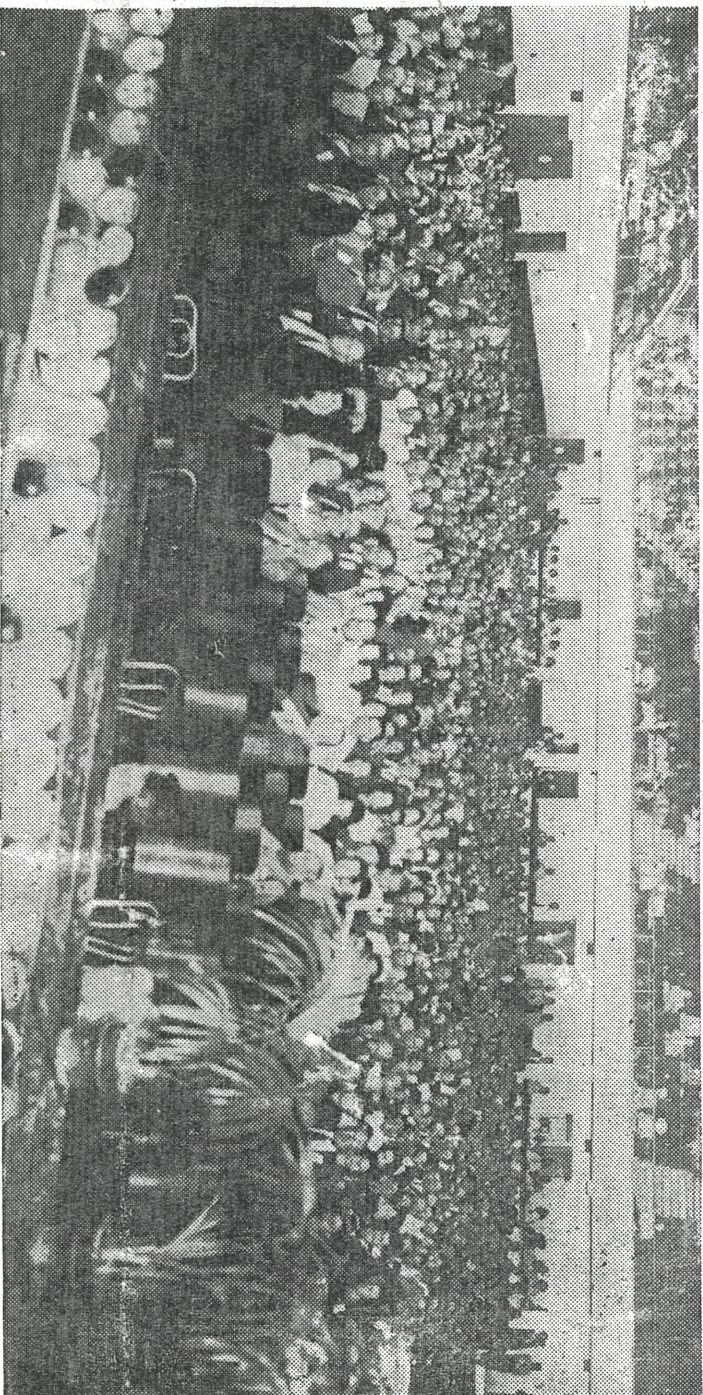

The couple were married Nov. 7, 1916, in Fairfield Methodist Church in High Point.

Mrs. Hohn is the former Martha Davis of Randleman and Mr. Hohn is a retired farmer. They have lived at their present address most of their married life.

Miss Clarice Marie Farlow

Lincoln Lauds Cooperation In Annual Meeting Address

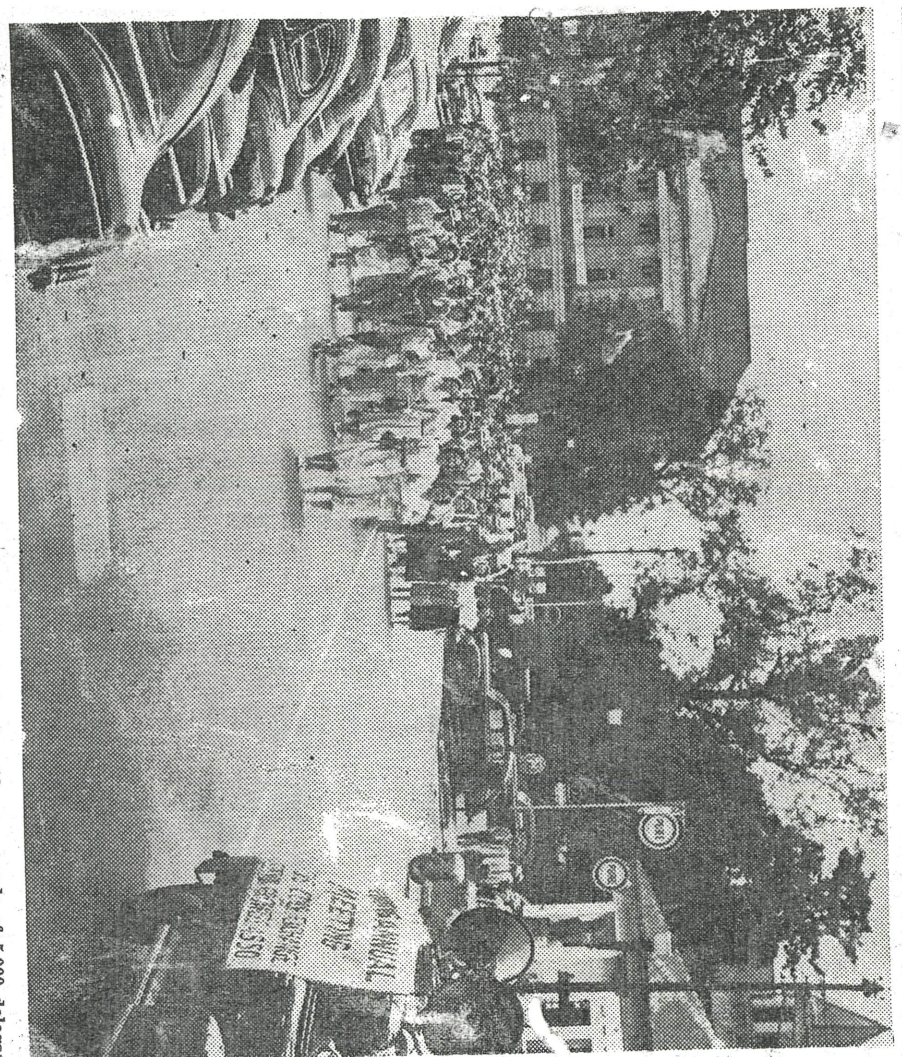

DELEGATES—Upwards of 5,000 delegates to the 1949 Annual State meeting of the FCX and N. C. Cotton Growers Cooperative Association moved in on Raleigh's huge Memorial Auditorium filling it to near capacity. With hundreds still out on the grounds where they listened to the program over specially installed amplifiers the picture above shows nearly every seat filled as the program got underway.

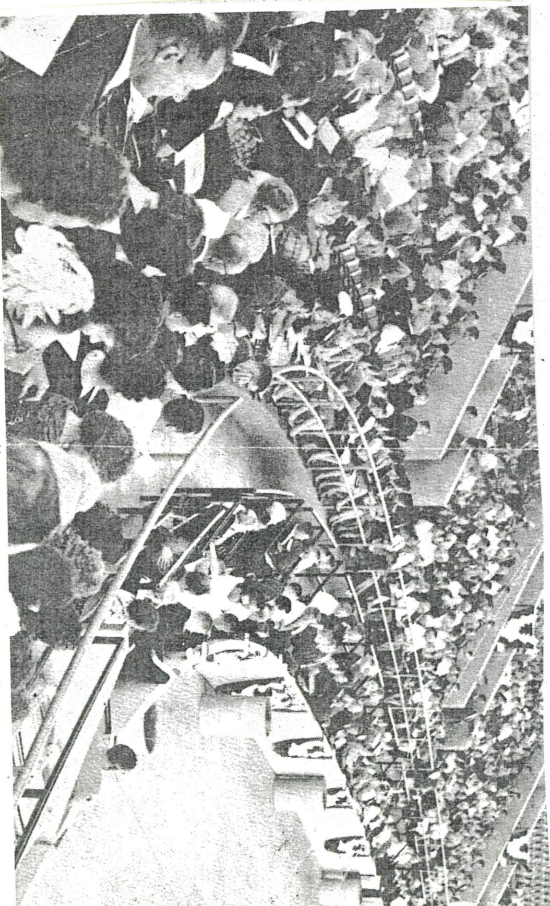

Delegates To Raleigh Meeting Told That Cooperatives Are Evidence Of People's Faith In Themselves, In Their Country

3284

TWO Asheboro men were named temporary state officers of the Flagavilla Highway Association, which seeks establishment of a federal highway from Richmond, Va., to the Florida Gulf coast, at a meeting of the association held Wednesday in Burlington. Cleve Thayer of Asheboro was named temporary chairman and Harry E. Barlow of Asheboro was named temporary secretary.

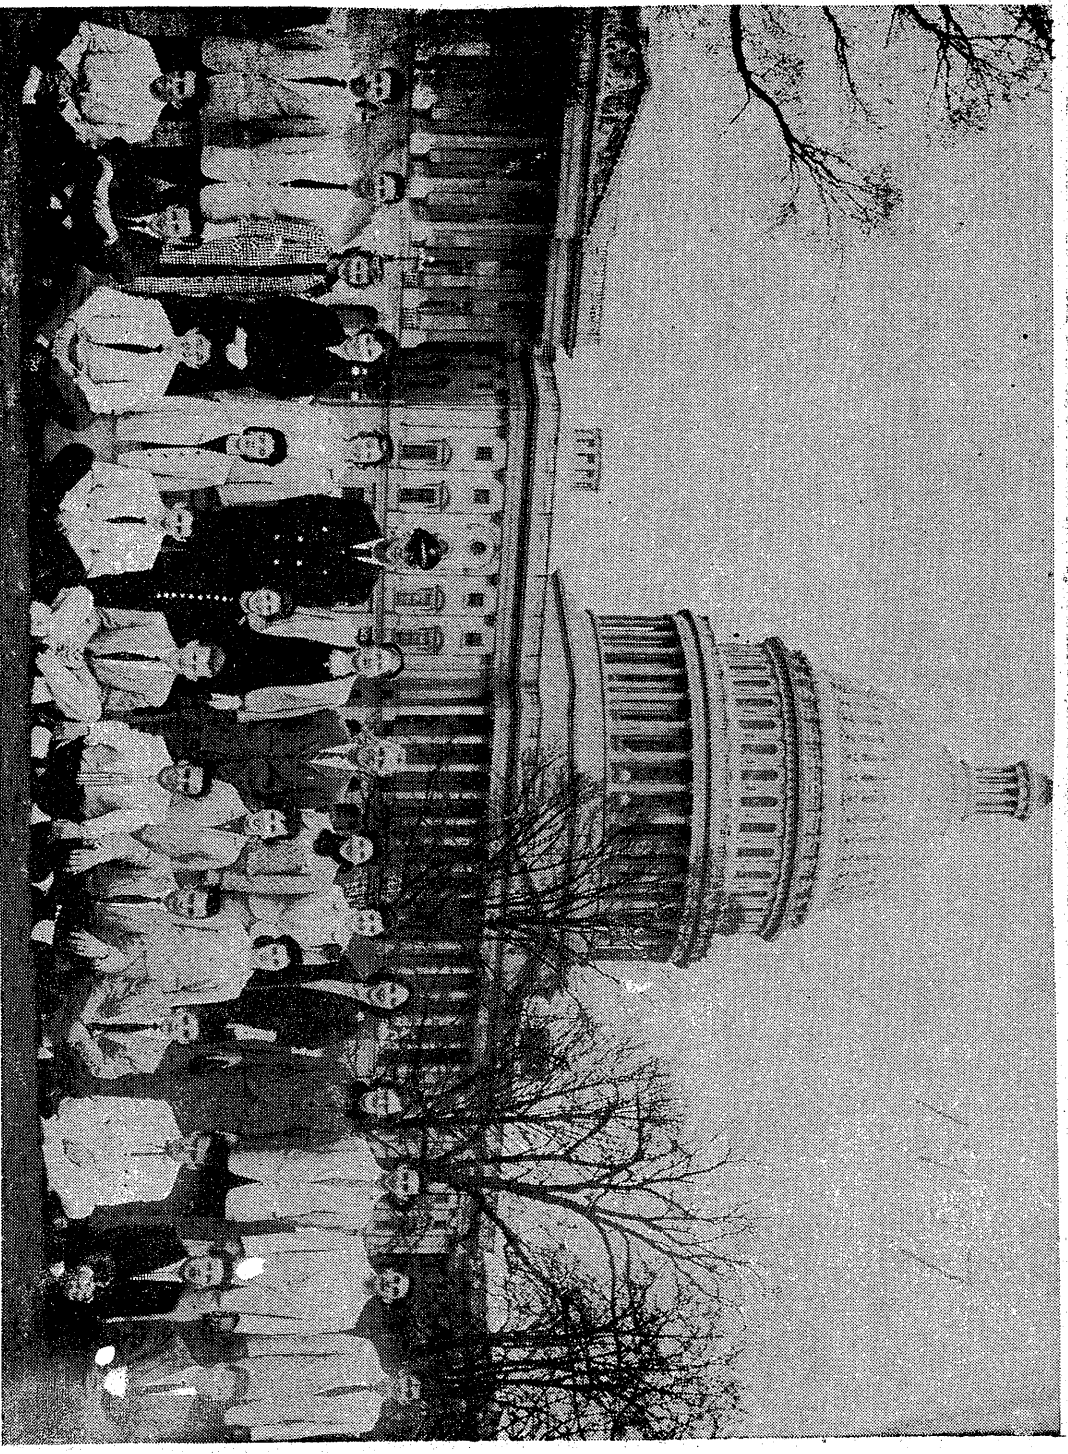

STOP TRAFFIC—All traffic stopped on the streets of Raleigh on September 13 as upwards of 5,000 delegates to the joint annual meeting of FCX and the Cotton Association paraded out of Memorial Auditorium over to Moore Square at the conclusion of the morning sessions. Above, the huge crowd has moved onto Fayetteville Street after leaving the auditorium.

Sept 1949
Thousands of Carolina farmers poured into Raleigh last month for their co-ops' big day — the joint annual meeting of the Cotton Association and the FCX. Truly, a good time was had by all who came.

High Pointers' Brother Dies
In Alabama
 BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — W. W. Spencer died unexpectedly in a local hospital Tuesday. Mrs. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Frances Spencer of the home; two sisters, Mrs. J. L. Gray of High Point, N. C. and Mrs. Winifred Kanoy of Rt. 1, Sophia, N. C.; and two brothers, Clay and Rufus Spencer, both of Rt. 3, High Point. Funeral arrangements are in-

IN WASHINGTON—Randlemann High seniors are seen at the Capitol during their annual class trip to Washington recently. Left to right, seated, are Wade Robbins, Bruce Freeman, Dennis Sisk, Kenneth McCain, Tracy Staley, S. Beeson, Tommy Hollingsworth, Jimmy Lamb, Tommy Rayle, Bobby Short and Lawrence Dennis. Kneeling are Betty McQueen, Julia Alfred, Shirley Ward and Violet

Smith, and standing are John Collier, Jimmy Brady, Joy Brown, Myrna Trogdon, Dotsie Johnson, K. Cromartie, Lib Morgan, Marjorie Lanier, Rose Johnson, Patsy Cox, Tommy Heath, Maurice Petty and John Lassiter. Also making the trip but not shown in the photo were Rudolph Hanner, William Lamb, Rusty Hammond and Bill Gant.

Huge Liqueur Found

A Randolph County Deputy Sheriff who entered the farm home of O. L. Anthony, 74, High Point Route 3, to arrest another person, discovered one of the largest whiskey caches of recent times in Randolph County Friday.

Deputy Sheriff Richard Hughes reports he found a total of 126 gallons of non-tax paid whiskey in a room on the back porch of Anthony's farm.

Deputy Hughes says he went to the home of Anthony with a warrant for the arrest of a "Helen Cox."

He said just on chance he took a warrant with him to search Anthony's house.

At the farm house, he said he was admitted by Anthony and found the "Cox woman asleep on a couch.

Hughes says Anthony asked him if he should wake her up. Reportedly he told the elderly farmer, "... not until I search your house."

Hughes said he read the warrant to Anthony and then right off found a one-fourth pint bottle of whiskey.

He said he found the locked door on the porch and asked Anthony if any whiskey was in the room.

The man reportedly turned over the key to Hughes who found the 21 cases of illegal liquor.

Hughes said the find included 18 cases of one-gallon plastic jugs of liquor and three cases of one-half gallon glass jars full.

Later the same night Hughes along with Deputy Sheriffs Hurley Hicks and Paul Scott arrested Alvin McKinley Cobb, Negro, 49, Trinity Route 1, and charged him with possession after a half-gallon jar of white liquor was found in a space beneath the bath tub.

Other arrests of the sheriff's office over the week end include the following:

Feb - 1968 3 Ora G. Thomas, Pa...

EXAMINES ILLEGAL WHISKEY — Randolph County Deputy Sheriff Richard Hughes examines some of the 126 gallons of white liquor which was found Saturday in a room of the back porch of the home of O. L. Anthony, on High Point, Route 3.

COURIER-TRIBUNE PHOTOGRAPH—Don Wren

Farmer Principal Stays, Says Board Of Education

The Randolph County Board of Education approved a motion Tuesday declaring that it finds no change against the present administration of the Farmer School "sufficient for action to remove the principal."

In a two-paragraph statement released this week, the Board only noted that it was "hopeful that the human relations can improve within the Farmer School District."

Their action followed an explosive summer of public meetings and circulating petitions scoring both the school's principal J. F. Barrier, 13-year-veteran of Farmer High School, and the local school committee headed by Alton Wall, chairman.

The dissident group voiced opposition to policies of both the principal and the committee in a series of appearances before the Board and before both the Board and the local committee together only Friday evening.

A petition demanding the ouster of the "present school administration" drew over 600 signatures.

Educators Tuesday, however, heard only adamant support of Principal Barrier from a group of about 50-60 school patrons led by Farmer School Committee Chairman Alton Wall. Wall himself opened with a lengthy statement in support of the principal, declaring that charges leveled against Barrier were unfounded.

"The Board should make a decision," Wall urged in closing.

He was followed by others, individually, who also voiced support of Barrier.

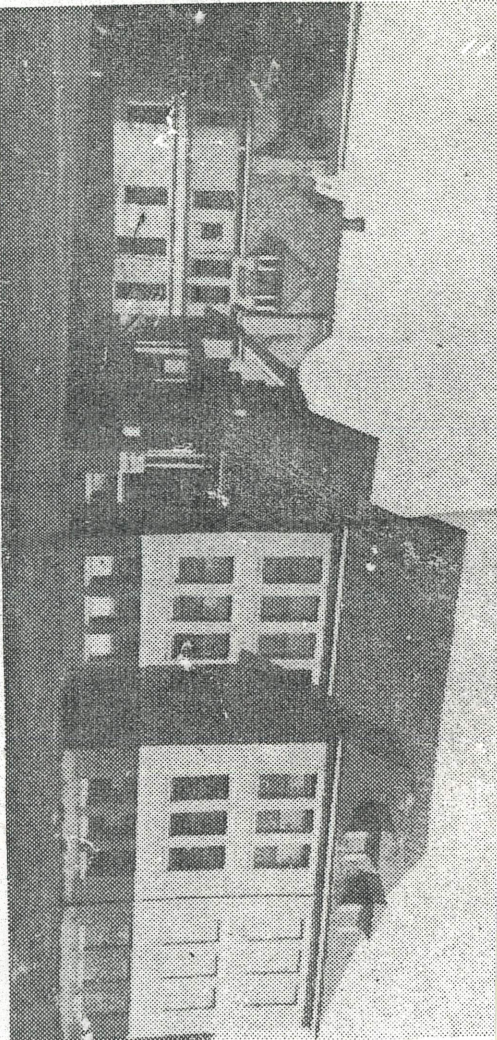

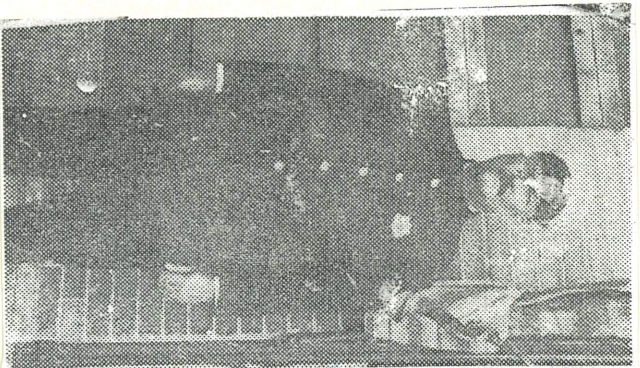

A 1961 Farmer High School graduate, Linda Trobert, said that "without the guidance of Mr. Barrier and his wife, we'd never have been as successful as we have been."

Keith Hammond declared that he had been made "unusable for him (Barrier) and his family" for the past "months. He noted that the "for" side had made few public statements or appearances, requested all supporting the principal to stand. Most of those in the room came to their feet.

"It's surprising that the County Board of Education hasn't lined up one hundred per cent with the local school board," Hammond added.

The elderly Farmer resident called Barrier a "scapegoat for personal grudges."

A mother of two, Mrs. E. W. Seating, said "I find him (Barrier) wonderful." She said

DO YOU KNOW THEM?—These photographs, yellow with age, were sent The Enterprise by Edward Wright of 518 N. Hamilton St. who said he took them many years ago with a small $6 camera. At left is J. O. (Daddy) Wood, perhaps the best known policeman High Point has ever had. Standing 6 feet-7 inches and weighing over 320 pounds, he left the force after 20 years in 1932 and died two years later. Above is the old school, located where the post office now stands. The portion in the foreground faces on Main, that in the background on E. Green. The man in the picture at right is the puzzler. He is identified only as the "Old Umbrella Fixer." Can any reader provide more accurate identifica-

Sophia, Rt. 1 News

Community Building Project Underway

By ALTHEA BROWN

SOPHIA, Route 1—The committee and interested persons of the new community center near New Market, Guilford County, met in the basement at Branson Davis' last Monday night.

It was announced that the well had been dug and paid for and they were given the go-ahead to install the pump.

Specifications for the building have been staked off and pouring of concrete for the footings of the building will begin right away.

Plans for raising money were discussed.

A good attendance was reported and another meeting is scheduled for August 10 at the Davis basement.

It seems lots of folks are interested in this project and are working together well and it will certainly be used a lot by many for many activities that now are held elsewhere. We urge everyone interested to have a part in this worthy project.

School Reunion Sunday

Remember the Old Marlboro School reunion to be held this Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at the Marlboro Church.

There are to be quarters, we think three. A short business meeting and memorials are also scheduled to be a part of the program. If fair outside, lunch will be served on the refreshment tables on the church grounds. Lots attended church here where this reunion will be held for the fifth year. Everyone attending past reunions have seemed to enjoy them. Hope all old interested teachers and students of 1892 to 1935 will attend.

"All Stars" Chosen

The Fony League of New Market has been named the champions of this league. "All Stars" have been chosen from the six teams represented in this league and this "all star" team will play Glennoms at New Market on Thursday, July 23 at 7:30.

We are all behind this fine team which almost won the World's Championship last year. We hope they will go all the way this year. We feel sure they will with the excellent coaching of Farlow Davis and Bobby Lamar.

Shower Given

A going away shower was given for the Glenola Baptist Church pastor and family, the Rev. Cecil Wright, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Durham on Aldridge Street in Archdale last Friday night. The pastor has accepted work in another church in Winston-Salem.

Personals

Mrs. Drucilla Miles is attending music classes at Randolph Industrial Education Center in Asheboro. This course in music appreciation is a new course added to this school. Anyone interested may still enroll by calling the center.

W. A. and Blanche, Cicero and Zelma Peace and Hill of High Point, Route, visited Lewis and Nellie Steed on this route last Sunday. Mrs. Tressie

Pierce of Route 1, Trinity spent last Thursday with Mrs. Blanche Hill. They visited places of interest on this route.

We are sorry to note that Mrs. Annie Farlow Spencer at Flint Hill, has recently suffered a light stroke. She is much improved and is spending some time at the home of her son, Robert Spencer and wife.

Dean and Carol Hoffman and son, Michael, and her mother, Mrs. Dallas (Ethel) Farlow, have returned home from vacation at Atlantic Beach.

Mrs. Dallas (Clarice) McDowell and son of Denton visited her aunt, Mrs. Blanche D. Farlow, last Thursday.

Bill and Eva Mae Ashburn spent a few days last week at Myrtle Beach.

Mrs. Sonny (Marie) Robbins has returned home from High Point Hospital where she underwent surgery. She is much improved.

Sorry to hear that Wade Hill of Washington, D. C. is in very declining health. He was the son of the late Jim and Corinne Smith Hill and was raised on this route.

F. M. Davis, Jr. seems to be doing very nicely since returning home from High Point Hospital after an operation.

Miss Clara Davis is still a patient in High Point Hospital where she has been for treatment for the last three months.

This writer really enjoyed and appreciated a visit last week from two of the Courter-Tribble family. Mrs. Sae Nance.

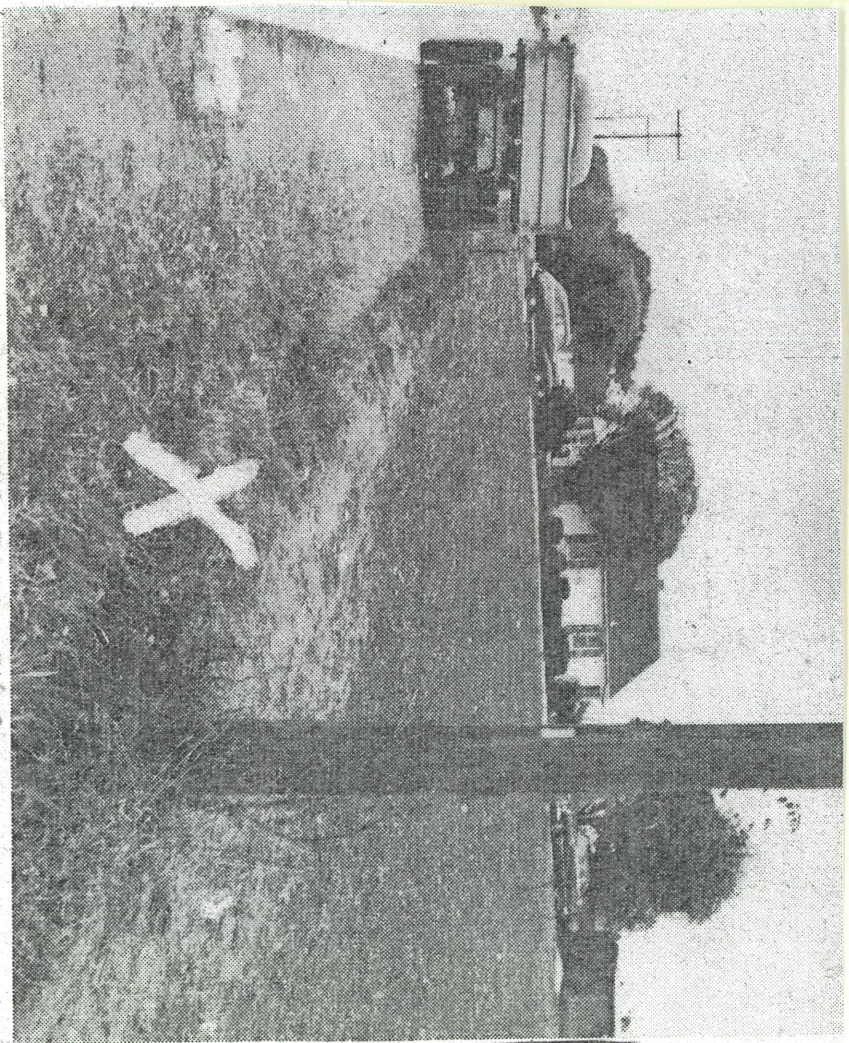

W. A. BIVINS

UNCASUAL COMMENT

W. A. Bivins, Philosopher, Teacher, Minister and Friend

(Editor's Note: Robert Marks, whose desk was opposite that of W. A. Bivins in The Enterprise newsroom, has written the following editorial appreciation of our friend and fellow worker who died early today.)

WHERE BODY WAS FOUND—X marks the spot where the body of Mrs. Cora Alice Wall, believed to have been killed by a hit-run vehicle, was found lying in a shallow ditch by highway 311 in the Brown's Crossroads community. In the background is the home of James Brown, who called county officers when Miss Alice Fleming, a resident of the neighborhood, discovered the body last Monday afternoon. Officers said the body must have lain unnoticed since Sunday night. It killed by a vehicle, as evidence indicated, Mrs. Wall was the seventh person killed in highway accidents in Randolph county in less than three weeks.

604 2-3-1947

Sophia, Route One News

New Market Club

By ALTHEA BROWN

SOPHIA, Rt. 1 — The New Market Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Troy Hall last Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Edith Davis called the meeting to order after which the group sang "Home on the Range." Mrs. Hall had devotion reading Psalm 31 and led the group in prayer.

Giving the leaders reports were Mrs. Fay Cox on family on He; Mrs. Evelyn Cooper on clothing; Mrs. Mozelle Hardin on home management. After the business session a demonstration on cooking meats was given by Mrs. Cata Hardin - a pan-broiled sirloin steak. Mrs. Hardin stressed some points on cooking pork meat thoroughly. An announcement was made about a special interest meeting on cutting meat to be held on October 19th in the Agricultural Building at Ashboro being on October 19th at 9:30 a. m. All club women of the county are urged to attend.

The Club Collect was repeated by Mrs. Clara Hardin - a Harbin stressed some points on cooking pork meat thoroughly. An announcement was made about a special interest meeting on cutting meat to be held on October 19th in the Agricultural Building at Ashboro being on October 19th at 9:30 a. m. All club women of the county are urged to attend.

Homecoming will be held at Flint Hill Congregational Christian Church Sunday, October 16.

Revival services began at the Lake Park Baptist Church on Monday night and will continue through this week the 15th. Rev. Frank Hahn of Burlington is the evangelist. The pastor, Harry Ward made the announcement and there will be special singing each night.

A birthday celebration for Mrs. J. W. (Lizzie) James in honor of her 80th birthday Monday last, October 10th was given at the home of Mrs. Cora Dillon. Her only sister, Mrs. Cora Dillon, her four children and their families were present. There was a large birthday cake with the number 80 written on top and a white candle for each number. She received several nice gifts.

The New Market Civitan Club held its regular meeting with guests, Rev. Homer Fry and Altman Tommy Hunt of U. Air Force. Members of the Civitan C

Club Meets

Homecoming

Revival

Homecoming

Revival

Club Meets

Homecoming

Revival

Homecoming

Revival

Club Meets

Homecoming

Revival

Homecoming

Revival

Club Meets

Homecoming

Revival

Homecoming

Revival

Miss Brenda Robbins Weds J. J. Connor

MRS. JESSE JAMES CONNOR

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Robbins and Jesse James Connor Friday evening. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Connor of Rt. 1, Sophia. Daughter, Brenda Carolyn, John Connor of Rt. 1, Sophia.

The ceremony was held in the home of the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. John Barne of Rt. 1, Sophia. Immediate families of the couple were present.

The bride is a senior at Randleman High School. Mr. Connor attended Randleman High School and is employed by Alma Desk Co.

MARLBORO NEWS

Among the visitors at H. V. Robbins Saturday and Sunday were, Mr. and Mrs. Slack, Mr. and Mrs. L. Adams, Homer Thorton and family. Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Ridge spent Sunday afternoon at Isaac Farlow's of Randleman Route 3.

Mrs. D. W. Bula has returned from Wayne county, where she spent several days visiting. Carl Beeson and family attended Quarterly meeting at Holly Springs Sunday.

Miss Althea Farlow spent Saturday night near Ramour. Hesse Davis visited Mrs. C. A. Bristol, Saturday evening. Sarah Swain's condition remains the same.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Davis, of High Point, visited recently at the home of J. V. Davis.

Marlboro and New Salem boys played ball at New Salem, Saturday. The score was 17 to 23 favoring Marlboro.

Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Pearce spent Sunday at the home of Burrill Snyder.

The people of Marlboro school district, voted in their teachers for the coming school year. Mr. Joe Millikan, principal; Miss Della Tucker, primary department.

Mrs. W. B. Ridge visited Mrs. D. R. Bula Saturday.

Mr. B. J. Whitehead attended the commencement exercises at Sylvia Heights school last Tuesday.

H. F. Coltrane left Tuesday morning for Asheville, where he will work at the carpenter's trade.

J. C. J. N. and Miss Helvie Newlin, and Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Davis attended the singing at Grays Chapel Sunday, conducted by Mr. Hamilton, of Greensboro.

Those from this section attending the home-coming day at Ebenezer church, May 23rd, were W. C. Coltrane and family, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Davis and Mrs. L. E. Beeson.

MRS. RUTH HUMBLE AND A. J. LUCK UNVEDD IN MARRIAGE

Mrs. Ruth Humble and Mr. A. J. Luck were united in marriage April 8 by J. A. Neighbors, J. P., at his home north of Ashboro.

Mrs. Luck is a daughter of the late Elisha Allred of Ashboro. Mr. Luck is a son of the late William Luck, and is a prosperous farmer of the county residing near Archdale.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Luck have many friends in the county, who wish for them a successful voyage on the sea of matrimony.

Mrs. Luck is a daughter of the late Elisha Allred of Ashboro. Mr. Luck is a son of the late William Luck, and is a prosperous farmer of the county residing near Archdale.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Luck have many friends in the county, who wish for them a successful voyage on the sea of matrimony.

Mrs. Luck is a daughter of the late Elisha Allred of Ashboro. Mr. Luck is a son of the late William Luck, and is a prosperous farmer of the county residing near Archdale.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Luck have many friends in the county, who wish for them a successful voyage on the sea of matrimony.

Mrs. Luck is a daughter of the late Elisha Allred of Ashboro. Mr. Luck is a son of the late William Luck, and is a prosperous farmer of the county residing near Archdale.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Luck have many friends in the county, who wish for them a successful voyage on the sea of matrimony.

Mrs. Luck is a daughter of the late Elisha Allred of Ashboro. Mr. Luck is a son of the late William Luck, and is a prosperous farmer of the county residing near Archdale.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Luck have many friends in the county, who wish for them a successful voyage on the sea of matrimony.

Mrs. Luck is a daughter of the late Elisha Allred of Ashboro. Mr. Luck is a son of the late William Luck, and is a prosperous farmer of the county residing near Archdale.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Luck have many friends in the county, who wish for them a successful voyage on the sea of matrimony.

Mrs. Luck is a daughter of the late Elisha Allred of Ashboro. Mr. Luck is a son of the late William Luck, and is a prosperous farmer of the county residing near Archdale.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Luck have many friends in the county, who wish for them a successful voyage on the sea of matrimony.

Mrs. Luck is a daughter of the late Elisha Allred of Ashboro. Mr. Luck is a son of the late William Luck, and is a prosperous farmer of the county residing near Archdale.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Luck have many friends in the county, who wish for them a successful voyage on the sea of matrimony.

Mrs. Luck is a daughter of the late Elisha Allred of Ashboro. Mr. Luck is a son of the late William Luck, and is a prosperous farmer of the county residing near Archdale.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Luck have many friends in the county, who wish for them a successful voyage on the sea of matrimony.

Mrs. Luck is a daughter of the late Elisha Allred of Ashboro. Mr. Luck is a son of the late William Luck, and is a prosperous farmer of the county residing near Archdale.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Luck have many friends in the county, who wish for them a successful voyage on the sea of matrimony.

Mrs. Luck is a daughter of the late Elisha Allred of Ashboro. Mr. Luck is a son of the late William Luck, and is a prosperous farmer of the county residing near Archdale.

EDGAR NEWS

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Davis last week, a son, F. M., Jr. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Spencer, last week a son.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart and two little daughters, Violet and Georgia, of Winston-Salem spent Sunday at N. J. Farlow's.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Walker, Dewey and Jesse Walker, of Greensboro visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Walker last Sunday.

Edna, Clarice, the little infant daughter of Walter Farlow died and was buried at Marlboro last Saturday.

Next Sunday is the appointment at Marlboro of Norman Osborne, of Guilford college.

Yancy Cox and Mr. Chasico, of Ramour, spent a short while in this section last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. And Mrs. Luther Hohn

By ALTHEA BROWN

SOPHIA, Route 1 — A large crowd gathered at Marlboro Friends Meeting house Easter Sunday morning for a service beginning at 5:30. Singing was by the choir and a good message was given by T. Eugene Coffin. The choir led the cemetery regation out to the cemetery for service which concluded as the sun came up. It was a most impressive occasion this beautiful clear morning and not very cold.

The Young Friends Class went to the kitchen, cooked and ate breakfast and had a good time in fellowship before returning home. At the usual Sunday school time a cantata by the adult and youth choirs with Ruth Loflin as narrator was presented. There were over two hundred present for the service.

Flowers were placed in the meeting room in memory of Bevin B. Farlow by his daughter, Mrs. J. E. Murdock and in-terment was made in the family plot in Marlboro cemetery. Peggy Farlow and Eva Mae Ashburn had an Easter egg hunt for their class, the kindergarten children of Marlboro Sunday School. It was held on the meeting house lawn Saturday evening with twelve children present. Each was given a candy bunny and were served Kool Aid and cupcakes.

April Revival Held 1946 H

weekend revival was held at the Mt. Olive Pilgrim Church. It began Thursday evening and closed on Sunday. The pastor, Rev. Garland McDowell, did the preaching. We understand the attendance was very good and the services inspirational.

Primary Egg Hunt

Marie Pugh and Nancy Hunt had an Easter egg hunt last Monday evening for their primary Sunday school class of Marlboro on the meeting house lawn. Quite a number attended. Refreshments were served after the hunt.

Special Meeting Called

All persons interested in the community building near New Market School are asked to take notice that there will be a meeting in the school cafeteria this Friday night at 8:30 following the Civitan Club meeting. Plans will be made then for the building as the land has been bought near the school. We hope a building can soon get underway as it really is needed for the many activities of the community.

Persons

We are so glad to hear that Mrs. Lou Hill Farlow who has been sick for some time is improving some. She can now take a few steps alone. Hope she improves very much. Hope to visit to her own home Tuesday.

Miss Mary Carol Britles who is at the home of her brother, Wallace Britles, near Washington, D. C. and attending school here spent Easter here at the home of her father, Willard Britles, near Greensboro.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Hayes on their 60th wedding anniversary, April 3rd. They were married on Easter Sunday then.

Mrs. Zorzo Loflin had the pleasure of all her five children and their families together Easter Sunday for a carry-in dinner at the home of her daughter and husband, Lester and Louise L. Smith, 4011 South Main St., High Point.

Mrs. Eva Bula is still a patient in High Point Hospital but seems to be improving very nicely. She will be taken home released to a convalescent home on Winston-Salem Road not far from her daughter, Mrs. Marion Dyer, to be cared for a while before returning to her home. She is enjoying very much having her son, Johnny Bula of Phoenix, Arizona visit with her each day for several days. He expects to play golf in the G. G. O. Tournament at Sedgewick this weekend.

Rev. Kermit Farlow left Tuesday night for Parkersburg, West Virginia where he is expected on Wednesday night to start a revival meeting at the Pilgrim Holiness Church there. He will be gone a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd McDowell of Atlanta, Georgia spent Easter among his family. The McDowell family had a get-together with Stanley and Fadine Farlow Saturday evening. They fished in the farm pond, then had a fish fry.

Funeral Service L. Craig Parrish Held Sunday

Funeral services for L. Craig Parrish, 59, of Greensboro, died at 2:30 p.m. from Pugh Funeral Home, Ashboro, by the Rev. Floyd Miller and the Rev. Parker. Burial was made at Randleigh Memorial Park.

Palbearers were members of the Greensboro Fire Department.

Mr. Parrish died early day morning in the Randleigh Memorial Hospital following three days of declining health and was of two weeks.

A native of Randleigh, he was born June 6, 1887, to Farmer a son of the late and Chole Vancannon Parrish.

He was engaged in the business and also did farming before going in service station business, a few years ago. He was known among the fox hounds and was of the Methodist persuasion. He had been a resident of this area for five years.

He is survived by his Beulah Vancannon Parrish, three daughters, Mrs. I. Hays and Mrs. C. E. Hays both of Greensboro and Johnny Hawks of Sophia; sons, Donald and Roger Parrish, both of Sophia, Wayne and Tommy Parrish, both of Randleigh, and Elvin Parrish of Greensboro.

Lawson Parrish of Asheville, three sisters, Mrs. J. R. Hammond of Parkersburg, Mrs. J. B. Parrish of Greensboro and Mrs. Howard Davonno, Winston-Salem; three brothers, John and Fritz Parrish both of Ashboro and Van Parrish of Archdale.

Funeral services for L. Craig Parrish, 59, of Greensboro, died at 2:30 p.m. from Pugh Funeral Home, Ashboro, by the Rev. Floyd Miller and the Rev. Parker. Burial was made at Randleigh Memorial Park.

Palbearers were members of the Greensboro Fire Department.

Mr. Parrish died early day morning in the Randleigh Memorial Hospital following three days of declining health and was of two weeks.

A native of Randleigh, he was born June 6, 1887, to Farmer a son of the late and Chole Vancannon Parrish.

He was engaged in the business and also did farming before going in service station business, a few years ago. He was known among the fox hounds and was of the Methodist persuasion. He had been a resident of this area for five years.

He is survived by his Beulah Vancannon Parrish, three daughters, Mrs. I. Hays and Mrs. C. E. Hays both of Greensboro and Johnny Hawks of Sophia; sons, Donald and Roger Parrish, both of Sophia, Wayne and Tommy Parrish, both of Randleigh, and Elvin Parrish of Greensboro.

Lawson Parrish of Asheville, three sisters, Mrs. J. R. Hammond of Parkersburg, Mrs. J. B. Parrish of Greensboro and Mrs. Howard Davonno, Winston-Salem; three brothers, John and Fritz Parrish both of Ashboro and Van Parrish of Archdale.

Funeral services for L. Craig Parrish, 59, of Greensboro, died at 2:30 p.m. from Pugh Funeral Home, Ashboro, by the Rev. Floyd Miller and the Rev. Parker. Burial was made at Randleigh Memorial Park.

Palbearers were members of the Greensboro Fire Department.

Mr. Parrish died early day morning in the Randleigh Memorial Hospital following three days of declining health and was of two weeks.

A native of Randleigh, he was born June 6, 1887, to Farmer a son of the late and Chole Vancannon Parrish.

He was engaged in the business and also did farming before going in service station business, a few years ago. He was known among the fox hounds and was of the Methodist persuasion. He had been a resident of this area for five years.

He is survived by his Beulah Vancannon Parrish, three daughters, Mrs. I. Hays and Mrs. C. E. Hays both of Greensboro and Johnny Hawks of Sophia; sons, Donald and Roger Parrish, both of Sophia, Wayne and Tommy Parrish, both of Randleigh, and Elvin Parrish of Greensboro.

Lawson Parrish of Asheville, three sisters, Mrs. J. R. Hammond of Parkersburg, Mrs. J. B. Parrish of Greensboro and Mrs. Howard Davonno, Winston-Salem; three brothers, John and Fritz Parrish both of Ashboro and Van Parrish of Archdale.

Funeral services for L. Craig Parrish, 59, of Greensboro, died at 2:30 p.m. from Pugh Funeral Home, Ashboro, by the Rev. Floyd Miller and the Rev. Parker. Burial was made at Randleigh Memorial Park.

Palbearers were members of the Greensboro Fire Department.

Mr. Parrish died early day morning in the Randleigh Memorial Hospital following three days of declining health and was of two weeks.

A native of Randleigh, he was born June 6, 1887, to Farmer a son of the late and Chole Vancannon Parrish.

He was engaged in the business and also did farming before going in service station business, a few years ago. He was known among the fox hounds and was of the Methodist persuasion. He had been a resident of this area for five years.

He is survived by his Beulah Vancannon Parrish, three daughters, Mrs. I. Hays and Mrs. C. E. Hays both of Greensboro and Johnny Hawks of Sophia; sons, Donald and Roger Parrish, both of Sophia, Wayne and Tommy Parrish, both of Randleigh, and Elvin Parrish of Greensboro.

Lawson Parrish of Asheville, three sisters, Mrs. J. R. Hammond of Parkersburg, Mrs. J. B. Parrish of Greensboro and Mrs. Howard Davonno, Winston-Salem; three brothers, John and Fritz Parrish both of Ashboro and Van Parrish of Archdale.

Funeral services for L. Craig Parrish, 59, of Greensboro, died at 2:30 p.m. from Pugh Funeral Home, Ashboro, by the Rev. Floyd Miller and the Rev. Parker. Burial was made at Randleigh Memorial Park.

Palbearers were members of the Greensboro Fire Department.

Mr. Parrish died early day morning in the Randleigh Memorial Hospital following three days of declining health and was of two weeks.

A native of Randleigh, he was born June 6, 1887, to Farmer a son of the late and Chole Vancannon Parrish.

He was engaged in the business and also did farming before going in service station business, a few years ago. He was known among the fox hounds and was of the Methodist persuasion. He had been a resident of this area for five years.

He is survived by his Beulah Vancannon Parrish, three daughters, Mrs. I. Hays and Mrs. C. E. Hays both of Greensboro and Johnny Hawks of Sophia; sons, Donald and Roger Parrish, both of Sophia, Wayne and Tommy Parrish, both of Randleigh, and Elvin Parrish of Greensboro.

Lawson Parrish of Asheville, three sisters, Mrs. J. R. Hammond of Parkersburg, Mrs. J. B. Parrish of Greensboro and Mrs. Howard Davonno, Winston-Salem; three brothers, John and Fritz Parrish both of Ashboro and Van Parrish of Archdale.

Sophia, Rt. 1, News Items

BY MRS. ALTHEA BROWN

Sophia, Rt. 1, Dec. 22.—Thursday night was quite an enjoyable occasion at the Marlboro Friends Meeting parsonage. The pastor, Rev. John Pipkin, and wife, Maybell, were hosts to the Marlboro U.S.F. Women and the Quaker men's organization who met in a joint session. First a beautiful supper was served by the women. A prayer of thanks was given by B. B. Bulla. Business session was held and Rev. Mr. Pipkin conducted the worship service. The theme was "Follow Me Through Service." He gave many good thoughts on the subject. Lillie Wall was program leader and read several questions to ask ourselves as a Christian and after each question, a member read the answer. An auction sale of various articles brought by the members was held with Burling Wall as auctioneer. Proceeds will be used for the U.S.F.W. 30 members were present.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis S. Davis of Randleman route 1, on the occasion of their 35th wedding anniversary, which was celebrated last Sunday afternoon at their home. May they have many more happy years together. Mrs. Davis was formerly Miss Lula Hohn.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Sluder of Sophia, route 1, who celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary. Here's hoping they will have many more happy years together.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Cash who were married on Saturday, December 18. The bride was formerly Cora Edwards of this community. The bridegroom is from Statesville. May they live happily ever after at their home here.

Sympathy is extended to the Victory family in the recent death of Mrs. Nannie Spencer Vickory, 80, of Randleman, Rt. 1. She was well known here. Merry Christmas to every one and a happy New Year.

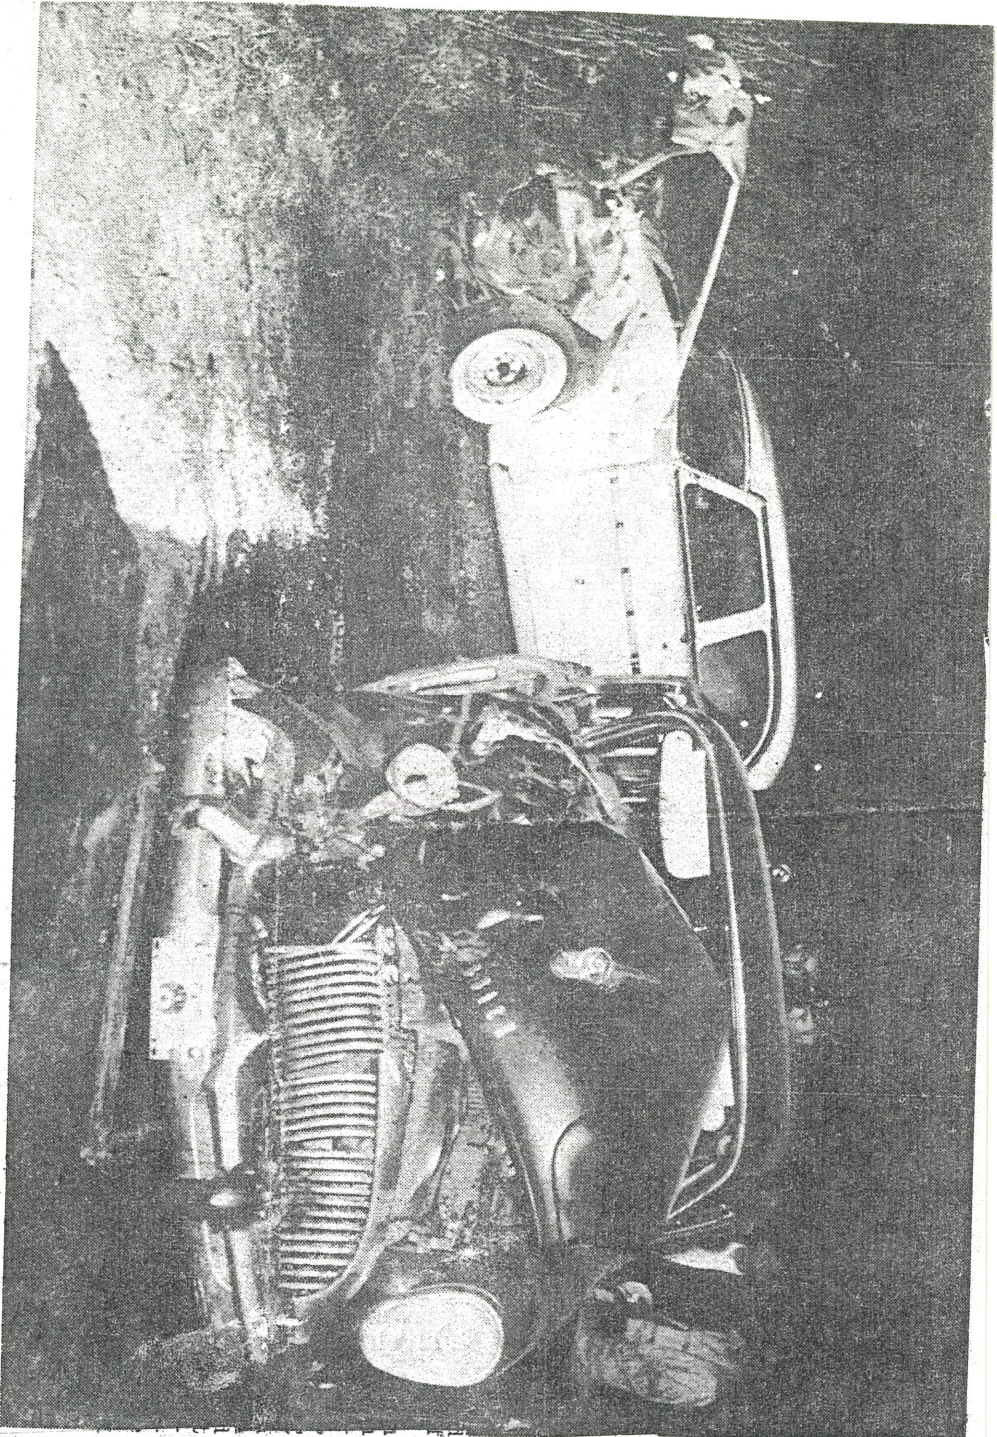

Friends To Hold Quarterly Meet Here Saturday

The Southern Quarterly Meeting of Friends will be held at the Asheboro Friends Meeting here Saturday with sessions beginning both in the morning and afternoon.

Burdorf Frye, pastor of Nahunta and Oakland Friends Meetings in Wayne county, will be the speaker at the worship service held at 11 a. m. Beginning July 1, Mr. Frye will begin his new work with North Carolina Yearly Meeting, as an assistant to the Executive Secretary, working in the field of Young People and Christian Education.

The Ministry and Counsel, a listers, will convene at 10 a. m. with Elford Farlow as Clerk. The business session of the quarterly meeting will be held at 1:30 p.m. with Clyde Hinshaw serving as Clerk.

Friends Meetings making up the quarterly meeting are Asheboro, Back Creek, Beheld, Cedar Square, High Falls, Holly Springs, Hopewell, Marlboro, Poplar Ridge, Prosperity, Randleman, Science Hill and South Plainfield.

John-David Photo

FOUR INJURED HERE—This Saturday night collision on Highway 49 resulted in hospitalization of four persons Mr.

Five Injured In Series Of Highway Accidents

December continued to show signs of being a bloody month for Randolph county, as highway accidents were reported from numerous spots throughout the county during the weekend. The most serious of the accidents reported sent four persons to the hospital after a head-on crash on Highway 49 west, only a few miles from the scene of a three-fatality collision only three days before.

Another accident hospitalized three men, while in several other wrecks only property damages and hurt feelings were involved. A Saturday smash-up on Highway 49 several miles east of former injured four, including a social editor of The Courier-Tribune, Mrs. John P. Davis. Mr. and Mrs. Davis' car, traveling east, collided with a westward vehicle, reports here said, when the two cars apparently met near a hillcrest.

According to reports, the other car—with two sailors stationed at Little Creek, Va., was apparently swinging back toward its side of the highway after hitting another vehicle. Davis, driving the sailors' Ford, attempted to brake down and turn off onto the right shoulder—according to reports—apparently lost control and veered back onto the highway. Both vehicles skidded into each other, the reports said, with both making about the same speed while attempting to halt.

Mrs. Davis sustained severe head injuries, medical authorities here said today, while her husband suffered shoulder injuries and scalp lacerations. X-rays taken later this morning, it was said, revealed that Davis had a broken shoulder.

One of the sailors, Paul Noggle, 21, received a fractured left leg and right arm, undergoing surgery at Randolph Hospital here, while his companion, 19-year-old Charles F. Wunder, suffered superficial contusions and bruises. Investigating Patrolmen could not be contacted today, and it was not known immediately whether or not charges would be filed as the result of the 6:30 p. m. accident.

A complete report on the accident could not be secured from the Patrolmen who investigated. A single car was involved in a crack-up late Thursday afternoon, on Highway 220 several miles north of Randleman, sending its driver, identified as Odel Thomas Stalker, of Route 2, Randleman, to the hospital with chest and back injuries and facial lacerations.

Officers said, Stalker's 1958 Chevrolet, traveling east, apparently went out of control and skidded for some distance, then turning over and coming to a halt upside down about 40 feet off the left side of the highway.

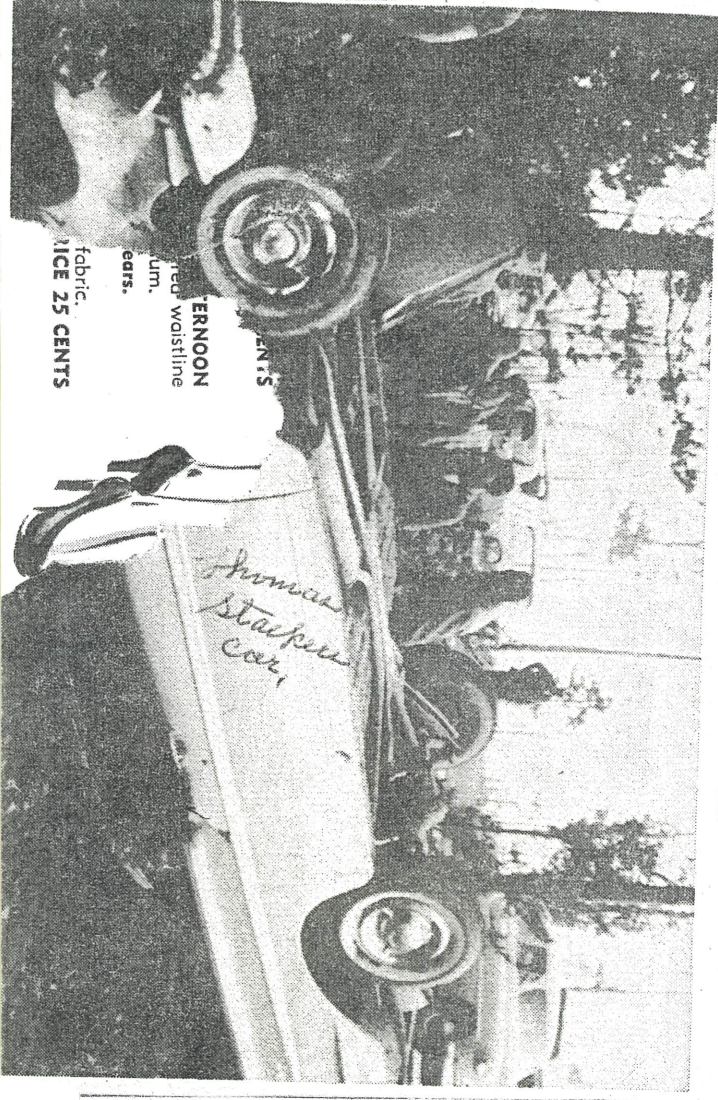

An accident last night, on the Cedar Falls Road just outside Asheboro's city limits, produced charges against both drivers involved.

The accident occurred when a 1956 Chevrolet driven by Lee McQueen of Glovinia Street, Asheboro, started to turn left off the highway and was struck by an oncoming 1958 Plymouth, driven by Mrs. Lucille Harvell Ray, 20, totalling about $400.

McQueen was charged with driving on the wrong side of the road; Mrs. Ray was cited for exceeding safe speeds.

A Route 2, Randleman man, John Milton Routh, was charged with hit and run following an early Sunday morning wreck. Patrolmen said Routh's car came down a fence, a mail box, several shrubs and a mile-sign post in front of a residence several miles west of Asheboro on Highway 49.

The resident, A. M. Dye, spoke here Saturday with sessions beginning both in the morning and afternoon.

John-David Photo

ROBERT COX—Robert M. (Bill) Cox, 55, died at his home, Route 1, Ramsour, this morning. He is survived by eight brothers, Cecil, Pally, Rufus and James Cox, all of Route 1, Ramsour, Arthur and Hubert Cox, both of Ramsour, Walter Cox of Route 2, Ramsour, and Ivan Cox of Route 2, Randleman; and a sister, Mrs. L. P. Williams of Asheboro. Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the Parks Crossroads Christian Church by the Revs. Frank Pierce and George M. Tally. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

ERNOON—The annual fabric store sale will be held at 25 cents.

Happenings In North

RALPH L. BULLA
Telephone 6053

Mrs. Millikan Paid Many Honors On 80th Birthday

A native Randolph resident, Mrs. J. T. Millikan, of Climax, route 1, was honored on the occasion of her 80th birthday Sunday, January 27 at the home of a son, R. C. Millikan, in the North Asheboro community.

Her four children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, a brother, other relatives and friends, numbering 53 in all, gathered in her honor to enjoy a huge birthday dinner which was served buffet style. Mrs. Millikan received many gifts to commemorate the reaching of the age of four score years.

Mrs. Millikan was Mary Vandelia Nixon before her marriage to the late Joe Tom Millikan and she is now living at the old Nixon homestead where she was born 80 years ago. However, she has not lived there her entire lifetime, as she and her husband lived in the Naomi section in Randleman for several years.

She has three sons living, R. C. Millikan, Arza Millikan, of Ashboro, route 1, and Rom Millikan, of Climax, route 1, and one daughter, Mrs. Thomas May, who lives with her mother, also on Climax, route 1. Three sons, N. W. Millikan, D. H. Millikan and J. A. Millikan, are dead. Although her hair is snow white, Mrs. Millikan's stature is erect and she presents an appearance much younger than her eighty years. For the occasion of her birthday celebration, she was dressed in a smartly tailored black suit and was wearing a lovely corsaged red roses.

Mrs. Millikan is a woman of little pretense, has worked all of her life and still does cause she enjoys it. She is active, gets around except well for one of her age and concerned about transportation facilities if she wants anywhere for she likes to travel.

The manner in which Millikan has lived and conducted her life has commanded respect not only of her and daughter but all those who have known her and those who are evidenced by those who pay her honor on her birthday.

Joining with Mrs. Millikan the celebration of her birthday were Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Millikan, and Dean Millikan, of the North Asheboro community, Mr. and Mrs. Arza Millikan and sons, Jerry and Joseph, of Ashboro, route 1, Mr. and Mrs. Rom Millikan and son, Odell, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas May, of Climax, route 1.

Mrs. D. H. Millikan and daughter, Patsy, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Worth Millikan and daughter, Rhonda, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hinshaw and children, Leslie, Kay and Wanda, of Liberty, Route 2. Mrs. N. W. Millikan, Mr. and Mrs. George Tucker and children, Mr. and Mrs. Worth Millikan and daughters, Mrs. Frank Millikan and sons, Joe, Bennie and Charles Ray, Randleman, route 1, and Mr. and Mrs. Raeford Millikan, of Greensboro. Mrs. Millikan's brother, Tyson Nixon, who is in his seventies, and Mrs. Nixon, of Liberty, route 1, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis, of Franklinton, route 1, Mrs. Agnes Boling, of Randleman, route 2, Mrs. Clyde Heath, of Sophia, route 1, Mr. and Mrs. Clegg Garner, of Ashboro, route 3, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rouse, of Liberty, route 1, and Mrs. Min Harvell, of Randleman.

MRS. J. T. MILLIKAN

Funeral Services For Claude P. Barker Held Sunday 3 P. M.

Funeral services for Claude P. Barker, 63, held Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock at the Providence Friends church and interment made in the church cemetery.

Mr. Barker, a farmer of Climax, route 1, died Saturday in the Randolph hospital. He is survived by his wife, and daughter but all those who have known her and those who are evidenced by those who pay her honor on her birthday.

Joining with Mrs. Millikan the celebration of her birthday were Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Millikan, and Dean Millikan, of the North Asheboro community, Mr. and Mrs. Arza Millikan and sons, Jerry and Joseph, of Ashboro, route 1, Mr. and Mrs. Rom Millikan and son, Odell, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas May, of Climax, route 1.

Seeking Aid

Children, Parents Reunited

RALPH L. BULLA

Young children and their parents were reunited last week at their modest home at 2113 street in North Asheboro.

father, 34-year-old Swaney, came home from Woodrow Wilson Rehabilitation Center in Fishersville, Va., 35 years of age, came home a month's stay at the North Carolina Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill, and the father returned home from the absence of their parents.

North Asheboro minister, Paul E. Allred, pastor of neighbors Grove Wesleyan church, has started a fund to aid stricken families, which has been made by the Grove church.

Under conditions are far away on an even level at Swaney residence, Mr. and Swaney are still happy to home and to have with their children, Richard, an, 11, Rosa Louise, 9, and Katherine Dail, 4. Mr. Swaney, a veteran of World War II, was engaged in the construction of the Egleton Street Methodist church in Raleigh on April 4, 1957 when he fell a distance of 40 feet, breaking his back, injuring his spine, and breaking both arms and his left hip. Six days after the accident he was in the hospital, where he stayed in the Rex Hospital in Raleigh for six months before entering the rehabilitation center in October, 1957 where he has been since that time.

Mrs. Swaney, who has worked at Klopman Mills off and on for the past seven years, became ill and entered the Chapel Hill hospital on July 17, where she underwent a most serious operation. She expects to be recuperating from this operation for at least the next three months.

The young father can stay at home for the next two or three months, if necessary, but he will eventually return to the rehabilitation center to become a student at one of the schools operated by the center. Thus far, he has been learning self-care. Mr. Swaney doesn't know yet what type of school he will enter but thinks perhaps that it will be a school in which he can learn drafting.

The accident which nearly cost him his life occurred when a steel truss on which he was working collapsed as the bolts in the center sheared off, causing the ends of the truss to come together and throw him to the ground. He has undergone several operations since the accident.

He now sits and moves around in an electronic wheel chair, driven by a 12 volt battery, and he has the use of both arms, using an artificial limb on the left side. However, his body is paralyzed from the waist down.

Dewey Swaney is a Randolph county boy, born in Back Creek township, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Swaney, who now reside at 664 Peachtree street. Dewey came to Asheboro with his parents when he was about 9 years old and he has lived in and around Asheboro since that time. He has been employed locally with the McGill Taxi Studio and Newton Brothers and Bus Station, John-David Construction Co., also working with the P and P Chair Co., as a very young man.

He was working with a construction company in Virginia at the time of World War II, and it was from that state that he was drafted into the Army where he served for 2 years, 9 months and 18 days. He spent six months overseas in the European theater.

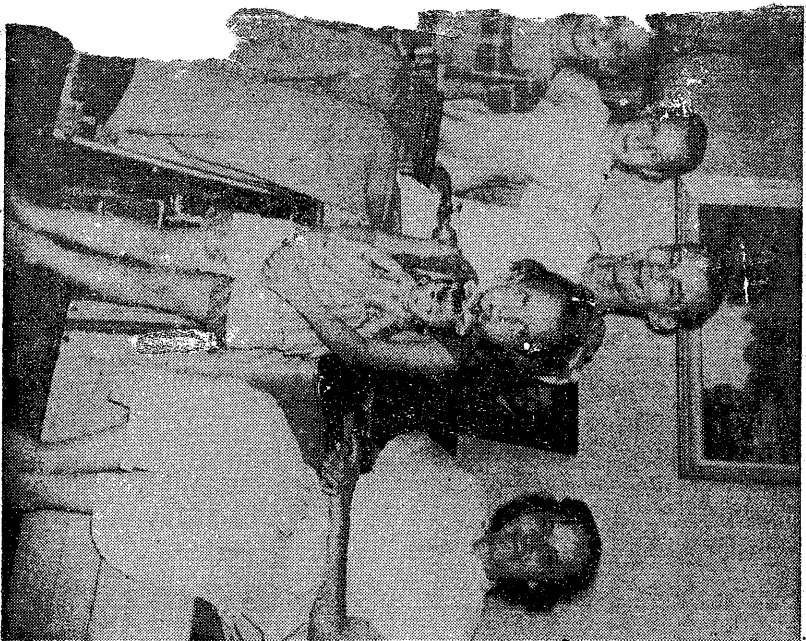

At the time of the accident, he was working with George E. Newton, steel erectors.

Mrs. Swaney and the children have been living in the North Asheboro community for slightly more than a year, during which time Mr. Swaney has spent most of the time in the hospital and rehabilitation center. The Swaneys are paying for the home in which they live and Mrs. Swaney and the children have been attending the Neighbors Grove church where they are held in high regard by the members of the church congregation.

Mr. and Mrs. Swaney are pleasant and composed, despite the circumstances which have beset them, and the children are handsome, well behaved and alert.

In connection with the fund raising project to assist the Swaneys, the Rev. Mr. Allred has issued the following statement: "I wish to take this opportunity of appealing to the citizens of Asheboro and vicinity for some financial assistance for the Dewey Swaneys. Mrs. Swaney's doctor states that she cannot return to work for at least three months and then it will depend on her physical condition as to whether she can or not. Mr. Swaney is scheduled to return to the school for the handicapped to learn a trade which he hopes will enable him to earn a small livelihood for the family. However, it will take a few years to complete the course. The four children need help now. If we can assist them for a while, the parents hope to assume the responsibility later. These are worthy people. No appeal heretofore has been necessary for them. But they are in need now because tragedy has come."

Anyone desiring to contribute to the Swaney fund may contact Rev. Paul E. Allred, 300 Virginia Ave. Phone No. 3426.

DEWEY SWANEY ON RETURN HOME

Mrs. L. C. Phillips Died Sunday In Asheboro Home

Mrs. Louise Fuller Phillips, 84, one of Asheboro's oldest and best loved citizens, and a member of a prominent Randolph county family, died at her home at 206 Worth street early Sunday morning after a critical illness of three months.

Mrs. Phillips, widow of L. C. Phillips of Asheboro, was a daughter of the late I. J. and Miranda Fuller of Fullers. She was educated in the old Thomasville Academy.

She was a member of the First Methodist church, taking an active part in the Woman's Society of Christian Service and other church activities. Mrs. Phillips was an active member of the American Legion Auxiliary, the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the Randolph Chapter of American War Mothers, having served as state chaplain of the latter organization.

Funeral services were held this afternoon, Monday, at 3 o'clock at the First Methodist church with the pastor, Rev. Harlan L. Creach, Jr., in charge of the services. The choir sang two numbers, "My Faith Looks Up To Thee" and "Miss Dorcie Waters, organist, played two selections, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "Goin' Home." Interment was made in the Asheboro cemetery.

The pallbearers were Dr. R. P. Sykes, Burkhead Walker, Frank McCrary, Charles McCrary, Joseph Ross, Jr., W. C.

MRS. L. C. PHILLIPS

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. W. S. Davis of High Point, route 3; Mrs. J. Wade Hendricks, of Statesville; Mrs. W. McGinnis, of High Point; ten grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. E. T. Kearns of Thomasville.

Couple To Mark 60th Year Of Their Marriage

By ROBERT MARKS
Enterprise Staff Writer

On an autumn day in the year 1904, Bessie Fitz saw Allen Frank Jones for the first time.

She was a girl of 16, on the edge of 17. He was a man of 27, striding down the dusty street of Chase City, Va., and into the house of the neighbor across the street.

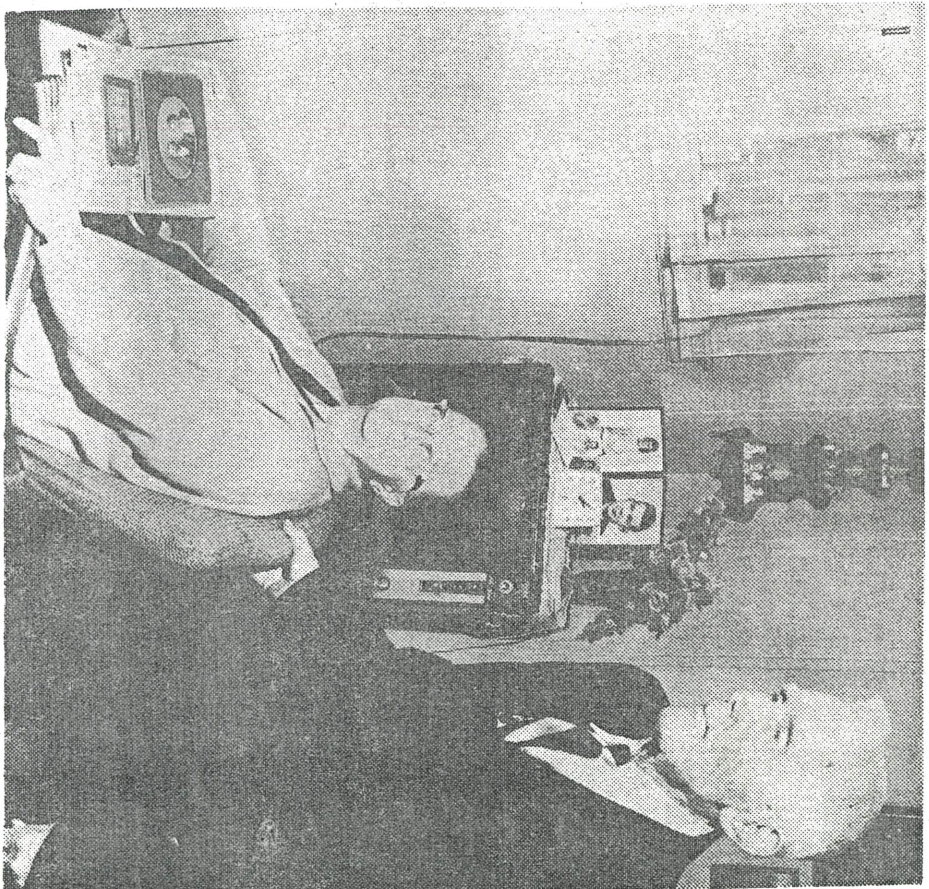

Bessie Fitz was to learn more about Allen Frank Jones. He was a furniture worker from North Carolina who came to Chase City to work in the local cabinet shop. They fell in love. With the approach of spring, they eloped, riding the train south from Chase City across the Virginia countryside into North Carolina. They got off the train at Stovall, in Granville County, and there, on March 4, 1905, Bessie Fitz and Allen Frank Jones were married.

Last week, they marked their 60th anniversary as husband and wife. Thursday passed as any other day in their farm home in Randolph County, about four miles south of Archdale. The big celebration of their 60th anniversary comes today at 2:33 p.m. and 4 p.m. today. He probably would not admit it, but Allen Frank Jones likely will enjoy the day with pleasure and with some pride. Both he and his wife are in good health. They still pretty much take care of themselves in their own home. One of the boys still lives with them and helps tend the farm. And all their children are still living and have turned out well themselves.

Today will be the first time in 25 years or more the entire family will have been together again.

Furniture Worker
Following their marriage at Stovall, Allen Frank Jones and his young bride came to High Point. He himself was a Davidson County boy who had been reared in High Point and gone to work in the furniture factories about the town. For more than 25 years, he worked at furniture plants in High Point, first at the old Giant Furniture Co., then at Continental Furniture Co., where he was a foreman.

He did not want to be a furniture worker all his life, however. He wanted to farm. So he worked in the plants and saved what money he could. He bought and sold two farms before he settled on his present home place. He built the two-story frame house which he still lives and took family to the country.

MR. AND MRS. ALLEN FRANK JONES ON THEIR 60TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY (Staff Photo by Elmer Horton)

on television. "That is some show," he says with a laugh. The only time Mrs. Jones has been in the hospital was in recent years for a gall bladder operation. She continues to do the housework and cooking for her husband. In rearing their children, Allen Frank Jones and Bessie Fitz Jones imbued in them a respect for their parents, their church, and the value of work. For years, Jones and his wife attended Green Street Baptist Church. Now, since he no longer drives, he attends Glenola Baptist Church near his home.

"I go to church every Sunday, if I can," he declares. The children have not forgotten what their parents taught. They talk now of how they knew to respect their father and mother and to do what they were told. They did their share of the chores on the farm. They are active in their churches.

Although the children are honoring their parents today, the occasion of the 60th wedding anniversary last Thursday did not go by completely unnoticed. From Gov Dan K. Moore came a letter.

"I have been called to my attention that you will celebrate your sixtieth wedding anniversary on March 4," Gov. Moore wrote. "This occasion is indeed an outstanding milestone in your lives together, and I extend to you my sincere congratulations for this happy event."

ON EASTER, 1937, MR. AND MRS. ALLEN FRANK JONES POSE WITH THEIR 15 CHILDREN: (L-R) GARLAND, RUTH, ROBERT, EVA, DAVID, JOHN, CHARLES, HATTIE, JAMES, JOE, WILLIAM, WALTER, THA, ALESE, WALTER, AND JEWEL

It was a growing family, nine boys and six girls. Now grown, all the children except two live in the High Point area. They are Garland Hunter Jones Sr., Mrs. R. L. Farlow, Robert Franklin Jones, Mrs. J. L. Coltrane, David Edwin Jones, John Paul Jones, Charles Allen Jones, Mrs. H. H. Biles, James Wilson Jones, Joe Hilliard Jones, William Reid Jones, Mrs. C. G. Sechrist, Mrs. Willis C. Harris, Walter Lee Jones, and Mrs. D. E. Farlow.

James Wilson Jones lives in Washington, D. C., and Joe Hilliard Jones in Orlando, Fla. They both will be present for the family gathering today.

Teaching
One of the things Allen Frank Jones and Bessie Fitz Jones taught their children was to be independent and self-reliant. Mrs. Jones gave birth to all her children at home, she was assisted at the births by Dr. J. D. Bulla of Randolph County and then by the late Dr. C. S. Greyson of High Point.

Allen Frank Jones has never had a serious illness. Even today he refuses to see a doctor. He admits only to slight dizzy spells. He wears glasses only to read; his hearing is good, his mind alert, his wit sharp. He is peevish at the State of North Carolina for refusing to renew his driver's license on his 88th birthday this past Jan. 6. He still drives a tractor to do plowing on his farm. And he enjoys watching wrestling matches

Randolph County Native Is 88-56 Taken By Death
A telegram was received Saturday by Ernest L. Clark, Highland street, informing him of the death of his cousin, Dr. Arch Dougan, a Randolph county native living in Garmen, Okla. The burial took place in Garmen on the same day the telegram was received here.

Dr. Dougan was the son of the late Mac and Margaret Bulla Lougan, of the Charlotte church area of Back Creek township. A nephew of Dr. J. D. Bulla, 93 year old Trinity, route 1, resident, a grandson of the late Dr. Arch Bulla and a nephew of the late Dr. A. M. Bulla, of Asheboro, route 2.

He is a cousin of Dr. A. C. Bulla, a former resident of this county and now Wake county health officer and he has a son, Dr. Mike Dougan, living in Oklahoma.

Dr. Dougan was a brother of the late Harvey Dougan, well known resident of Asheboro, route 2, and he has four nephews, Joe Tom, Wade and Glenn Dougan, and a niece, Mrs. Essie Routh, living in that area at this time.

Mr. Clark formerly resided in the home of Dr. Dougan in Garmen, Okla. Dr. Dougan visited for the last time in Randolph county in 1915. Besides his son, Dr. Mike Dougan, he is survived by another son, Tom, and a daughter, Eliza.

Grange Master Speaks At New Market
Sophia, March 5.—The problems of the farmer were subjects covered in a talk before the New Market Grange Thursday night, as state Grange Master Harry B. Caldwell was the group's guest speaker.

In his talk, as he noted the problems and the worries the farmer now has and will face in coming years, Caldwell cited the important role the local Granges will play in the finding of solutions.

Mr. Pipkin, pastor of the Marlboro Friends Meeting, was a visitor of the Grange during the meeting and expressed the thanks of his flock for the Grange's selection of the church as "Rural Church of the Year." Reports were given by various committee chairmen during a business session headed by Worthy Master R. E. Johnson. Mrs. Jean Swiggert directed the recreation program, for the about 75 members attending while Mrs. Fred McCain and Mr. Will Coltrane served as

Sophia Couple Quietly Observe Their Fiftieth Anniversary

In contrast to their wedding of 50 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Whitehead quietly observed their golden wedding anniversary on Wednesday, August 12, at their home on Route 1, Sophia. According to Mrs. Whitehead, their anniversary date was "just like any other day."

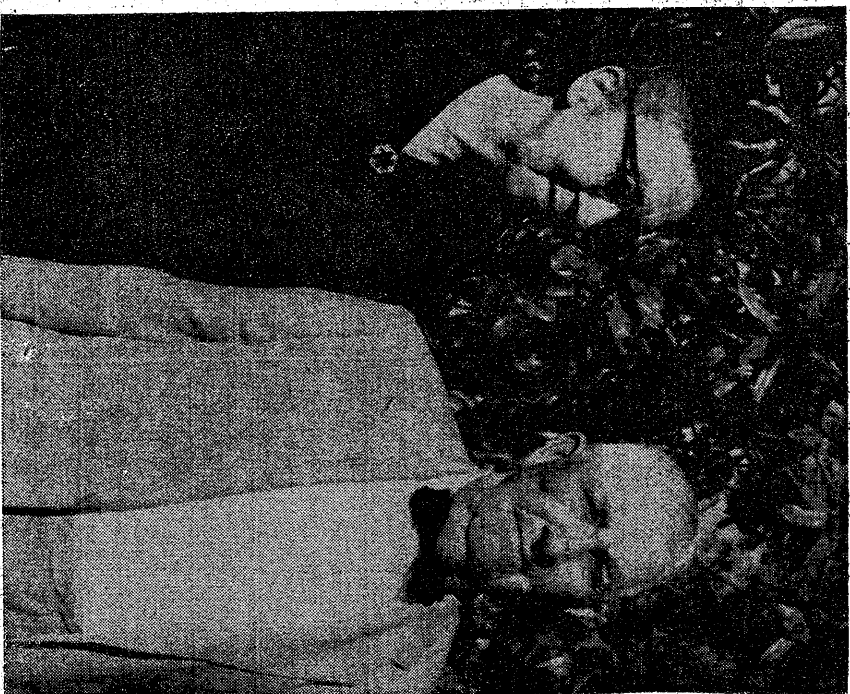

But the day of their marriage, Wednesday, August 12, 1909, was very much like any other day. They were married at the bride's home, with 75 guests present in response to printed invitations which they had received. Also, all of the guests were invited to remain following the marriage ceremony for a wedding feast which featured fried chicken and 13 different kinds of cake.

The hospitality which began on the day of their wedding the 45 years of residence of Mr. and Mrs. Whitehead in the community in which they now live. They are noted for their fine hospitality and the large number of friends with which they are surrounded. They like people and they enjoy having company. There is always somebody visiting at the Ban-ner Whiteheads.

In this connection, this hospitable couple formerly invited a large number of older people to their home at Thanksgiving and a similar group of young people at Christmas. This practice was discontinued when they became less active but they still invite people to their home on Thursday nights for oysters during the oyster season.

Mr. Whitehead, who is 84 years of age, is a native of Alabama county. He was born between Liberty and Snow Camp and was living there at the time of his marriage. He attended one-room log school and did not go much because, as Mr. Whitehead expressed it, "I had no work." He worked on a farm while he was growing up and after the death of his parents, Newton and Elizabeth Whitehead, he worked mainly on the farm of T. C. Dixon in that area.

Mrs. Whitehead is the former Jessie Ruth Davis, youngest child of David Stanton and Elizabeth Spencer Davis. She is 74 years of age and was born in the Cedar Square community, north of the residence at which she and Mr. Whitehead are now residing. Her father owned 600 acres of land and at the time of her birth this ownership included the land on which she was born and the land on which she is now living. When Mrs. Whitehead was a young woman, her family moved from the Cedar Square community to the present Whitehead residence and it was there that the elaborate wedding took place on August 12, 1909.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Whitehead with a white shirt waist, while the bridegroom wore a black double breasted suit. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Walter Davis, while the bridegroom had as his best man, D. Edgar Highfill, now of Ram-seur. E. J. Coltrane, formerly a professor at Brevard College, and Miss Kate Phillips were also attendants to the bridal couple.

Following the wedding meal of fried chicken, 13 kinds of cake and other food articles, the couple left in a rubber-tired buggy drawn by two horses. This means of transportation, according to the bride of 50 years ago, was "the same as a Cadillac in those days." They went straight from the bride's home to the place where Mr. Whitehead had been living in Alabama county and soon thereafter built a new home in that vicinity. However, they did not live there but five years and upon the death of Mrs. Whitehead's father, in 1914, they came back to the Route 1, Sophia, residence where they have been living ever since.

Their courtship and marriage had resulted in a meeting which accompanied one of the Marlboro teachers to her home in the community where Mr. Whitehead was living. It was at that time that the bride of 50 years ago, whose hair has not yet turned white, jokingly said that she "met thatascal." During the days of courtship, Mr. Whitehead came over to Randolph county about every six weeks, a distance which only took him five or six hours since he had a good stepping horse. The worst thing about the courtship and marriage, according to Mr. Whitehead, was having to ask Mrs. Whitehead's father for her hand in marriage.

At the death of Mrs. Whitehead's father, Mr. Whitehead took over the active management of the farm and continued in this manner until he retired from the active tilling of the soil. The year huge farm has now been reduced to 141 acres, which the Whiteheads rent out to the dairy farmers who live in the vicinity. However, Mr. Whitehead still trades around on a small scale, having always had a facility for this sort of thing. Mrs. Whitehead was asked about her husband's trading instincts and she replied that "he is a bad trader," not indicating whether he made bad trades or was bad to trade. Mr. Whitehead's own version was that he believed in "a quick trade and a small profit."

The Whiteheads are now taking things easy, spending a lot of time in the shade of the big maple trees in their back yard. This is particularly true of Mr. Whitehead and he says that Mrs. Whitehead works too hard, especially pointing out that she gets him up too early in the mornings.

Although Mrs. Whitehead still works, taking care of her cow, her chickens, her big dog, Shine, and her cats, she still didn't feel up to having a big celebration on the 50th wedding anniversary, as many of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Whitehead had requested. But, considering the size of their acquaintance, the 75 guests of 50 years ago would probably have had to be multiplied several times to be taken care of their friends at a golden wedding observance. Also, according to present customs, the refreshments at a golden wedding anniversary celebration for the Whiteheads would not have been as substantial as the fried chicken, the cakes and the other eatables at their wedding meal of 50 years ago.

But, even if there was not a formal observance of their 50th wedding anniversary, the friends, the acquaintances and the relatives still come by to visit with Banner and Jessie Whitehead. The hospitable doors of their home remains open. A vast throng of people felicitate this widely known couple on their 50 happy years together and wish for them continued good health and happiness and express the desire that they will be a part of the community for many years.

Confederate Widow Actively And Pleasurably Living

By LUCY D. BURGESS

A sweet little Southern lady has lived for many years in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Penn Stout on the Ramsour-Coleridge road. She is Mrs. Stout's mother, a Confederate War widow, wife of a Civil War soldier, a fact which places her apart in a special class all her own. Although Mrs. Emma Dora Stokes is advancing towards her eighty-seventh birthday, there is nothing senile or stagnant about her.

This writer found her broom in hand, sweeping the yard walks of the attractive Stout residence, where she had earlier been prowling about among the flowers and shrubbery.

"I planted those," she nodded towards the fountain which was encircled with a mass of blooming peonias. "I also planted these China berry trees,"

Former Trinity Resident Dies In Car Wreck

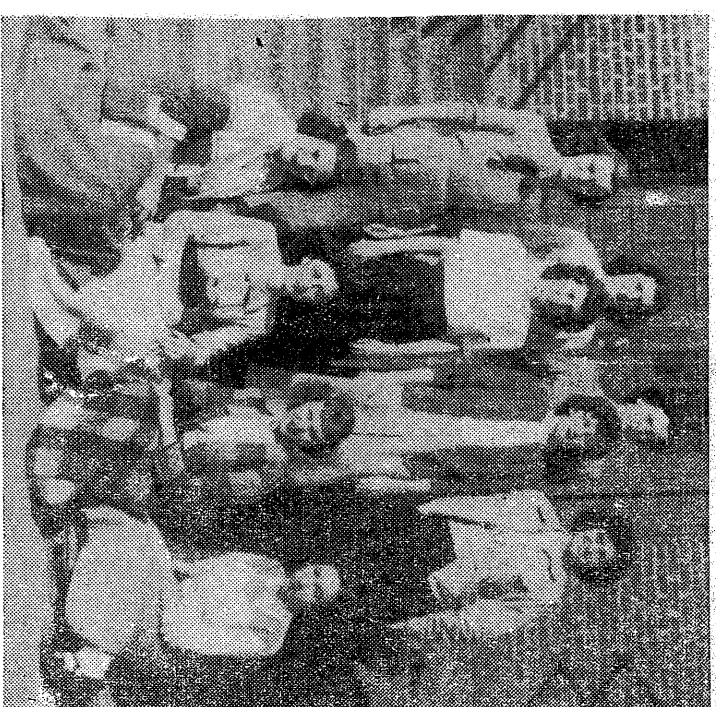

TRINITY, July 29 — The Stokes indicated a lofty spirit, men on the back lot, just and resplendent with me daughter of a Trinity, Route 1, white spikes, "and tell me couple, Mrs. Doris Rush Parrish, name of it if you can." was reported killed in a car In the cool, late evening wreck about noon Friday in clustered in lawn chairs Columbia, S. C.

Her husband, Fred Parrish, side of Silver City in Chatham was also reported to have been country. Silver City then The Parrishes and their two mighty high nothing—no sons, Ray and Larry, lived at phical, no doctors, no church, Camden, S. C. merely a few scattered.

Other survivors include Mrs. Parrish's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Usually, when our family traveled, Jeff Rush of Route 1, Trinity, miles down the road, five sisters, Mrs. J. E. Burgess, Howard's, whose general, Mrs. Wilma Kinley, Mrs. Charitable business was Iles Wall and Mrs. Lewis Wood, in the lonely country all of Route 1, Trinity and Mrs. store was filled with just Allen Bowman of Route 1, Sophia, four brothers Clarence "Funny, thought! At Rush, Lester Rush and Odell Rush, all of had gone a few miles Route 1, Trinity. Funeral at Chatham we came into arrangements are incomplete, by Dolph County, then back, the body will arrive at Pugh Chatham, then into funeral Home sometime today. County where Sol's store located. These trips, Orienter, real excitement to a small girl; one could buy pink candy pigs for a penny and a little marsh-mallow chocolate-covered man which might have concealed a prize penny in his brown little stomach.

COURIER-TRIBUNE—Center of the State—ASHEBORO

RANDIEMAN F. H. A. LEADERS—Officers and program committee members of the Randieman F. H. A. during the past year appear above. They are, left to right: front row—Peggy Davis, treasurer; Elizabeth Wiles, president; Audrey Pugh, secretary; and Mary Johnson, vice president; second row—Peggy Martindale, Margaret Brown, Helen Gresson, and Ida Lee Wiles; third row—Dolly Yow, program committee, and Mrs. G. C. Smith, Jr., adviser.

Nation's Weather Is On Another Climatic Binge

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's weather was on a climatic binge today. Most of nature's elements appeared on the loose, fashioning a crazy-quilt of contrasts across the country.

The late January weather picture was bitter cold and mountainous snow over the northern plains.

Cotton was blooming in Orangeburg County, S. C., five months ahead of schedule. At East Point, Ga., an Atlanta suburb, a quince tree was in bloom.

A new storm struck the Pacific northwest and the coldest weather in 60 years hit eastern Washington. In Virginia, and the Carolinas, trees were budding and flowers were blooming as January heat records toppled in many communities. The mercury climbed to 78 at Richmond and 73.3 at Norfolk yesterday, all-time top marks for the date. Some Carolina Points were even warmer. Columbia, S. C., had an 81, New Bern N. C., an 80.

Rain pelted wide areas. Freezing rain splashed many sections and travel skidded to a crawl.

LOYD B. PIERCE

Lloyd B. Pierce, 24, of Rt. 1, Trinity, died Tuesday evening at 7:15 o'clock in a local hospital. Injuries sustained in an automobile accident last Friday night.

Survivors are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Pierce of Rt. 1, Trinity; five sisters, Ruby of Raleigh, Nora Lee, Inez and Peggy Pierce, all of the home, and Mrs. Jewell Johnson of Archdale.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at Mt. Pleasant Methodist church. Burial will be in the church cemetery. The body was to be removed from Farlow's funeral home in Asheboro to the residence this afternoon.

EUGENE DAVIS

Eugene Davis, 68, died at 3:50 o'clock this morning in a local hospital. He had been in declining health for several months. He had lived in Archdale for several years and was employed by Snow Lumber company. He was a member of Archdale Methodist church.

Mr. Davis is survived by his widow, Mrs. Jennie Tunt Davis, one sister, Miss Corrie Davis of Rt. 3, High Point, and several nieces and nephews. Funeral services will be held Thursday at 4 p. m. in Marlboro Friends Meeting house. The body will remain at Farlow's funeral home in Asheboro until 10 p. m. Thursday when it will be taken to the meeting house. Interment will follow in the church cemetery. The following employees of Snow Lumber company will serve as pallbearers: H. W. Wagner, Norman Elder, Tom Pugh, Billy Teague, Carl Fields and Perry Briles.

MRS. BESSIE T. NANCE

Mrs. Bessie Teague Nance, 69, widow of L. C. Nance, died at her home, Rt. 5, High Point, Tuesday night at 9 o'clock after an illness of eleven months. Survivors are four daughters, Mrs. E. B. Russell of the home, Mrs. Otis Yow of Rt. 1, Sedgrove, Mrs. R. C. Clodfelter of Rt. 4, High Point, and Mrs. D. L. Webster of Galax, Va.; three sons, Carl of Rt. 4, Asheboro, Milton of Rt. 3, Asheboro, and Arnold Name of Hazleton, Penn.; two step-sons, Roy Nance of Asheboro and Coy Nance of Kernersville; 29 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Ross Hill of High Point; and two brothers, Jimmie Teague of York, Va., and Elvin Teague of Mt. Airy, N. C.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Pilot View Baptist church. Burial will be in the Liberty Baptist Church cemetery, south of Thomasville. The body was removed from Farlow's funeral home in Asheboro to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Thomasville, where it will lie in state this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Sophia

Rt. 1 News

Sophia, Rt. 1, Aug. 30.—A large group attended quarterly meeting at Marlboro Friends church August 27 and 28. There were 14 ministers present on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Colbert and family of High Point visited Mrs. Colbert's sister, Mrs. Ethel Jones and children, recently. Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Woods and family, Misses Winnie and Lex-

Mrs. Winslow Is Called By Death Tuesday Morning

Mrs. Mary Jane Barbee Winslow, 62, widow of Claude Winslow of Asheboro, died in a Winston-Salem hospital at 11 a. m. Tuesday after an illness of a few weeks.

Survivors include six daughters, Mrs. Clifford Cashatt, Mrs. George McDowell and Miss Pauline Winslow, all of Asheboro, Mrs. Joe Shelton of route 1, Sophia, Mrs. J. E. Stewart of High Point, and Mrs. J. H. Hooker of Decatur, Ga.; four sons, S. C., Nathan, Clifford, Worth Winslow, all of Asheboro, one sister, Mrs. Robert Tucker of Stantley county; four brothers, Charles, Tibus, Joe and Clifford Barbee, all of Stantley county, and fourteen grandchildren.

Funeral service was held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Science Hill Friends church and burial was in the church cemetery. The body was taken to the church one hour prior to the funeral.

Mrs. Thomas Von Snyder

Mrs. Thomas Von Snyder, bride of February 14, is the former Miss Helen Bundy, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Bundy of this city. The vows were spoken at Springfield Friends church and the couple will reside at 119 West Willis street.

Sophia Rt. 1 News

Sophia, Rt. 1, Feb. 1.—The funeral of Mrs. Eliza Coltrane Edwards, age 67, who died suddenly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George R. Woods, Thursday afternoon was held at Marlboro Friends church last Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. York Teague, and Rev. B. B. Bulla. The church choir sang several selections, accompanied by the piano by Miss Nancy Ridge. Pallbearers were as follows: Jerome, Joel, Wilfred and Cohen Davis; C. A. Farlow and Allen Garner. The flowers were carried by cousins and neighbors under the direction of Mrs. Robert Bulla. Burial was made in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Elmer Beeson still remains sick.

Mrs. Onelda Farlow and Mrs. Gladys Davis spent one day recently in Asheboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Prince of High Point spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. John Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hawkins and children spent the weekend with relatives in South Carolina.

Mrs. Frank M. Davis spent one day last week visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jim Davis.

wedding at Marlboro Friends church Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Brown visited Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Charrel in High Point recently and Mr. and Mrs. Levi Johnson and daughter, Miss Zettie, of near Thomasville.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Woods attended the FCX rally held in Asheboro recently.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Brown spent Sunday in High Point visiting Sherbert Miles. A birthday dinner was given for Mrs. Brown and Mr. Miles whose birthdays occur on the same date.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Daniels of Statesville spent the weekend with their parents. Several people from here attended the Loflin and Pearman

News Events Of Sophia, Route 1, The Past Week

1949
Aug. 30.—Mr. and Mrs. Jim Davis and daughters, Peggy and Dotty, M and

Mr. Frank M. Davis, Sr., recently spent their vacation at Manteo and attended the performance of "The Lost Colony."

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Farlow and son, James, and his wife and little son, Tony, and daughter, Mrs. James Hines and Mr. Hines of Bahama, visited relatives here last weekend and attended the quarterly meeting at Marlboro.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Davis of Greensboro recently celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary with "open house." Those attending from here were the following: J. C.

Miss Clara Loflin and family, Mrs. P. S. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Farlow. The above are descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Davis of this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Price of High Point spent the weekend with their parents, Mr.

Mrs. John Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Farlow, Mrs. C. M. Farlow and Miss Clara Davis recently went to Manteo to see "The Lost Colony."

Misses Stella, Evelyn, Mildred and Freeda Redding spent several days last week at

1949
Mrs. Betty Jean Davis spent a few days last week with her cousin, Miss Margaret Brunson at Florence, S. C.

PAGE FIVE

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Woods, Mrs. Allen Morton, Misses Faye and Barbara Morton, Mrs. R. E. Jones and children attend the revival at Dover Baptist church recently.

ENGAGED—Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lee Spencer of Sophia announce the engagement of their daughter, Orelia Audrey, Norfolk, Virginia, to William John McCaddin of Lake Terrace, Norfolk, Virginia.

Miss Spencer attended business colleges in High Point and in Greensboro and is employed at the Pilot Life Insurance company in Greensboro.

Mr. McCaddin, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Roy Parsons, is a graduate of Fork Union Military Academy, Fork Union, Virginia and is now a student at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

The wedding is planned for late summer.

Thursday, Sept. 15, 1949

Miss Orelia Audrey Spencer Bride Of Wm. J. McCaddin

Miss Orelia Audrey Spencer, skirt which extended into a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lee Spencer of Sophia, became the bride of William John McCaddin, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Roy Parsons of Norfolk, Virginia, in an afternoon ceremony Saturday, September 3, at Grace Methodist church, in Greensboro. Rev. Paul Townsend officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Prior to the service a program of wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Ralph Hodgkin, organist, and Jack Smith, tenor.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Marshall Farlow as matron of honor and Mrs. Harold Redding as bridesmaid. Herel Farlow, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer. Both attendants wore blue satin dresses, fashioned with off-the-shoulder necklines and full skirts of blue marquisette.

Winston Brooks Parsons of Norfolk was best man and others were Vincent Mighorini of Baltimore, Maryland, Norman Perlin of Norfolk, Sale Houston of Richmond, Va., and Gordon Spencer of Sophia.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin designed with a bertha, giving an off-the-shoulder effect, a sculptured bodice, and a full drape-

For traveling the bride changed to a green suit with matching hat and brown accessories and pinned the orchid from her bouquet at her shoulder.

Mrs. McCaddin attended a business college in High Point and in Greensboro and until recently was employed as bookkeeper for Pilot Life Insurance Company.

Mr. McCaddin attended the University of North Carolina and will enter William and Mary this fall.

Following the wedding rehearsal on Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hawkins, aunt and uncle of the bride, entertained at an informal cake cutting at their home in Greensboro.

News Of Interest Sophia, Route 1, The Past Week

SOPHIA, RT. 1, Aug. 4—United Society of Friends Women of Marlboro met with Clara Davis Thursday afternoon. The meeting was presided over by the president, Ethel Beeson, at 2:30 o'clock. The worship leader was Ruth Loflin. R. B. Bulla was in charge of the program. "To Find Joy in Living." He gave some interesting thoughts on the subject.

Various items were discussed; one was home missionary work as needed in the community. A unique way of collecting money was gift wrapped packages with each member paying 5c a guess. All proceeds went into the treasury.

Mrs. Davis served delicious refreshments to the members and several visitors.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Alice Farlow.

Last month's meeting was held with Marjorie Farlow, Alice Farlow was the worship leader and Vadaula Farlow, the program leader.

These meetings are very interesting and new members are most welcomed.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED—Mr. and Mrs. Carr Vaden Redding of Sophia announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Vada Virginia Redding, Greensboro, and Cecil Hall Plumlee of High Point. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ila Eades of Glasgow, Ky.

The ceremony will take place on January 8 at 8 p. m. in Marlboro Friends Church.

The bride-elect attended Guilford College in Guilford College and was graduated from High Point College, High Point with the class of 1947. She is now employed by General Motors' Acceptance Corporation in Greensboro.

Mr. Plumlee attended schools in Glasgow and Greensboro School of Watchmaking in Greensboro. He is now a student at Bryce Commercial School in High Point and is also employed by Sears Roebuck and Company there.

REDDING PILES HELD SATURDAY

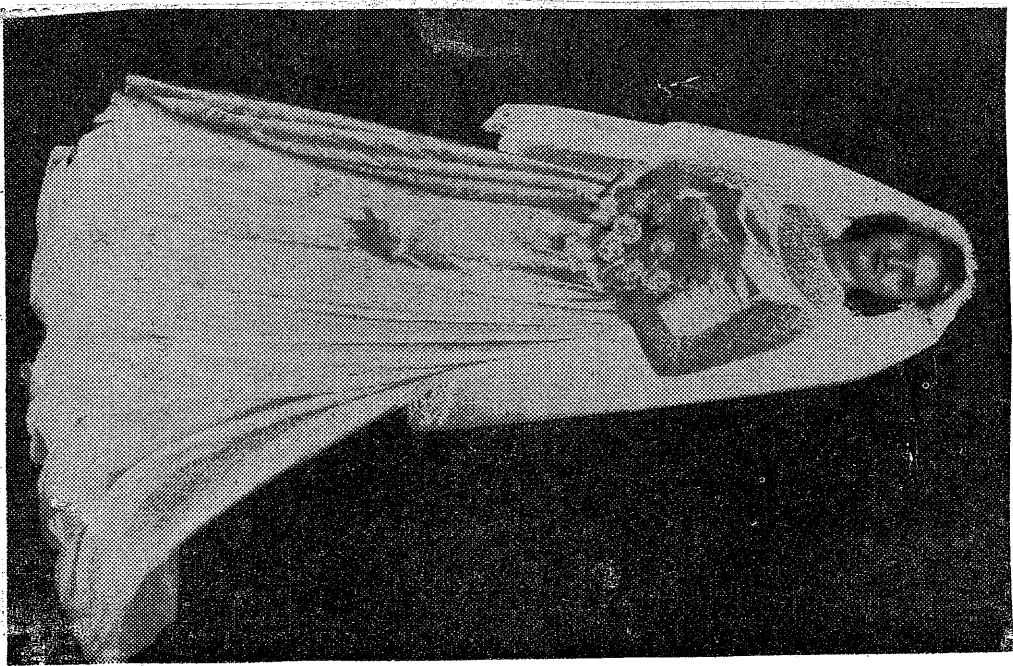

Funeral For Mrs. A. H. Redding Is Held At Cedar Falls Church

Funeral services for Mrs. A. H. Redding, 81 were held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Methodist church, Cedar Falls, by the pastor, Rev. J. E. Pritchard, Asheville and Rev. Harlan L. Creech, Jr., pastor of the First Methodist church, Asheville. Interment was made in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Redding, widow of Dr. Redding, well-known and prominent Randolph county physician died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Branson in Asheville, with whom she had made her home for more than two years, late Thursday afternoon following ill health for the past three or four years.

She was born in Cedar Falls and spent her entire life there until around two years ago when she came to Asheville to make her home with her daughter. She was a member of the Cedar Falls Methodist church and took an active interest in all church and civic activities.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Branson, Mrs. J. W. Birkhead, Jr., both of Asheville; three sons, Clyde C. Redding, B. Paul Redding, H. Grady Redding, all of Cedar Falls; ten grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

The marriage of Mrs. Harold L. Weaver, the former Miss Helen Shropshire, is being announced today. The vows were spoken at Central Friends church yesterday afternoon.

Lewis S. Davis, Dairy Farmer, Dies At 60

Lewis Sylvester Davis, 60, prominent dairy farmer of Route 1, Randolman, was pronounced dead on arrival at High Point Memorial Hospital Sunday evening at 7:05 o'clock. He had been in declining health for several months.

Mr. Davis was born in Randolph County Feb. 19, 1889, a son of Rubin Sylvester and Minnie Coltrane Davis. On Dec. 21, 1919, he was married to Miss Lila Hohn. He was a lifelong resident of the Cedar Square Community and was an active member of Cedar Square Friends Meeting.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Lila H. Davis of the home; two daughters, Mrs. Myrtle Hollingsworth of Route 1, Sophia, and Mrs. Myra Whitesell of 401 Liberty Rd., High Point; one son, D. S. Davis of the home; 11 grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. M. Luther Hohn of Grovetown Road, Greensboro; one brother, Branson E. Davis, of Route 1, Randolman.

Funeral services will be held in Marlboro Friends Meeting House Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by the Rev. York Teague, former minister, the Rev. J. Floyd Moore, minister of Cedar Square Friends Meeting and professor of Religious Education at Guilford College, and the Rev. Frank Berry, pastor of Ebenezer Methodist Church. Interment will follow in the family plot in the church cemetery. The body was to be taken to the residence this afternoon at 4 o'clock and will be placed in the church 30 minutes prior to the service.

1940

MARLBORO SCHOOL REUNION

Fifty-seven former students of the old Marlboro School, which was located near Sophia, gathered yesterday at Marlboro Friends Meeting for a reunion. They heard talks from their former teacher and renewed acquaintances. The school was founded in 1890 and was succeeded by the present New Market School.

(Staff Photo by Braxton Young)

Marlboro School Class To Hold Reunion

Seventy-three boys and girls were enrolled in the old Marlboro School in Randolph County in 1911, when this picture was made. Their teachers were Harriett Johnson and Miss Ida Ridge (later Parker).

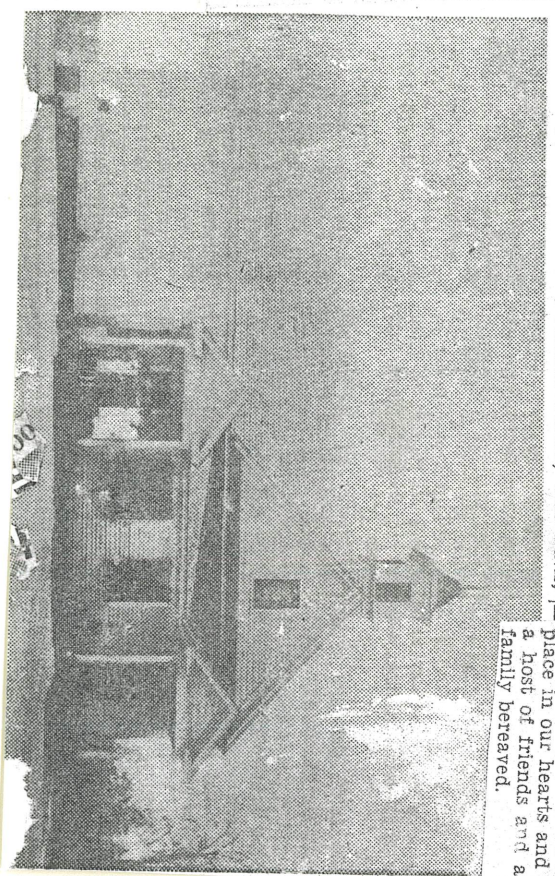

Mrs. Josephine Stokes was called home in the prime of life, leaving one little child and other members of the family who will sorely miss her. The many friends of Ransour community sympathize with them in this sorrow. All around us friends are "Gathering Home".

"GIVE THE FLOWERS NOW"
Another fine message came to us from Ray Fleming of South Plainfield community. Ray doesn't get out much but has an interest in all that is going on, especially calling attention to all that is good in other people. He writes good verses and sends me a few every so often. The following verse brings the idea he expresses.

"Let's Give Them Today"
Pretty flowers on graves are given out of pure love,
So are kind words on markers of stone,
But let us all give the kind words today
And not wait until people are dead and gone."

A. B. LOFLIN SERVICES TO BE CONDUCTED TODAY
Funeral services for A. B. Loflin, 54, who died suddenly Friday, morning at 4 o'clock, will be conducted Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Green Street Baptist Church. The pastor, Rev. O. N. Royal, and first Piferin Church, Pallbearers and flowerbearers are asked to meet at the Kooney Funeral Home at 1:15 Sunday afternoon. Interment will be made in Floral Garden cemetery.

By ALTHEA BROWN
SOPHIA, R. I.—The descendants of David and Rachel Milliken Davis gathered at the old home place for their 23rd annual reunion last Sunday after church. The old timey house stands deserted in a very beautiful place. Many have memories of some of those dear old Davis women that lived in and loved their old home. The family likes to come back here each year where so much love and happiness has been.

A picnic dinner was served from a long table arranged under the large old trees in the yard. Reece Wall gave the devotion and offered prayer.

After a social period a short business session was held. Raymond Farlow, vice president presided in the absence of the president, William Hyllon. Laura Davis had memories of the past year which included Reece Farlow and son, Ray, who met tragic death by car-train wreck, Teresa Ann Robbins, Peggy Louise Hill, Penny Louise Hill, Raeford Harrison Davis, Dora Sawyer and Jesse Elison Farlow. The number attending was 140 and everyone seemed to enjoy the occasion to the fullest extent.

They are she says, Lewis Farlow, Jerome Davis, Jesse Farlow, Frank Davis, Vernon Spencer, Hal Farlow, Carl Beeson, Marvin Osborne, John Ridge, Ollie Farlow, Clyde Ridge, Emery Farlow, James Winslow, Mary Osborne, Helvie Newlin, Hessie Newlin, Lillie Newlin, Lillie Spencer, Ora Loflin, Nannie Davis, Esther Davis, Ruth Coltrane, Rosa Loflin, Beulah Coltrane, Rosa Sinclair, Jessie Mae Spencer, Gwen Loflin, Edna Beeson, Nellie Farlow, Alise Davis, Sadie Osborne, F. I. Oren, Spencer, May Davis, William Farlow, Lester Wall, Ray Nance, Walter Davis, Stella Nance, Maie Hill, Ollie Ward, Harris Coltrane, Walker Beeson, Russell Hill, Jeffrey Cox, Wesley Cox, Jimmy Farlow, Robert Spencer, Cicero Hill, Bertina Spencer, William Nance, Elva Farlow, Flora Berry.

Clifton Davis, Flossie Snider, Mamie Spencer, Blanche Hill, Blanche Davis, Garland Beeson, Ila Snider, Clara Weir, Alene Nance, Carl Ward, Abel Hill, Paul Winslow, Bluel Farlow, Pearl Spencer, Angela Farlow, Lester Farlow, Cornelia Coltrane.

Refreshments will be served at GATHERING HOME. Clonds come on us when so many of our friends pass on. But the sunshine of their hood and lifelong friend George Smith of Liberty R. I. was laid to rest at old Jacobeth last week. Scores of friends and a great array of flowers were evidence of the love they had for him. Later in the week another fine neighbor went home. Mrs. John Wallace of Franklinville had a warm place in our hearts and leaves a host of friends and a large family bereaved.

Finds a Belled Buzzard
Winston-Salem, Nov. 20.—A. H. Pfaff, of the Pearltown community, today reported he saw a belled buzzard near his home on Friday. The bird was attracted to the bird's neck. It could be heard for quite a distance. The belled bird had several followers.

Sophia, Rt. 1, News Items

By MRS. ALTHEA BROWN
Sophia, Rt. 1, Sept. 22.—The United Society of Friends Women of Marlboro Meeting met with Emily D. Pugh Thursday at 2:30 p. m. The meeting was called to order by Ethel Beeson, the president. Faydene Farlow was the worship leader. An interesting program on Follow Me to a More Excellent Way was given by Ethel Beeson. Prayers for this month is installing Venetian blinds in the new parsonage. After a business session the hostess served delicious refreshments to several members and visitors.

Mrs. Bascom Lawrence of Beagrove visited old friends in this section recently. She will be remembered here as Lenora Gray who taught school at Marlboro as first teacher with Marie Pierce in the new school house built in 1909 and 1910. The second year was with Swana Lowmerrink. Mrs. Lawrence met many former pupils and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Farlow, Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Farlow and the Clevis Halls spent last weekend at Valdosta, Ga., visiting the elder Farlow's son, 2/c Norman Farlow.

Oscar Farlow and son of Asheville have been visiting their relatives, the late Elwood and Eunice Farlow families.

Wayne Loflin, who is in service stationed at Camp Jackson, recently visited homefolks here. Carr Redding and D. S. Rhig, brothers-in-law, have been inducted into the army.

Evelyn Paige Beeson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Beeson, graduated from the School of Nursing at High Point Memorial hospital, Thursday. Congratulations!

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Davis and J. B. Peace and family attended the Cox reunion at the home of Y. Y. Cox which is the old home place of Calvin Cox. A good attendance and an interesting program was reported.

There are a number of Farlows in this section who will regret to hear of the death of Maggie Hayworth, Farlow, 72, who died in the University Hospital at Chapel Hill Sunday at 3:05 p. m. She was the widow of Lewallen L. Farlow who was reared in this community. They attended Marlboro Friends Meeting before moving to High Point many years ago. She was living with her son, James Ralton, an attorney, in Chapel Hill. The funeral was conducted at Springfield. Friends Meeting Tuesday at 3 p. m. and burial was in the family plot in the church cemetery.

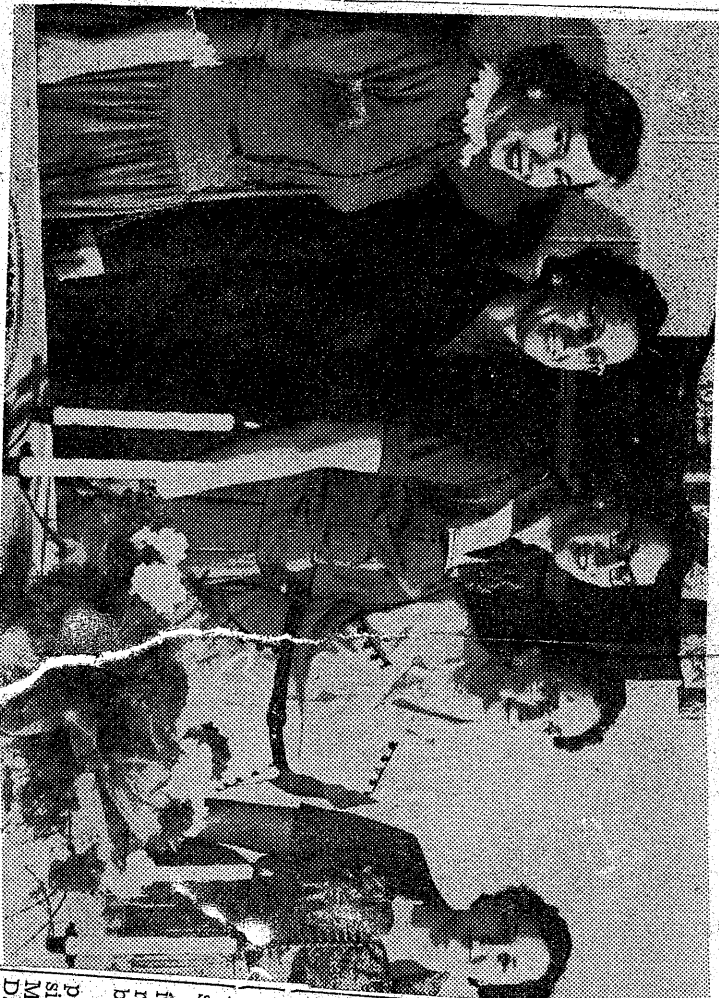

Rev. Bertha Nation of Mebane, former pastor of piferin church, Mt. Olive, met with a serious accident at her home in a fall from a ladder, last week. She is a patient in the old hospital at Burlington, and is well-known through this community. Eva Filla is spending this week at Burlington in order to visit her friend, Bertha Nation, quite often.

B. E. Butta spent last week at the home of his brother, Oscar Butta, and attended homecoming at Graham Friends Meeting, Sunday.

Memorial Day Service Sunday Marlboro Church

Sophia, Rt. 1, May 11.—Everyone is invited to attend the memorial day services at Marlboro Sunday, May 15. There will be a morning and an afternoon service. It has been the custom in the past for those having loved ones in the cemetery to put flowers on their graves for this occasion. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Farlow and daughter, Sarah, spent the weekend visiting relatives here. They were former residents of this community but have been living in Bahama for several years.

The relatives and friends of Mrs. Nan E. Brislow of Greensboro were grieved to hear of her death. She was buried in Marlboro cemetery last Sunday afternoon.

BRIDE-ELECT PILED UP — Miss Janice Farlow, bride-elect of Feb. 18 is shown at the miscellaneous shower given Friday evening at Cedar Square Friends Meeting House by Mrs. Richard Beeson and Mrs. David Hunt. Shown from left to right in the picture are Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. S. F. Farlow, mother of the hon-

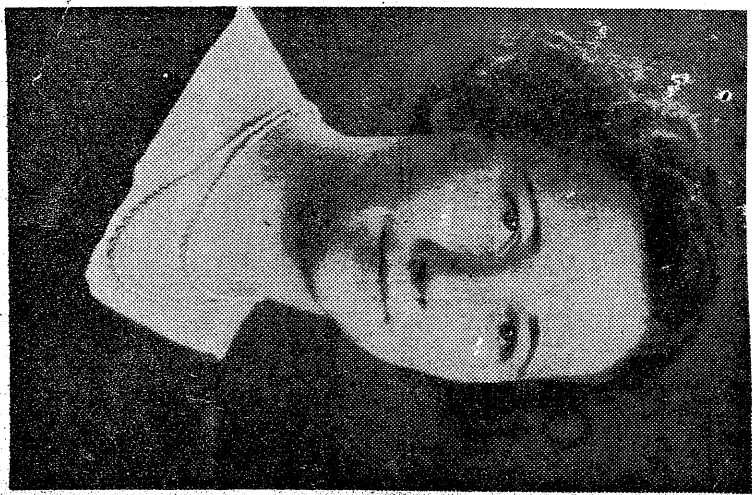

Miscellaneous Shower Is Honor For Bride-Elect, Miss Farlow

Miss Janice Farlow, bride-elect, punch were served to the many of Feb. 18 when she will wed Stan- guests, among whom, was the ton Hookett at Marlboro Friends Meeting House, was entertained last evening at the Recreation Room of the Cedar Square Friends Meeting House.

Upon arrival the hostesses, Mrs. Richard Beeson and Mrs. David Hunt, presented the honoree with a heart-shaped corsage of red carnations.

The entertainment took the form of bridal games after which a miscellaneous shower was presented to the bride-elect. The hostesses added a clothes hamper to the array of gifts.

The room was effectively decorated with red and white flowers to carry out the Valentine theme. Heart shaped bridal squares and

VOWS ANNOUNCED

Mrs. David H. Shepard of this city who was formerly Miss Lillie Anne Wood of Trinity, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wood of Trinity. The marriage was solemnized in Danville, Va., on December 10.

Wood Shepard Vows Announced Today

Of interest here is the attire, wore a costume of teal and blue with matching accessories, pinned to the marriage of Trinity, Va. Lillie Anne Wood of Trinity, Va. and High Point to David H. Shepard of High Point, Va., which took place on December 10 in Danville, Va., with the Rev. M. T. Sorrell officiating. The only witnesses were Miss Ruth Baldwin and Frank Roberts of High Point.

The bride, an attractive brun-

Doyle H. Lowe Dies From Auto Accident In Mo.

Doyle H. Lowe, 31, a native of Randolph county, died Wednesday in an automobile accident near Bethany, Mo., according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lowe in Greensboro. Also injured in the accident was his brother, Thurman Lowe, of Greensboro. He was a graduate of Trinity High school and attended Cleveland Bible College, Cleveland, Ohio, and Van Cleave Bible School in Van Cleave, Ky. At the time of his death he was a student at the National School of Aeronautics at Kansas City, Mo.

Mr. Lowe was a Marine Corps veteran of World War I and saw service in the South Pacific. Funeral arrangements were incomplete but the body will be returned to Greensboro for burial.

Survivors, in addition to his parent and brother, are seven sisters: Mrs. E. H. Fraenzel and Mrs. W. L. Salmon, Jr., both of Danville, Va., Mrs. F. M. Landreth and Mrs. M. E. Gasser, both of Greensboro, and Mrs. Broxa, Lynda and Rachel Lowe.

Helicopter Rescue Efforts Bog Down

WEST JEFFERSON, N.C. AP—More snow bogged down helicopter rescue operations in stricken northwestern North Carolina today, but ground parties intensify efforts to bring food, fuel and medical help to snow-bound mountain families.

Some three inches of fresh snow during the night tapered to furrises early today, cutting visibility from the air. However, rescue operations in Ashe and Avery counties, where the majority of 1,500 needy families are situated, were expected to hit full stride before nightfall.

No deaths or injuries were reported.

Reports trickled into this disaster headquarters of many families running low on food, of cattle starving in this dairy and beef-producing region, and of several emergency medical cases. Officials said the first helicopter to get out would attempt to ferry a pregnant woman to a hospital.

Highway crews continued to work through general accumulations of two to three feet of snow to clear secondary roads.

One snow-skinning Army "Weasel" was operating here. Wreckers and ambulances arrived during the night.

Russ Jones, a Red Cross disaster worker from Atlanta who has established emergency headquarters here, estimated there are 500 to 700 snowbound families in Ashe, 400 in Avery and about 600 scattered in the three other counties. The Army, National Guard, Red Cross, civil defense and state highway department all have sent vehicles and personnel to the area, covered with up to three feet of snow and drifts up to 35 feet.

Weasels, Army snow vehicles with tracks, were flown from Langley Field, Va., to Charlotte and then brought here by trailer. Jones said rescue teams reached 445 families in the five-county area Friday.

Five Feet Deep

The helicopters, carrying doctors, guides, food, bags of coal and medical supplies are concentrating on Ashe County where five feet of snow has fallen since Feb. 11.

Gen. Edward F. Griffin, North Carolina director of civil defense, remarked that the snow scene, with all of the rescue personnel, 'looks like the Battle of the Bulge—exactly'.

Wife's Death Calls Tragedy

Mr. Cox and his wife, also of Arizona, and their two daughters, one four and one two, lived on a ranch some 80 miles from Phoenix and about 8 miles from the nearest neighbor. Business necessitated that Mr. Cox be away from home from Sunday night until Friday night.

After he left, Mrs. Cox began a vigil over her children. She heard a frightened chicken outside the kitchen, so she went out. It was then that she was bitten by a rattlesnake.

Relatives believe that the incident occurred shortly after Mr. Cox left.

Realizing the seriousness of the situation, Mrs. Cox rushed to the car, which Mr. Cox had left. It would not start. She grabbed his gun and went out on the porch, where she fired a number of shots. Apparently no one heard.

Then, she realized that it was improbable that she would receive aid.

She decided to write a letter after she made a desperate decision. It is this epistle, held by the present Mrs. Cox, which indicates the tragic course of events.

She put the children to bed. She "corded" her leg which suffered the snake bite. She waited throughout the day, obviously bathing what she finally did. She told in the letter—which started out in her natural handwriting and ended in a handwritten which evidenced pain—that she knew her two children would die of exposure and lack of food after she died, before her husband returned on Friday.

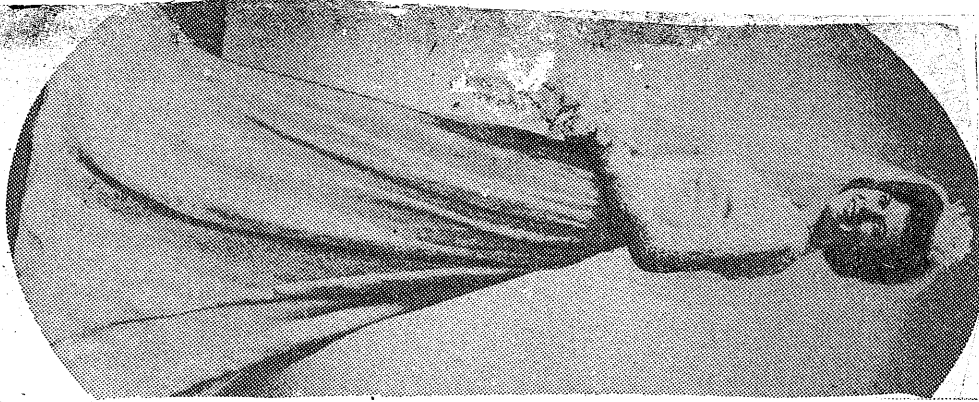

She took what appeared to her frightened mind the only course. She shot the two children to death, and then turned the gun on herself.

Her letter asked for her husband's understanding and explained that the writer believed God would understand. She said she could not die and leave her children alone.

The tragedy was discovered by Mr. Cox himself, when he arrived home Wednesday night, two nights earlier than he was due.

Relatives in the county say that he was never completely well after the tragedy.

Mr. Cox last visited in Randolph county in 1952. He was a garage owner.

Mrs. Lorraine Stinson Hill

ROBERT E. WALKER JR.

Bob Walker Nominated JCC President

Robert R. Walker, a Jaycee "key man," was named as the next president of the Asheboro Junior Chamber of Commerce by unanimous acclaim during the group's Monday night meeting here. Walker is employed by Klopman Mills here, and is now completing a term as a member of the Jaycees' Board of Directors.

The election will actually not be held until the club's March 6 meeting, when other officers will be nominated and elected. Mr. Walker's was the only nomination received and he just went on record as favoring the motion "unanimously."

The election was one of the features of a rapid-paced meeting that saw the first results

BULLETIN: As The Courier-Tribune went to press, it learned that the family of Hal Worth Williams has requested an autopsy into his death early Sunday morning in the county jail.

Sheriff Wayne W. Wilson said today that he has advised the family of Hal Worth Williams, 36, who died early Sunday in the Randolph county jail, to request an autopsy into the death.

Sheriff Wilson said that he presently arrested about 100 in a wooded area behind residence on Highway 49 with. The sheriff said he appeared to be in a "very fatigued state."

The sheriff said that Williams received medical attention by county physician, Dr. H. C. Whims, within a few minutes after he was brought to jail and before he was confined. The sheriff said that Dr. Whims prescribed medication, and that that medication was administered according to direction by the jailer. The sheriff said that Williams died about 1 a.m. Sunday.

The Bethel Friends church was the setting of a beautiful and impressive wedding Saturday evening, October 15, at 7:30 o'clock when Miss Mary Ella Beeson became the bride of Harris Neece Pugh.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Blair Leeson of route 4, Asheboro, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Deater Pugh of route 1, Asheboro.

Rev. Alie R. Kemp, pastor of the church, officiated at the ceremony. The bride wore a gown of white tulle and carried a bouquet of white flowers. The bridegroom wore a tuxedo and carried a boutonniere.

The ceremony was held in the church sanctuary and was attended by a large number of guests. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Surviving are her husband, Robert N. Brann of the home; one son, Ray Norman Brann of the home; one step-daughter, Mrs. Lottie Belle Kinley of Route 1, Trinity; eight grandchildren; four sisters, Mrs. Theima Dillon of 2900 N. Main St., High Point, Mrs. Lester Snyder of Guilford, and Mrs. Henry Slaley and Miss Grace Bullard, both of Route 1, Sophia; and one brother, William W. Bullard of Route 1, Sophia.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock with the pastor, the Rev. Kenneth Weir, and the Rev. George T. Tunstall, pastor of Green St. Baptist Church, officiating. Interment will be in Trinity Cemetery. The body will be placed in the church at 2:30 o'clock in the state. It will remain in Yow's Funeral Home until Wednesday afternoon when it will be taken to the Trinity residence.

Funeral Services for William E. Hill
Sunday 2:30 P.M.

Funeral services for William E. Hill, 74, were held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Hopewell Friends church and interment made in the church cemetery.

Mr. Hill, a retired merchant, died at his home on Asheboro, route 2, after an illness of several months.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. S. C. Lewis, of Myrtle Beach, S. C., Mrs. Lanta Robbins of Asheboro, route 2, two brothers, Manly Hill of Asheboro and Hubert Hill, of Asheboro, route 3.

Miss Beeson And Mr. Pugh Exchange Vows On Saturday

"Through the Years" and as a benediction, "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Humble played the traditional wedding marches recessional and recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in an exquisite wedding gown of tulle satin and Chantilly lace fashioned with a long sleeved lined bodice of lace and a full off-shoulder skirt with panels of lace ending in a Cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was attached to a pearl and sequin trimmed headdress. She carried a bouquet of white flowers, centered with a white purple-throated orchid and showered with Stephanotis. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls.

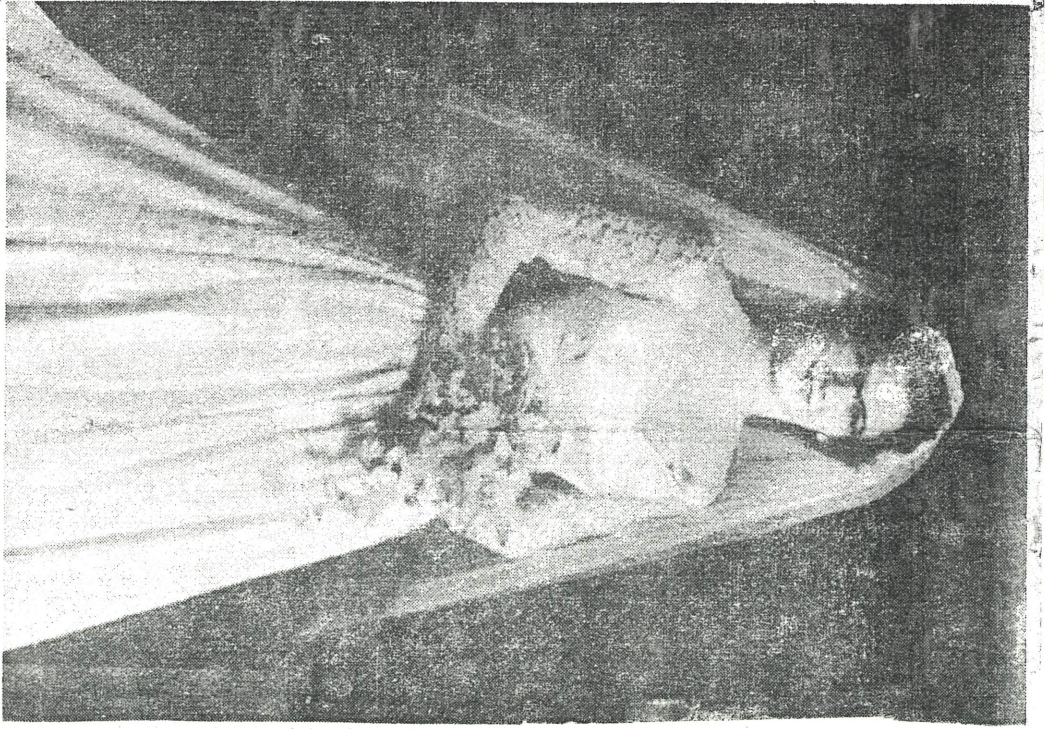

Mrs. Charles Ray Pugh of Raleigh, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a street-length coral crystallette gown with a neckline and full skirt. Her headdress was made of rose petals, matching her gown, and she carried a Colonial bouquet of white cushioned pompon chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Jimmy Short of Sophia, cousin of the bride, and Miss Betsy Carole Lane of Asheboro, were bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns like that of the maid of honor with matching headdresses and carried Colonial bouquets of white cushioned pompon chrysanthemums centered with a coral carnation.

Miss Phyllis Pugh, sister of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid. Her gown, headdress and bouquet were identical to that of the honor attendants. Odell Pugh, was his brother's best man and ushers were Wade Pugh and Bun Pugh, brothers of the bridegroom and Charles Pugh of Palestine.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a navy crepe dress with winter white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a medium brown crepe dress with dark brown accessories and pinned the boutonniere on her lapel.

Mrs. Pugh was graduated from Zennor's College with the Commercial Class of 1955, receiving certificate in stenography. She now employed as a secretary in Acme-McCrory Hosiery Mills, Burlington. Mr. Pugh is employed with Burlington Hosiery company in Asheboro.

MARRIED SATURDAY—Mrs. Harris Neece Pugh was the former Miss Mary Ella Beeson before her marriage on Saturday evening, October 15, at the Bethel Friends church.

After the honored couple cut the first slice of cake, Mrs. Garland Beeson, mother of the bride, completed cutting it. Mrs. Tom D. Pugh, mother of the bridegroom, presided over the punch bowl. Mints and nuts were served with the cake and punch.

Miss Beeson presented her attendants with matching bracelets and earrings. Mr. Pugh presented the ushers and best man with matching cuff links and tie pins.

The guests were limited to members of the immediate families and the wedding attendants.

Cake-Cutting Given For Miss Webster And Wayne Loflin

After the rehearsal Friday for the wedding of Miss Emma Louise Webster and Clifford Wayne Loflin which took place at the First Methodist church, Randolphman, last night Mrs. Daniel L. Webster entertained at a cake cutting at their home, on South Main St. for the bridal party and out-of-town guests.

Miss Jean Stout presided over the guest book and directed to the punch bowl which was embedded in ivy and white carnations. The table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, on either side of which was lighted candles in crystal holders. The bride and groom cut the traditional first slice after which Mrs. C. R. Goodwin, Burlington, aunt of the bride, finished cutting the cake, assisting in serving were Mrs. James Steed, Miss Virginia Thomas, and Miss Iris Loflin.

Mrs. John Wagoner presided in the gift room which was decorated in the traditional green and white. The home was decorated throughout with summer flowers.

Route 3 Resident Dies Following 4-Month Illness

Mrs. Macie Bullard Brann, 52, of Route 3, High Point, was dead on arrival at High Point Memorial Hospital Tuesday morning at 11:45 o'clock. She had been ill since January and critically ill for one week.

Mrs. Brann was born in High Point Dec. 4, 1906, a daughter of Everett T. and Emma Smith Bullard. In November of 1927 she was married to Robert Nickey Brann. She had lived in the Archdale 1938, moving there from Route 6, Greensboro. She was of the Baptist faith.

Surviving are her husband, Robert N. Brann of the home; one son, Ray Norman Brann of the home; one step-daughter, Mrs. Lottie Belle Kinley of Route 1, Trinity; eight grandchildren; four sisters, Mrs. Theima Dillon of 2900 N. Main St., High Point, Mrs. Lester Snyder of Guilford, and Mrs. Henry Slaley and Miss Grace Bullard, both of Route 1, Sophia; and one brother, William W. Bullard of Route 1, Sophia.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Marlboro Friends Meeting House by the Rev. Cecil Wright, pastor of Glendon Baptist Church, and the Rev. George H. V. Hunter, Jr., pastor of Randolph Presbyterian Church. Interment will follow in the Marlboro Cemetery. The body was to be taken to the home this afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be placed in the meeting house 30 minutes before the services.

Keep the Classified Ads.
Just 15¢ a day

Girl Projectionist Rates As Master Operator; 14 Years Experience

By FRED BURGESS
Staff Writer

In line with the regular undertaking or invasion—which ever you prefer—of "masculine occupations," one of the last male strongholds has been pretty well taken over here by a pretty brunette.

That "last male stronghold" is the lefty quarters of the motion picture projectionist, usually termed the operator in movie parlance, and the pretty brunette is Reba Clarke, who's going into her fourteenth year as an operator at Asheboro's Sunset Theatre.

Reba, who's seen male operators come and go during these almost fourteen years, is enthusiastic about her job, a job that came into being through the courtesy of the Selective Service boards of World War II. It all started late in 1942, when her brother, Kermit, was called for induction into the World War II armed forces. While the Sunset was casting about for a new projectionist, Reba's name came up, and shortly later, she was taking time off after her job at McCrackin, learning about generators, carbon arcs, splitters, Simples and commutators.

It was the first time she'd really seen the frequently gloomy interior of the projection booth, she said, but it was an easy job to learn. Soon, she was making changeovers and building shows with the skill of a master operator, a title she's well qualified for now with her long experience, and learning the intricacies of the new trade.

The projectionist usually worked a day-night shift, or rather, the operator will open the show on one day and then close it the next night. The shifts are short, only five hours on weekdays and six on Saturdays, and compared to the take-home pay drawn by the average career girl, the rewards are at least equal and frequently higher.

The one drawback about the job, Reba explained, is the fact that it's confining. "Sometimes," she admits, "I'll come in downstairs and then go through the whole day without seeing anyone at all."

Of course, the solitude appeals to some operators, but there can also be times when it's mandatory.

BUSY LADY—Reba Clarke, Sunset Theatre projectionist, shows that she likes her job with the big smile she gives as she "threadup" the big projectors. Reba is one of the few women projectionists in motion picture theatres today.

A projectionist's life, when everything is running smoothly, can be extremely pleasant. But plenty of skills, including those of a machinist, an electrician and a soothsayer are required. Fortunately, she explained, the big general in the modern and well-equipped Sunset booth. Maintenance of equipment—the big generators, the Century projectors, lamp housings along with a vast amount of sound equipment—is a regular chore, and Reba observed that with the average difficulty she knows what to do.

This brings out one peeve that almost all operators will lay claim to: Sometimes a splice on the film breaks, or an unruly carbon may snap in the middle of a reel . . . and when the show goes off the screen, every yodel in the audience begins whistling to let the operator know something's wrong.

And, as Reba says, "usually I'm the first one to know that the show's off. That's the important thing, keeping the show on the screen."

The unusual off-on schedule the operator keeps can also play havoc with certain other phases of life, unless one keeps a careful schedule of her own time. Reba explains. Social activities must be carefully planned in advance, and the schedule is highly conducive to the notion of a social leader.

That, and the confinement—are the two most trying phases of the job, she continued, despite that, she still likes work and has a justified pride in it.

Last Rites Mrs. W. R. Poole Held Wednesday

Last rites for Mrs. Elizabeth Robbins Poole, 82, were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the chapel at Pugh Funeral Home with Rev. B. S. Lyndon officiating. Interment was made in John Wesley Stand cemetery.

Mrs. Poole, widow of W. R. Poole, died Monday at her home on Sophie, Route 1.

Mrs. Poole, a native of Randolph County, was a member of Charlotte Methodist church near Asheboro.

Surviving are two daughters Mrs. Nannie Lee Spencer Trinity and Mrs. Julia Burke at the home; four sons, Dennis, Abbie, Al., Raleigh of Asheboro, Gordon of Route 2, Astboro, and J. W. Poole of home; and three step-sons Ruble Poole of Washington, C., and Maurice and Sam Poole both of Greensboro.

New Market 4-H Club In Election

SOPHIA, Rt. 1.—New Market's Junior 4-H Club held its annual election Thursday, September 15, during their first school-year meeting.

Elizabeth Ann Farlow was named president; Amelia Farlow, vice president; Sandra Walker, treasurer and secretary; Donna Steed, historian; and Larry Rich, reporter.

Grade captains include Barbara Allred, Richard Le-wallen, Judy Taylor, Kareen Beeson, and Louise Taylor, for, respectively the eighth, fourth grades.

They were installed during the meeting. After the formal joint program, the boys and girls divided into separate groups for their programs.

Mrs. M. L. Dosie Succumbs After Randleman

Mrs. Maggie Lamb Dosie, 83, died at her residence on Route 1, Randleman, yesterday evening at 7:30 o'clock. She had been in declining health 19 years and in a critical condition for two years.

She was born May 12, 1874 in Randolph County, a daughter of the late Robert and Roxie Rose Lamb. On Dec. 7, 1899, she was married to J. R. Dosie, who died Feb. 16, 1951. Mrs. Dosie was a member of Level Cross Methodist Church. She had been a resident of Randolph County all her life and made her home with a daughter, Mrs. W. Lewis Steed, whose husband died last Monday.

Surviving in addition to the daughter are one son, Guy Dosie of Route 3, Mt. Airy; one sister, Mrs. Emma Kirkman of Randleman; six grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from Level Cross Methodist Church by the pastor, the Rev. Don Bridger and the Rev. James Bolick pastor of Glenda Baptist Church. Interment will be in the church cemetery. The body will remain at the Cumberly Mortuary until today at 3 p.m. when it will be taken to the home of Mrs. W. Lewis Steed of Cedar Square Community to remain until 30 minutes prior to the service.

High Point Negro Killed In Randolph Nov. 1964

A cutting and shooting at Cedar Square and shooting at Cedar Square and, an automobile wreck ending in a wreck led up to the death in the local hospital last night of a 29-year-old High Point Negro, according to a report from Randolph Deputy Robert Cooper. Onigel Johnson, whose address was listed as 528 E. High St. here, died at 7:15 p. m. of a single shot-gun wound in the abdomen, Cooper related.

Charged with his murder, and being held without bond in the Randolph County jail at Asheboro is William D. (Dave) Crouch, 33, Negro from Route 1, Randolph.

The deputy said his investigation of the incidents are "by no means complete," but here is his report on what he had learned late last night:

Crouch visited Green's Store, a Negro establishment in Cedar Square, at around 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. When he drove up and stopped, Crouch said he was attacked by Johnson and cut on the neck. Crouch tried to get out the opposite side of the car and encountered Ernest Green, son of the store's proprietor, who had a 12-gauge shotgun in his hands. Crouch wrestled the gun from Green and shot Johnson. Cooper said he first learned of the incident when he received a radio call about a wreck on Highway 511, squarely in front of the deputy's home.

When he arrived at the wreck scene, Cooper continued, he found that a car operated by Green,

Miss Gladys Nadine Dorsett

CLAIMED LIVERS LIFE—This is the vehicle that spun out of control south of Archdale early last night, killing the driver. The car, was out of control for more than 300 feet. Oliver B. Brewer, 32-year-old Glenola resident, was thrown 60 feet beyond the car. He died of a broken neck. (Staff photo.)

Glenola Man Dead After Auto Mishap

A Glenola resident, 32-year-old Oliver Clark Brewer, was thrown 60 feet from his overturning automobile on the Flint Hill Rd. at around 6:30 p.m. yesterday, and was pronounced dead of a broken neck on arrival at the local hospital.

The accident, in which Brewer's late model car was demolished, occurred about five miles south of Archdale, near Ward's Grocery. The victim was alone in the vehicle.

The investigating highway patrolman said there was evidence of terrific speed — probably as much as 100 miles an hour.

This opinion was seconded by a motorist from High Point, Joe Sieder, who said he met the vehicle less than a quarter mile from the wreck scene and "he ran me all night."

IN MEMORY OF HAZEL ALFRED

Dear little Hazel, how we miss you, how we miss each little smile. Miss each little deed of kindness, You could bestow on those you know.

Over to grandma's each week, You would run, Always so jolly and full of fun.

How you would jump, and laugh and sing, And into our hearts, much happiness bring; Now in the home is a vacant place.

We will never again see your sweet face, Languishing behind is a sweet memory of you; Playing little mother to sister and Linville.

But over yonder in that home so fair, Our little darling is awaiting us there;

Where no sorrow ever enters, No care, no pain, Our earthly loss is her eternal gain.

And little Hazel, we'll try to live And give ourselves as Christ would give;

That someday in the sweet bye and bye, We will meet you again up in the sky.

Mary Carter Jones, a Cousin.

Randolph White Men Charged With The Theft Of Meat

Jan 28 - 1930
Sheriff W. B. Millikan, and Deputies T. A. Brookshire and Walter Robins brought three white men to Randolph county jail at Ashboro last night charged with larceny. The three young men are Glenn Davis, Hayes Davis and P. Eddie Cranford, all of Randolph county, the two Davis men live in Trinity township, and Cranford lives at Central Falls. The are in jail on a charge of larceny of two large hams and two shot and $21.00 worth of eggs, the having been disposed of, it is all at Miles Produce Company in Greensboro. Greensboro officers Trulove and G. A. Maness were with the Randolph officers when the men were captured on Dicks street, Greensboro, at the home of a relative. The meat and eggs are alleged to have been stolen from the home of J. E. Spencer, Ed Tomlinson and Price, all farmers of Trinity township. A hearing will be given Saturday afternoon before C. York, Justice of the Peace, in Ashboro.

own wearers competed for attention with champion steer High Point's annual Fat Stock Show and Sale were run off The beauties on hand were Tommie Townsend (left), who High Point, and Ann Herring of Winston-Salem, the new Miss Fat Stock Show. The proud young man is Fred Laughlin of Rt. 1

The excellence of his steer at left and his own personal achievement won for him the smallest steer which he will fat on a groom for next year's sale. Dr. MacLean B. Leath annually gives as one of the major prizes in the local show.

Alfred Funeral Tuesday 3 P. M. South Plainfield

Nov 29 - 1929
Mrs. Tamer Milliken Alfred, 84, died Sunday morning at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Lena Brown on route 1, Sophia, after a long illness.

Survivors include two other daughters, Mrs. May Rich of Route 1, Sophia, and Mrs. Florence Lilly of Randolph; one son, Troy Alfred of route 1, Sophia; 41 grandchildren; 31 great-grandchildren.

Funeral service will be held Wednesday at 3 p. m. in the South Plainfield Friends church by the Rev. Howard Hard and the Rev. Dr. Crater. Burial will be in Sage church cemetery. The body will be taken to the home of her son, Troy at 2 p. m. today.

Mother Of Sophia Resident Passes At High Point

Funeral service for Mrs. Myrtle B. Mendenhall of High Point, who died at her home early Saturday, is to be conducted this afternoon at 2 p. m. from the Springfield Friends church. Burial will follow in the church cemetery.

She was 69 years of age, and had been in declining health for a year.

Her husband, the late N. F. Mendenhall, died in 1917.

Surviving are six daughters, Mrs. Ethel Rich, Mrs. Louise Queen, Mrs. Gladys Adams, Mrs. Mary Solomon, Mrs. Hazel Myers, all of High Point, and Mrs. Ella Buck of Portsmouth, Va.; and two sons, Robert Mendenhall of Sophia and David Mendenhall of Greensboro.

Sophia, Route One News Bethel Friends To Host Gather

May 17 - 67

By ALTHEA BROWN

SOPHIA, Rt. 1—All Friends of Southern Quarterly Meeting that read this column are reminded that quarterly meeting will be held at Bethel Friends Church this Saturday. There will be a special business meeting at ten o'clock. This will be followed at 11 o'clock by a worship service when a message will be given by a minister. At the noon hour a picnic dinner will be served by the host church along with good fellowship among those present for a while. There will be another business meeting after lunch. Thirteen meetings are represented in the Southern Quarterly and all representatives and other members interested are all urged to attend.

Memorial Held

Memorial day was held Sunday at Marlboro Friends Church. Sunday School was held as usual at 10 o'clock with 212 present. At the 11 o'clock service the pastor, Bobby Medford, gave a message taking his text from John 14:6. Singing was enjoyed. At the noon hour many relatives, neighbors and friends spread lunch and enjoyed eating and visiting together for a while.

At 1:30 memorial day service began with devotions by the pastor, Bobby Medford. The business session was presided over by the president, Cleo Russell. Minutes were read by the secretary, Faye F. Davis, and reports given by the treasurer, Wade Pugh. The memorial address was given by a former mayor of High Point and now of the High Point Chamber of Commerce.

This memorial tributes were arranged by Blanche F. Farlow and Emily Pugh. A white candle lighted on a white table at the altar was in honor of all deceased members of the past. There was a candle holder and Ivy also on the table and as each name of a deceased person was called a girl dressed in white, lighted a white candle from the table and placed it on the table also.

There were eight deceased names called, Viri Holland, George Cox, Charlie Lanier, Nathan Edwards, Dora Sawyer, E. W. Harris, Faye Gray Hayes and Albert Brown.

Candle lighters were Kathy Spencer, Sue Spencer, Jeanne Farlow, Mary Rich, Joan Davis, Sha Lotlin, Barbara Farlow, and Wanda Pease.

At the close, the crowd led by the choir went to the cemetery to stand by the mounds of their loved ones for a short service in the center of the cemetery by the choir and benediction by the pastor, Bobby Medford.

The cemetery looked lovely in all its array of beautiful flowers. A large number attended and many from a distance came back to spend the day at the old home church.

Persons

Tony and Margaret Brunson Kees and two children have returned from Germany and are visiting her mother, Mrs. Grace Davis Brunson here.

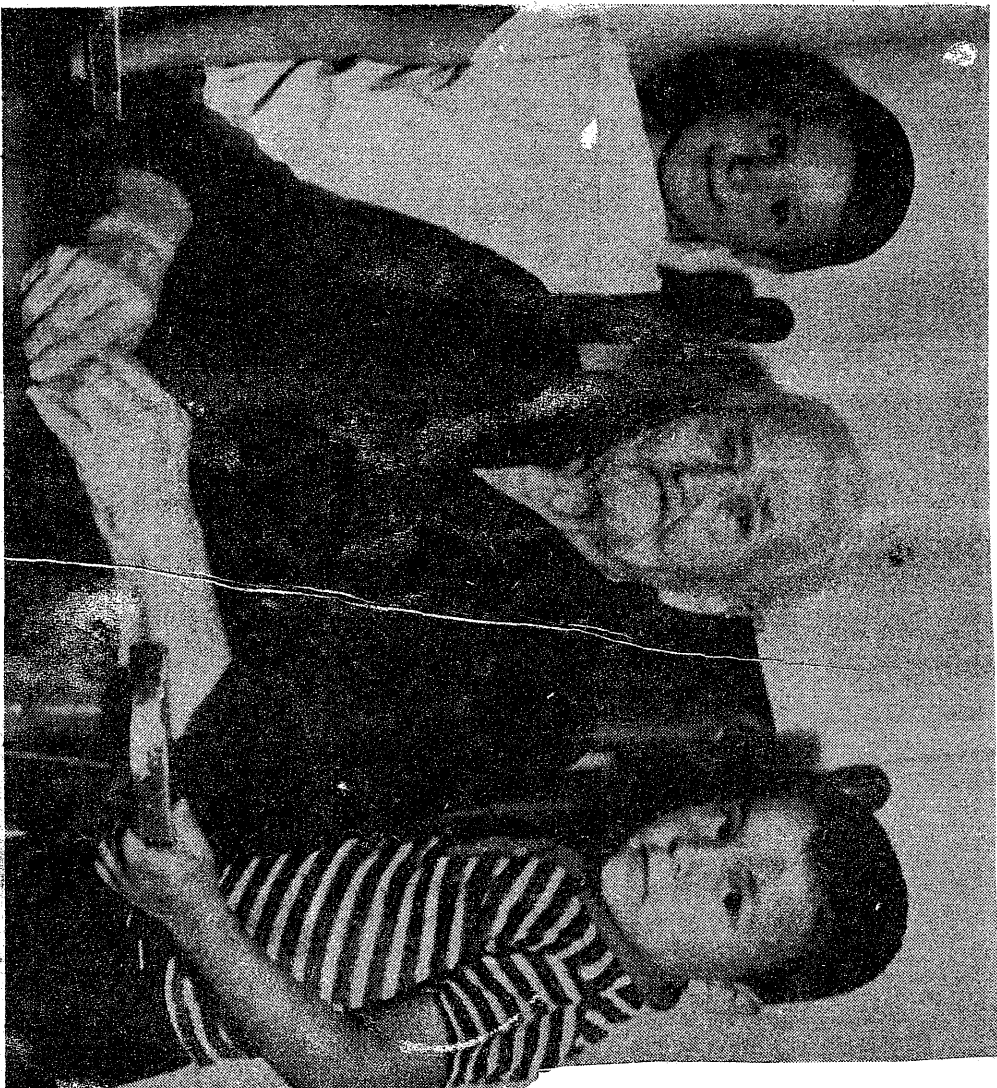

Also her daughter and husband, Earl and Helen Cook and their three children of Raleigh, visited her during the weekend.

Sorry to report Miss Clara Davis is still in High Point Hospital. She is not improving much as wished for her by her family and many friends.

Glad Mrs. Walter (Hazel Spencer) Gray has returned to her home from High Point Hospital and is doing nicely.

Mrs. John Oakley was in charge of the program when the WSCS of Concord Methodist Church met Monday evening at the church.

An installation ceremony was held and Mrs. Elvyn Murray, president was in charge of the business session after which refreshments were served to the 17 members present in the Florence Hall.

MRS. MARY ANN MCCARN, shown here with her two bright-eyed grandchildren, celebrated her 91st birthday on July 23. The children are Corinne Wall, age 6, and her brother, Terry, age 4, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Wall of Siler City.

Party Woman Celebrates 91st Birthday

Miss getting a little hard now Mrs. Mary Ann McCarn of Liberty to remember some of the happenings of her youth Mrs. McCarn, who celebrated her 91st birthday on July 23, has been a resident of Liberty 36 and 40 years. She was born in Seagrove and has always lived in Randolph County.

She now makes her home here with her daughter, Mrs. Della Garner, and Mrs. Garner's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Wall.

Mrs. McCarn, and her husband, Daniel McCarn, came to Liberty from Seagrove when their six children were small. They wanted the children to have the opportunity of a better school than the one they were attending.

Daniel McCarn had farmed at their Seagrove home, but in Liberty he worked at Stout Chair Company and at Gregson's until his retirement. He died in 1922, a few months after the death of Clyde, the only one of the six children not still living.

the McCarn daughters, besides Mrs. Garner, are Mrs. Charlotte Byrd of Rameur, Mrs. Evelyn Brown of Ashboro, and Mrs. Jennings Armentrout of High Point. Bernice McCarn lives in Baltimore, Md. There are 12 grandchildren and 25 great-grandchildren, the oldest of whom is 15 years old.

Mrs. McCarn is not able to see or hear very well anymore, therefore the radio is about the only past time she has. She enjoys the company of the two Wall children, Corinne and Terry, who are here with great grandchildren.

She is not physically able to attend church now, but she is still a member of the Union of Grove Christian Church in Randolph County where she grew up.

Fire Destroys Residence In Trinity 1958

THOMASVILLE, Jan. 23.—Thomasville firemen yesterday at 5:30 a.m. made futile efforts to save the Ernest Welborn residence at Trinity.

Well underway before Thomasville firemen arrived, the fire burned the dwelling to the ground. It was reported here. The house was only a short distance from the Bruce Craven home, which was razed by flames several weeks ago.

Only water available to fight the flames was what the Thomasville trucks carried. Firemen said the house was burning so furiously that it was impossible for the men enter it.

Cause of the fire was not known here. No persons were reported injured. Damages was not estimated.

FLAMES FOLLOWED PLANO AT TRINITY

Five seemed to follow an old piano shunted from one Trinity residence to another.

Once the property of the late Miss Kate Craven, it was grazed from the home of her father, Dr. Baxton Craven, 18 months ago as the residence burned, and was taken to the Mrs. Bruce Craven residence, where it remained until salvaged when the Bruce Craven home's face was razed by flames several weeks ago.

The ancient music-maker was placed in the home of Ernest Welborn, the old Gannaway home. Flames finally caught up with it yesterday morning. The Welborn dwelling was leveled by fire. The piano was among the Welborns' furnishings not carried to safety.

Held Or Suspected Yet Murder Of Teen-Age Girl

Mrs. H. A. Brown

Case 14-19853

MURDER VICTIM?—The body of a young woman found Sunday morning near here was tentatively identified as 18-year old Isabel Hussey of Robbins, according to Sheriff Wayne W. Wilson. The Sheriff asked that anyone who saw this missing girl during the past few weeks contact him so a possible clue to her death may be determined.

Sheriff Discredits Rumors

Developments in the mystery of the dead body of a young woman, found near Ashboro Sunday morning, today stood at "the same place they were Sunday morning." Sheriff Wayne W. Wilson said just before press time.

The body, Wilson said, was "tentatively" identified as that of 18-year old Isabel Hussey of Robbins, who had been missing for slightly more than three weeks.

In a prepared statement released Tuesday, Wilson said that the girl's mother, Mrs. Alfred Hussey, had identified the clothing on the body as that worn by her daughter. The body was returned to Moore county, and funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon.

Wilson said that at the present time there are "no suspects," and "no one is being held." He discredited rumors that had circulated widely throughout the area since the body had been discovered.

The Sheriff said that every resource of his department is being utilized in an effort to solve the mystery. The girl, he noted, apparently met death from strangulation, as a cloth belt and a handkerchief were found knotted about her throat.

Agents of the State Bureau of Investigation are cooperating in the case, Wilson said, and Moore County officers are also conducting an investigation.

Numerous people have been questioned, Wilson said, in an effort to determine the last known location and companions of the missing girl, but the questioning has not directly implicated anyone in the crime.

The possibility exists, he admitted, that the body is not that of the missing Isabell, inasmuch as its badly-decomposed condition—it lay in the abandoned county house for "three or more weeks"—prevented positive identification. The identity, he explained, was made primarily on the clothing found on the body.

Marriage Yows Said By Miss Robbins And Walter B. Peck

The marriage of Miss Mona Lou Robbins, daughter of C. son Robbins and the late Lillian Canoy Robbins of Sophia, and Walter Burton Peck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Peck of Topeka, Kansas, took place Aug. 7 at 7 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Howard Hall of Sophia, sister and brother-in-law of the bride, with whom she was making her home.

The Rev. Claude Young, pastor of New Salem Methodist Church of Sophia, officiated against a background of palm ferns, baskets of white gladioli and lighted cathedral tapers in seven-branched candelabras.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Peggy Harris of Sophia. Miss Harris wore a light green dress of net over tulle with a pink headdress. She carried a bouquet of pink summer flowers. Best man for the bridegroom was Howard Hall, brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride wore an ankle length gown of white crystallette over tulle with a deep V neckline and a full princess style skirt. Her veil was shoulder length, and her only ornament was a single strand of pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Both bride and bridegroom are 1954 graduates of Randleman High School. The couple plan to live in Topeka, Kansas, where Mr. Peck is employed.

Redding Spencer Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lee Spencer of Sophia announce the marriage of their youngest daughter, Ethel Barbara, to Harold Francis Redding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Redding of Randleman.

The marriage was solemnized on February 5 in Chesterfield, South Carolina.

Oldest Active Methodist Minister Beginning Another Conference Year

By RALPH L. BULLA

The Rev. J. E. Shaw, 80 years of age and the oldest active minister in the North Carolina Conference of the Wesleyan Methodist church, has begun another conference year at his churches, Callicut's Chapel and Hoover's Grove, to which he was returned at the recent conference sessions in Colfax.

The venerable white-haired minister, who resides at 232 Uwharrie street, Asheboro, evidently has no intention of quitting the active ministry and expressed himself in this manner: "God said go and He hasn't said stop."

This go signal was given over a century ago, shortly after Mr. Shaw, faithful companion to her minister-husband for nearly 60 years, had this to say about their call to Christian service: "We didn't start a trial trip or we would have stopped a long time ago."

These words of Mrs. Shaw do not even begin to describe the trials, the hardships and the sacrifices of this dedicated couple who began their active ministry in the church back in 1806. The churches have been small, the salaries have been meager and at many places Rev. Mr. Shaw has had to work in the mills and the factories to support himself and his family.

But perseverance and faith have been triumphant and the Shaw's have steadily kept their eyes on the eternal goal, expressed by Mr. Shaw when he said: "My pay day is coming."

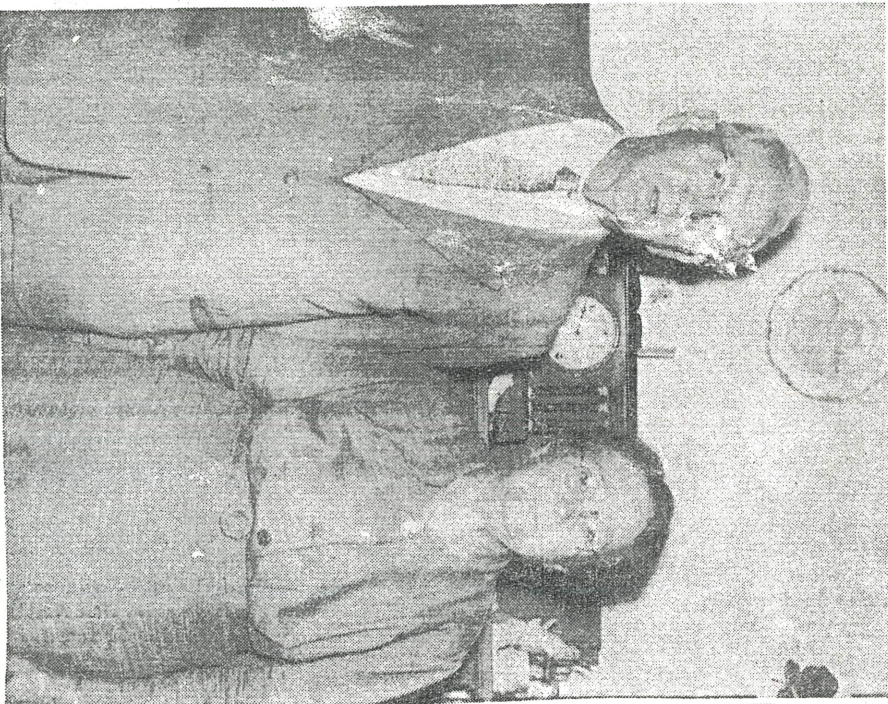

The years, however, have not taken their toll and Rev. Mr. Shaw is strong and robust for a man of his age. This past winter he helped another man cut approximately six big loads of cord wood with a crosscut saw.

Jesse Edgar Shaw was born on June 6, 1878 near Horse Shoe Bend on Barnes' Creek in Montgomery county, one quarter of a mile from the Randolph county line. He was the son of Tillman and Lena Callicut Shaw and when he was a very small lad the family moved over into Randolph county in the vicinity of the Mt. Lebanon Baptist church.

In the same vicinity in which he was born and at the old Callicut's grave yard where his mother was buried, around ten years ago the Rev. Mr. Shaw established Callicut's Mission which was later to become Callicut's Chapel, one of the churches which he now pastors. He preached there on his 70th birthday, 200 yards from the place where he was born, and today a commodious church building with a thriving congregation is located at the old cemetery spot, which is said to be 200 years old.

Hundreds of people from the vicinity and other places attend the annual Memorial Day services at Callicut's Chapel and at the last such service, held on this past second Sunday in June, the church building was dedicated free from debt.

Rev. Mr. Shaw has built two other churches besides Callicut's Chapel and has helped to relieve the indebtedness on many of the twenty-five other pastures which he has held. But Callicut's Chapel, in the community in which he was born, is especially near to his heart and to his ministry of the past half century. A reverent church group in a community hitherto unchurched has indicated that this man is with honor in his own country.

THE REV. AND MRS. J. E. SHAW

After having grown to young manhood in the extreme southwestern part of Randolph county and attended the little log school, familiarly known as the "Little Green College" near Eleazer Jesse Edgar Shaw came to Asheboro to accept a position as a mail carrier on July 1, 1896.

It was the Asheboro Star Route and post offices on this route included Science Hill, Merchant, Farmer and Hill's Store. For the first two months of his service, he walked the route both ways, which was a distance of 28 miles. Afterwards, he went on horseback, horse and cart and horse and buggy. During his four years with the mail, he also covered another man's route which included the post offices of McCrary, Caraway, Sawyersville, Hoover Hill and Fuller.

While traveling the Asheboro Star Route, Mr. Shaw met and married his wife, the former Alice Vonnemann, who lived on the road between Asheboro and Farmer. He first saw her while she was attending the Long Branch school along the route and the acquaintance was cultivated further when he would stop at her home between post offices and ask for a drink of water. They were married March 12, '09, nearly 60 years ago.

Eleven children were born to this union, two of whom died in infancy and two daughters, Mrs. Etha Shaw York and Miss Ruth Shaw, passing away in later years. The surviving children are Mrs. Dora Shaw Wright of Asheboro, Mrs. Ora Shaw Leonard of Ramseur, Preston Shaw of Route 1, Franklinville, Mrs. Lillie Shaw McDowell of Asheboro, Harvey Shaw of Route 3, Asheboro, Martin Shaw of Route 2, Randolphman and James Shaw of Asheboro.

Following their marriage, the he pastored the Kernersville, Sinai and Bennett Pilgrim Holiness churches. These churches didn't support him and he had to work nine hours a day at one of the plants to earn a living for his wife and five children. Also, one of the churches, Bennett, was eight miles out of town and he had to walk the entire distance there and back on the Sundays he preached at that place. Since he preached at the church both morning and night, it was late on Sunday nights when he would get back to his home in Kernersville.

It was at Kernersville that the family found one night that they did not have enough food for breakfast the next morning, as the plant at which Mr. Shaw worked had been shut down. Mr. Shaw went down the street, found an empty house in which to pray, and after praying through he went home and retired for the night. The family got up the next morning, and Mr. Shaw went to the post office where he received five dollars in the mail. A friend had written that he felt impelled the night before to send the money early in order that Mr. Shaw might receive it the next morning. Before the day had passed, another letter had received with a five dollar check in it.

Other churches served while in the Pilgrim Holiness denomination were Mt. Zion and Beulah churches in Davidson county. Mt. Zion in Moore county. Mt. Tabor community church, John Wesley's Stand, Ramseur, Mt. Carmel, Mt. Olive, Kliddee, Franklinville, Troy and Asheboro.

He was holding a revival meeting at the Mt. Tabor church, located east of Asheboro, when the flu epidemic broke out in 1918 and two weeks later went back to the church to conduct funeral services for two people who had participated in the revival services.

At one of the churches at which he preached a total of 25 cents during the entire period he stayed at the church. At another one of the churches, he went on a Saturday afternoon for a business meeting and re-

W. J. LITTLE

Sailor Little Dies At 53 In Hospital

Winfred Julius (Sailor) Little, 53, died in the local hospital, about 1 o'clock this morning following an extended illness. His condition had been critical for some time.

Sailor Little, as he was best known, was born in Winston-Salem Dec. 28, 1903, the son of W. T. and Bertha Hendrix Little, and came to High Point with his parents as a child. He served in the U. S. Navy before World War II. During the war he re-enlisted in the Navy. He had been employed with the City of High Point for nearly 28 years as a lineman. He was a member of Wesley Memorial Methodist Church and a faithful member of the Peacock Bible Class and served as Sunday School greeter for over 10 years.

Sophia, Rt. 1, News

SOPHIA, Rt. 1, May 8—Mrs. Ruth Loflin gave a birthday party for her little son, Joey Clébus, who celebrated his fourth birthday Saturday afternoon at their home. Games were enjoyed after which Mrs. Loflin served ice cream and cake. Joey received many nice gifts from the following guests: Rose Ann Pipkin, Beverly and Elaine Farlow, Ricky Farlow, Mikey Poole, Tony Williams, Jean and Lowell Davis, Cralg Prugh, Faye Delane Rich, Linda and Clifford Loflin, Donna Rea Davis, Barry and Debbie Spencer, Elizabeth Ann Farlow, Tommy and Johnny Hayes, Sharon and Ronald Loflin.

Mrs. Eva Mae L. Ashburn and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ophelia B. Farlow were hostesses at a party for their sisters at a party for their sisters-in-law, Mrs. Marie F. Robb, who has spent two weeks here with homefolks. She is making her home at Hopkinsville, Ky., with her husband who is in service there. The party was held at the home of her parents, Emory and Blanche Farlow. Games were enjoyed after which delicious refreshments were served to the thirty-five relatives and friends. The guests presented Marie with a shower of miscellaneous gifts. Sonny arrived Saturday and they left Sunday for their return trip to Ky.

Those attending the mid-year conference of the United Society of Friends Women of North Carolina yearly meeting from Marlboro at Cane Creek Friends Meetinghouse Saturday were Clara Davis, Blanche Farlow, Maybell Pipkin, Nora Farlow, Falcie and Ethel Beeson, Althea Brown and Fadhne Farlow. It was a day well spent with good programs given, a message by the National President of the USFW and two Cuban students of Guilford College. A delicious picnic lunch was served. A large crowd attended the monthly meeting at Marlboro Monday night. An entertaining play was given by members of the USFW.

Mrs. Pat Hemphill of Charlotte and her mother, Mrs. Bessie Williams of Balkin, Md., visited at the home of their uncle, H. A. Brown this week. Mabel L. Farlow is spending some time at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Curtis and Catherine Andrews at Mt. Gillead.

The children of Marlboro Meeting had a good program at the 11 o'clock service Sunday. We are glad to hear that Beulah Nance, who recently underwent a serious operation, is slowly improving but is still in a weak condition.

Howard Beeson and family, Carl and Cora Beeson and son, Odell, spent Sunday visiting James Farlow's family and A. D. and Ora Farlow at Bahama. Cora is a sister of Ora.

ROY PEARCE
ASHEBORO—Roy T. Pearce, 68, died early this morning in a local hospital following a critical illness of two days. A retired textile office clerk, he had been in declining health for five years. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. D. W. McMahon of Tarboro and Mrs. Hoyle Moore of Asheboro; one son, Newton Pearce of Route 3, Denton; two sisters, Mrs. R. A. Cox of Emporium, Kan., and Mrs. Troy Millikan of Sophia; three brothers, Roy Pearce of Sophia, Percy Pearce of Greensboro and Charlie Pearce of Washington, D. C.; 11 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at Marlboro Friends Church Wednesday at 2 p.m., with the Rev. York Teague officiating. Interment will follow in the church cemetery. The body will be removed to the home of a daughter, Mrs. Moore, at 840 Oconeechee St., Asheboro, this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

MAINTAINED OVER SUNDAY FOR PREACHING WITHOUT RECEIVING A CENT. However, on returning to his home a neighbor came out and gave him a quarter.

Twenty-five years ago he transferred over to the Wesleyan Methodist denomination and his first assignment was to the First Wesleyan Methodist church in Phomsaville. He later served at the other Wesleyan Methodist church in Thomasville and at the following churches in the conference, High Pine, Midway, Radford, Va., Troy, he served twice at this church, Rain Hill, Rockingham, Trinity, near Erect, Hoover-Shaws lived in Asheboro and then at Dunbar's Bridge near Farmer for a brief period. They moved to High Point in 1904.

However, before moving to High Point Mr. Shaw had started holding prayer meetings and in 1904, the year they moved to High Point, he received the definite call to the ministry. Two years later, after having held several revival meetings, he entered the active ministry, with his first work being the assistant pastor of the Mt. Olive Pilgrim Holiness church, west of Sophia.

His first full time work was at Kernersville, at which

R. C. Crouse Passes Thursday; Funeral Saturday

Funeral services for Robert Crouse, 68, of Trinity route 1, were held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Fairview Methodist church with the pastor, Rev. Grady Whicker in charge assisted by Rev. Reuben Spencer and Rev. Jimmy Hanson. Interment was made in the church cemetery.

Mr. Crouse died in a High Point hospital Thursday following a four days critical illness.

He was a native of Randolph county and had lived in this county most of his life. He was employed at the Peelpless Plywood Company, and was a member of the Fairview Methodist church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Emily Johnson Crouse; three daughters, Mrs. Anshin Frye of Archdale, Mrs. Gideon Deaton of Trinity and Mrs. Riley McDowell of High Point; six sons, Howard Crouse of the home, Richard Crouse of Ramotham, J. D. Crouse of High Point, Wilford Crouse of Archdale, and Donald and Jack W. Crouse, both ministerial students at Marion, Ind.; a sister, Mrs. Nannie Lookabill of Thomas-

JOHN WESLEY COGGINS

Funeral services for John Wesley Coggins of 407 Jones Street, superintendent of the Adams-Mills Corporation, who passed away at a local hospital Wednesday morning, were conducted from Old Union Methodist Church Saturday morning at 11 o'clock by Dr. J. L. Stokes, church pastor, and Dr. A. B. Conrad, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

The church was filled to overflowing with relatives and friends of the deceased. Beautiful tributes were paid the deceased by the officiating ministers. During the service a quartette from the Adams-Mills Corporation, composed of Roy Padgett, Richard Church, J. L. Coltrane, and Ernest Stevens, sang "Rock of Ages," "In That Beautiful Land," "Daddy, Dear, Daddy" and "Father Along." Flowers were carried by employees of the mill.

The following pallbearers were selected from the management and employees of the mill were: active, W. D. Connelson, T. T. Redding, T. S. Payne, W. L. Slink, W. B. Woodley, J. R. Lewis, J. W. Snodgrass and J. A. Hill; honorary, J. E. Mills, T. C. Langley, Seth Spillman, L. B. Heile, Claude Briles, Emitt Pritchard, Millard Hancock, C. A. Bristow, C. B. Adams, L. Adams, J. Seward, Richard Wall, M. C. Coltrane, J. W. Coltrane, P. G. Beck, Edwin Britton, and Henry Bell.

Shelley G. York Randolph Native Dies Tuesday

Shelley G. York, 59, died suddenly after suffering a heart attack in downtown High Point shortly after 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

A native of Randolph county, he was a son of the late John and Emma Caroline Richardson York and had been a resident of High Point for several years, going there from near Rainsaur, N. C. Following World War I he served in the U. S. Army and was stationed in Hawaii for two years. Returning to High Point he organized and was president of the Glove Manufacturing and Loan Co. and later joined the York Insurance Agency. He had been employed in the U. S. Post Office, High Point since 1935.

Mr. York was a member of the Archdale Friends Meeting and the Brotherhood class of the church. He was a Mason, a past-master of Trinity Grange, and president of the Postal Employees Credit Union.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Bertie Dunn York, two sons, Dr. Shelley C. York Jr. of The Lasting, Walter Thomas York, of Philadelphia, Pa., two brothers, C. A. York of Rainsaur; Walter L. York of High Point; one sister Mrs. Charles Wirtshching, of High Point and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted this morning at 11 o'clock from the Archdale Friends Meeting and burial made in the cemetery.

Marlboro Friends Revival

BY ALTHEA BROWN
SOPHIA — Route 1 — The revival at Marlboro Friends Meeting will begin Sunday morning November 6 and continue through Thursday night. Rev. Buford Frye, pastor of Kernersville Friends Meeting will be the evangelist. All members and friends are urged to attend.

PTA Association Will Meet
The New Market Community Center Association will meet at the center Monday night, October 24. All members are urged to be present.

Carnival
New Market PTA will sponsor a carnival at the New Market School beginning at 4 p.m. Saturday evening, October 22. This is their annual fund raising project and everyone's support will be appreciated. There will be plenty of food and entertainment such as bingo, dart throwing, cake walk, spook house, arts and crafts show, pony rides and buggy rides.

Revival
The revival at Lake Park Baptist Church on Marlboro Road near Hillsville, came to a close last Saturday night. Some very inspiring messages were given by the evangelist, Rev. Frank Hahn of Burlington.

Farm Bureau Meets
The Randolph County Farm Bureau met at the New Market Community Center on Tuesday night, October 11. The meal was prepared by the women of the New Market Community for the 35 in attendance.

Calf Show
Cedar Square 4-H club members showing calves at the state fair at Raleigh Tuesday were Kemp Davis, D. W. Coggins, Ryan, Teresa, Carson, Billy, Diane and Steve Davis. They spent the night at the youth center on Monday.

The New Market Grange No. 1091 was very proud of the Lakeside Baptist Church which they sponsored in the "Rural Church of the Year" contest in being selected as the first runner-up. The announcement was made at the State Grange Convention held at the Robert E. Lee Hotel in Winston-Salem October 12-15.

The Rev. and Mrs. Harry Ward accompanied by the minister of the New Market Grange, Emily D. Pugh and Mr. Pugh were present at the Vesper service held Wednesday night in the state room. At this time, the Rev. Garland Hendricks, state Grange chaplain was in charge of the service and he paid special tribute to Rev. Ward and his congregation for accomplishing so much with so small a membership.

The New Market Grange was also the recipient of the Community Service award sponsored by the N. C. National Bank. The master received a check from the vice president, Mr. Simular, and congratulations from the State Grange Master, Mrs. Harry S. Caldwell.

PTA Meets
The New Market PTA met in regular session on Thursday, October 13. Mr. Underwood, PTA president, gave the de-October regular session on Thursday, October 13. Mr. Underwood, spiritual leader, gave the devotional and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved with one correction. Becky Farrow replaces Marie Davis as co-chairman for room representatives.)

Plans for the carnival to be held October 22 were discussed and school articles will be the same as previous year with parents bringing refreshments.

The report was given of the balance in the treasury of $115.74 with approximately 125 members to date. The members were urged to see Mrs. Underwood about subscription to PTA Magazine. Room Count Winners were: lower grades—Miss Wood 1st grade and upper grades — Mrs. Bach's fifth grade.

Randlemen District Band presented a concert which was enjoyed by all present.

Personals
Mrs. Frank (Earline) Taylor was sick the first of the week and out of work.

J. W. James entered Veterans Hospital at Durham last Wednesday morning for treatment as he has been in declining health for a long time.

Some of the Spencer family around Sophia attended the funeral the past Monday of Mrs. Georgia Spencer, 87, of Greensboro.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Spence, 54-inch fabric.

Masonic Officer
He was also a member of Numa F. Reid Lodge 344, A.F. and A.M. and for several years served as an officer in the lodge as Tyler.

In 1936 he was married to the former Miss Pearl Jones of the Deep River Church Community. They made their home there. Surviving in addition to his wife are his mother, Mrs. Bertha Hendrix Rule of Mebane; two brothers, Fred and Orville Little of High Point, three sisters, Mrs. V. M. Edgerton of Kinston, Mrs. R. M. Shiley and Mrs. J. A. Jones of High Point; two half-sisters, Mrs. G. R. Kidd of Greensboro and Mrs. A. E. Saperfield of High Point.

RITES TODAY

Funeral services for Dr. J. Waldo Woody, 81, of Route 1, Rainsaur, will be held at 11 a.m. today at New Garden Friends Church at Guilford College. Burial will be in New Garden Cemetery. Dr. Woody, a retired Friends minister, died Monday in an Asheville clinic. It was his custom upon the death of a friend or relative to send a memorial gift to the American Friends Board Missions in care of Miss Lonia Ragan, Archdale, N.C.

Mrs. Wayne Davis on the birth of a daughter, October 12. Clay Spencer is a patient in a Greensboro hospital. He will be remembered by several a round here as the son of Joe and Hannah Newlin Spencer.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Williams on the death of their first child last week.

Mrs. Albea Brown and Mrs. Lizzie Walker Holland of High Point, Route 3, were dinner guests of members of Lizzie's family in Greensboro last Sunday. After dinner they visited Reid Walker, Iron Yeargan Mrs. Ethel Lamb and daughter Inez Lamb near Farmer.

Mrs. Blanche D. Farrow was sick first of the week but has improved now.

Congratulations on the wedding Mrs. Annie Royals Ellington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. James, Jr., on October Sunday at 11 p.m. in High Point. The bride and groom were Mr. and Mrs. Bi Memorial Hospital. She had been in declining health for five years and in a critical condition for 10 days.

Happy Birthday to Herbert years and in a critical condition. October 2; Lib Wehborn, October 6; Joey Wehborn, October 6; Ryan Davis, October 11; Bernice Davis, October 11; Josephine Whitten, October 13; Josephine Whitten, October 13; Sherman Hampton, October 15; Mrs. W. James, October 19; and Karen Hardin, October 17.

Birthdays of the new year.

SOPHIA, Route 1—The New Market Community Center Association Committee and others met in the school cafeteria Saturday night with a good attendance.

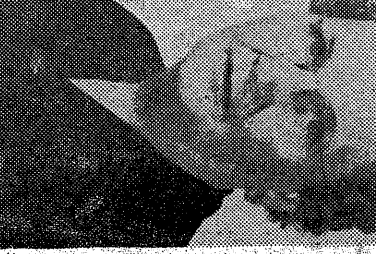

Child Burned
Loarville Hazel Wood, 18 months old child of Glenora was badly burned last week in an accident. It was in bed, with electric blanket and it short circuited and burned the child. It is in Baptist Hospital, Winston-Salem. They are trying to save his little leg and arm but not out of danger. They are hoping to be successful in the treatment used and say it now does have a chance.

Association To Meet
The New Market Community Center Association will meet at the school cafeteria the 22nd of this month. Everyone remember this date and go out. This will be on Monday night.

Valentine Party Held
Mrs. Horne and family were hosts at a Valentine party at the home basement of Jimmie and Nancy Hunt in honor of Cadet Scout Troop on Saturday Market on Saturday.

Misses Tomorrow
Funeral services will be held in Wesley Memorial Church Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock with the pastor, the Rev. Walker J. Miller, the Rev. J. H. Waldrop associate minister, and the Rev. Mr. Gregory, minister of the new Friends Church at Deep River, officiating. The body will be placed in the church 30 minutes before the services, remaining at Yow's Funeral Home until that time. Burial will be in Deep River Cemetery.

Officers and members of Numa F. Reid Lodge will have charge of the services at the grave. Members of the Peacock Bible Class and officials and city employees will attend the church service together.

Mrs. Ellington Is Dead At 83

CONGRATULATIONS on the wedding Mrs. Annie Royals Ellington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. James, Jr., on October Sunday at 11 p.m. in High Point. The bride and groom were Mr. and Mrs. Bi Memorial Hospital. She had been in declining health for five years and in a critical condition for 10 days.

Happy Birthday to Herbert years and in a critical condition. October 2; Lib Wehborn, October 6; Joey Wehborn, October 6; Ryan Davis, October 11; Bernice Davis, October 11; Josephine Whitten, October 13; Josephine Whitten, October 13; Sherman Hampton, October 15; Mrs. W. James, October 19; and Karen Hardin, October 17.

Birthdays of the new year.

SOPHIA, Route 1—The New Market Community Center Association Committee and others met in the school cafeteria Saturday night with a good attendance.

Child Burned
Loarville Hazel Wood, 18 months old child of Glenora was badly burned last week in an accident. It was in bed, with electric blanket and it short circuited and burned the child. It is in Baptist Hospital, Winston-Salem. They are trying to save his little leg and arm but not out of danger. They are hoping to be successful in the treatment used and say it now does have a chance.

Association To Meet
The New Market Community Center Association will meet at the school cafeteria the 22nd of this month. Everyone remember this date and go out. This will be on Monday night.

Valentine Party Held
Mrs. Horne and family were hosts at a Valentine party at the home basement of Jimmie and Nancy Hunt in honor of Cadet Scout Troop on Saturday Market on Saturday.

Misses Tomorrow
Funeral services will be held in Wesley Memorial Church Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock with the pastor, the Rev. Walker J. Miller, the Rev. J. H. Waldrop associate minister, and the Rev. Mr. Gregory, minister of the new Friends Church at Deep River, officiating. The body will be placed in the church 30 minutes before the services, remaining at Yow's Funeral Home until that time. Burial will be in Deep River Cemetery.

Officers and members of Numa F. Reid Lodge will have charge of the services at the grave. Members of the Peacock Bible Class and officials and city employees will attend the church service together.

Springfield Friends Meeting, so a life member of the United Society of Friends Women of Springfield. On Jan. 15, 1902, she was married to Willard E. Ellington, who died Dec. 31, 1930. Mrs. Ellington was a founder of Ellington's Florist Association, a charter member of the N. C. Florist Association, charter member of the Telephone Delivery Service, member of the Society of American Florists, member of the Southeastern Florist Assoc. and a charter member of High Point Florist Assoc. She was also a member of the Southern Retail Florist Assoc. and a member of Florist Transit World Delivery Assoc.

Surviving are three sons, Herbert Ellington of 2800 S. Main St., W. W. Ellington and Charles Blakett Ellington, both of the home; two daughters, Mrs. Bill (Lena) Nance of Thomasville and Mrs. Robert (Nell) White of Charlotte; 10 grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. W. T. Blackard-son of Trinity.

Funeral will be held Tuesday at 4 p.m. at Springfield Friends Meeting House by the Rev. A. Rees. Burial will be in Springfield Cemetery. The body will remain at Cunby Mortuary until 30 minutes prior to the service. The family will be at the funeral home tonight from 7 until 11.

There were 13 members present and two visitors. Iris Farrow, troop leader, at Kathleen Spencer, assistant, attended. They enjoyed games for a while and refreshments consisting of cup cakes, punch and Valentine candy was served. This group is working on projects. Five of them are working on cooking badges with Tassie Bulla, leading. The rest of the group is taking dressmaking with their leader, Edith Davis. They want to win a badge on that. Their Ben Pugh, president of New Market Civitan Club and Burleigh Wall attended the East and West Civitan Convention last Saturday. Many reports of N. C. Goldsboro as delegates of N. C. Civitan Clubs were given at accounts of what had been done in each club since last year.

Mrs. Kermit (Mildred) Farrow happened to the misfortune to get an arm and hand badly scratched one day last week. She has been suffering quite a bit with it.

William and Lucille Taylor made a business trip to Raleigh last Monday. They were accompanied by Marvin and Sadie Osborne.

We are glad to note Mrs. Lizzie James is able to sit up on her bed some now. Mrs. Emma Charles of High Point is spending some time with her now. There is quite a bit of virus and flu around. We have sure had six weeks of rough weeks.

Congratulations to Mrs. Sylvia Farrow while who celebrated her 77th birthday last Wednesday, February 17th. She is one of our oldest well known neighbors and we are glad she is still in our midst. Though she is in declining health and not able to get out much she is still cheerful and taking an interest in things around her. She enjoys company, so go visit her.

They enjoyed games for a while and refreshments consisting of cup cakes, punch and Valentine candy was served. This group is working on projects. Five of them are working on cooking badges with Tassie Bulla, leading. The rest of the group is taking dressmaking with their leader, Edith Davis. They want to win a badge on that. Their Ben Pugh, president of New Market Civitan Club and Burleigh Wall attended the East and West Civitan Convention last Saturday. Many reports of N. C. Goldsboro as delegates of N. C. Civitan Clubs were given at accounts of what had been done in each club since last year.

Mrs. Kermit (Mildred) Farrow happened to the misfortune to get an arm and hand badly scratched one day last week. She has been suffering quite a bit with it.

William and Lucille Taylor made a business trip to Raleigh last Monday. They were accompanied by Marvin and Sadie Osborne.

We are glad to note Mrs. Lizzie James is able to sit up on her bed some now. Mrs. Emma Charles of High Point is spending some time with her now. There is quite a bit of virus and flu around. We have sure had six weeks of rough weeks.

Congratulations to Mrs. Sylvia Farrow while who celebrated her 77th birthday last Wednesday, February 17th. She is one of our oldest well known neighbors and we are glad she is still in our midst. Though she is in declining health and not able to get out much she is still cheerful and taking an interest in things around her. She enjoys company, so go visit her.

They enjoyed games for a while and refreshments consisting of cup cakes, punch and Valentine candy was served. This group is working on projects. Five of them are working on cooking badges with Tassie Bulla, leading. The rest of the group is taking dressmaking with their leader, Edith Davis. They want to win a badge on that. Their Ben Pugh, president of New Market Civitan Club and Burleigh Wall attended the East and West Civitan Convention last Saturday. Many reports of N. C. Goldsboro as delegates of N. C. Civitan Clubs were given at accounts of what had been done in each club since last year.

Plans Are Approved

for the many activities her and help cheer her up.

Child Burned
Loarville Hazel Wood, 18 months old child of Glenora was badly burned last week in an accident. It was in bed, with electric blanket and it short circuited and burned the child. It is in Baptist Hospital, Winston-Salem. They are trying to save his little leg and arm but not out of danger. They are hoping to be successful in the treatment used and say it now does have a chance.

Association To Meet
The New Market Community Center Association will meet at the school cafeteria the 22nd of this month. Everyone remember this date and go out. This will be on Monday night.

Valentine Party Held
Mrs. Horne and family were hosts at a Valentine party at the home basement of Jimmie and Nancy Hunt in honor of Cadet Scout Troop on Saturday Market on Saturday.

Misses Tomorrow
Funeral services will be held in Wesley Memorial Church Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock with the pastor, the Rev. Walker J. Miller, the Rev. J. H. Waldrop associate minister, and the Rev. Mr. Gregory, minister of the new Friends Church at Deep River, officiating. The body will be placed in the church 30 minutes before the services, remaining at Yow's Funeral Home until that time. Burial will be in Deep River Cemetery.

Officers and members of Numa F. Reid Lodge will have charge of the services at the grave. Members of the Peacock Bible Class and officials and city employees will attend the church service together.

Congratulations to Mrs. Sylvia Farrow while who celebrated her 77th birthday last Wednesday, February 17th. She is one of our oldest well known neighbors and we are glad she is still in our midst. Though she is in declining health and not able to get out much she is still cheerful and taking an interest in things around her. She enjoys company, so go visit her.

They enjoyed games for a while and refreshments consisting of cup cakes, punch and Valentine candy was served. This group is working on projects. Five of them are working on cooking badges with Tassie Bulla, leading. The rest of the group is taking dressmaking with their leader, Edith Davis. They want to win a badge on that. Their Ben Pugh, president of New Market Civitan Club and Burleigh Wall attended the East and West Civitan Convention last Saturday. Many reports of N. C. Goldsboro as delegates of N. C. Civitan Clubs were given at accounts of what had been done in each club since last year.

Mrs. Kermit (Mildred) Farrow happened to the misfortune to get an arm and hand badly scratched one day last week. She has been suffering quite a bit with it.

William and Lucille Taylor made a business trip to Raleigh last Monday. They were accompanied by Marvin and Sadie Osborne.

We are glad to note Mrs. Lizzie James is able to sit up on her bed some now. Mrs. Emma Charles of High Point is spending some time with her now. There is quite a bit of virus and flu around. We have sure had six weeks of rough weeks.

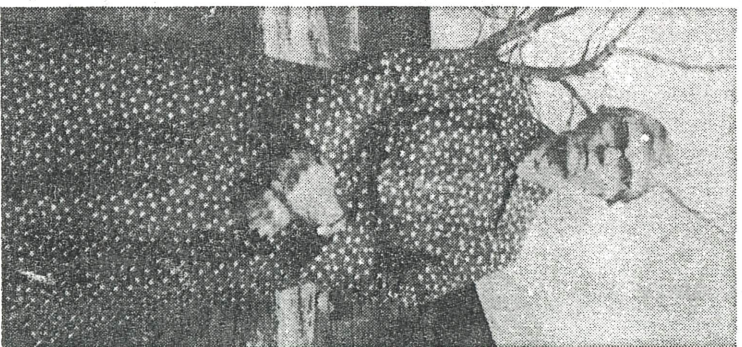

Ever Hear Of Rendering?

By VAUGHN MARLEY

Did you ever hear of "Rendering Lard?" Well this is a story of one who is an expert in this art in her community. Mrs. Doska York Staley lives at home. It is the home where she was reared, in "Yorktown," as we often call the neighborhood where there were once few people except the Yorks.

Uncle Ehos York reared a large family and the settled there. Uncle Henry and Aunt Betty lived in sight although Uncle Henry was a cousin to the Ehos York family. Two daughters made up the family, Doska and Donna. Doska married George Staley and settled near Kildee church and reared a large family. Mr. Staley died 23 years ago and she has lived back at home with her son Charlie since then. Of course, she goes back to the other home occasionally where Ohs, another son lives.

Mrs. Staley is the only living charter member of Kildee Pilgrim Holiness church. I believe there are few services there that don't find her in the congregation. Quiet and unassuming as her nature is, she has such an influence in her community that makes her a "Mother in Israel" to those who know and love her. She has three hobbies: flowers, "fancy work" consisting in crochet, embroidery and needlework. It would be interesting if we knew how many aprons and quilts she has made.

The home grounds blossom with various kinds of flowers that cover all seasons of the year. These must have water when needed and her attention when needed and her attention to them is given religiously.

While she leaves the most of the cooking to the good daughter-in-law, Zephel (who can cook more good food in less time than any woman I know except Nannie) is the master lard-rendering woman of the community. This is a job that the neighbors just turn over to Doska. While most of the younger women would burn or at least scorch the fat and ruin the lard, there is no danger when Mrs. Staley is handling the job. She knows just how it should be done, so the neighbors just bring in the fat and she does the work. Zephel told me that she had just about worn out her pot stirring lard fat. Another pot must be bought or the work would have to stop for the pot is getting very thin on one side from the wear of the paddle, and if it should break it would be very dangerous for burning fat would make a bad fire.

Miss Evelyn Paige Beeson

A chapel wedding on May 14 is planned by Miss Shirley Faye Haney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Haney of this city, and Walter Jackson Rouse, son of Mrs. O. D. Sowers of High Point and the late J. M. Rouse of Kingston. The engagement is announced today by her parents.

The betrothal of Miss Evelyn Paige Beeson, of High Point, to Donald Reid Alred, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Neal C. Alred of Randleman is being announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis H. Beeson of Sopha. The wedding date has been set for March 26 at the home of her parents in Sopha.

FRED O. PLUMMER SUCCUMBED MONDAY AT SALISBURY

Well Known Railroad Man Sick Only Short Time,
Funeral Yesterday

FOLLOWING OPERATION

Fred O. Plummer, Sr., 62, an employee of the Southern Railroad for 35 years, has made his last run. A familiar figure on the streets of Asheboro and one of the town's most jovial men, Plummer succumbed in Rowan Memorial hospital in Salisbury Monday night at 8 p. m. following a brief illness and a major operation on Thursday.

Plummer made his last run on Wednesday to Washington, D. C., and return. He entered the hospital shortly after arriving in Spencer. The doctors were baffled at the suddenness of Plummer's illness and requested permission of the family to perform an autopsy to determine the cause of death.

A native of Asheboro, Plummer went to work for the Southern at the age of 25. He had been in good health up until last week and his death was unexpected.

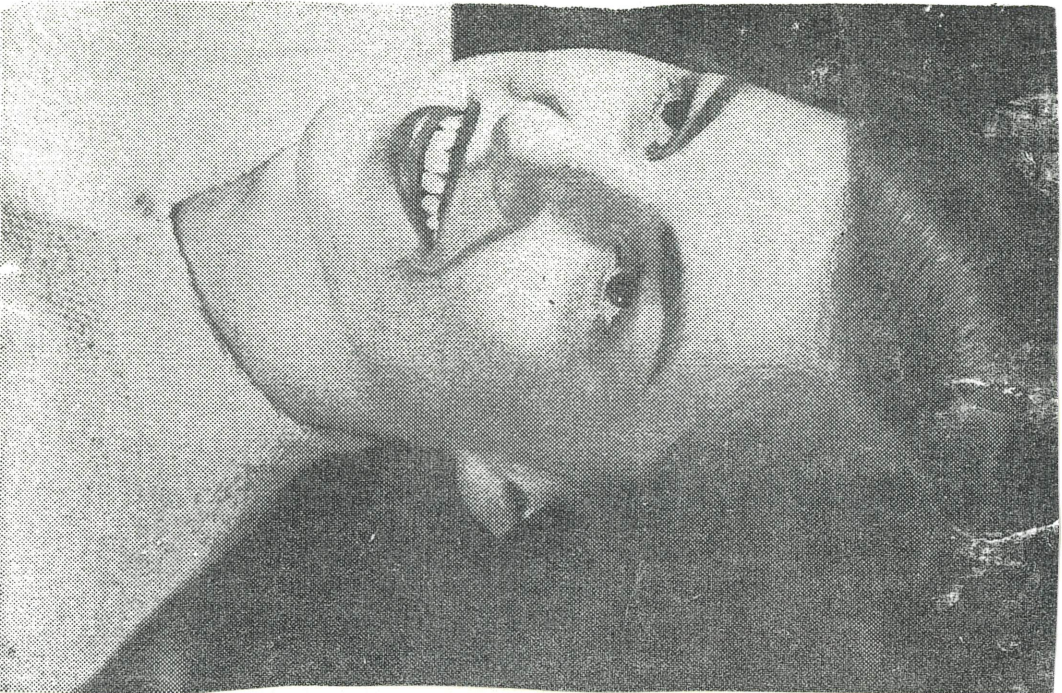

He was a member of the Asheboro Friends church where funeral services were conducted yesterday with the pastor, Rev. David Standfield, officiating. Burial was in Oak Lawn cemetery.

Survivors in addition to his wife, the former Maude A. Nance of Asheboro, are two sons, J. W. "Willie" Plummer of North Asheboro and Fred O. Plummer, Jr., of Spencer; two brothers, Robert R. Plummer of Archdale and John S. Plummer of Spencer; and one sister, Mrs. Elmer Harper of Asheboro.

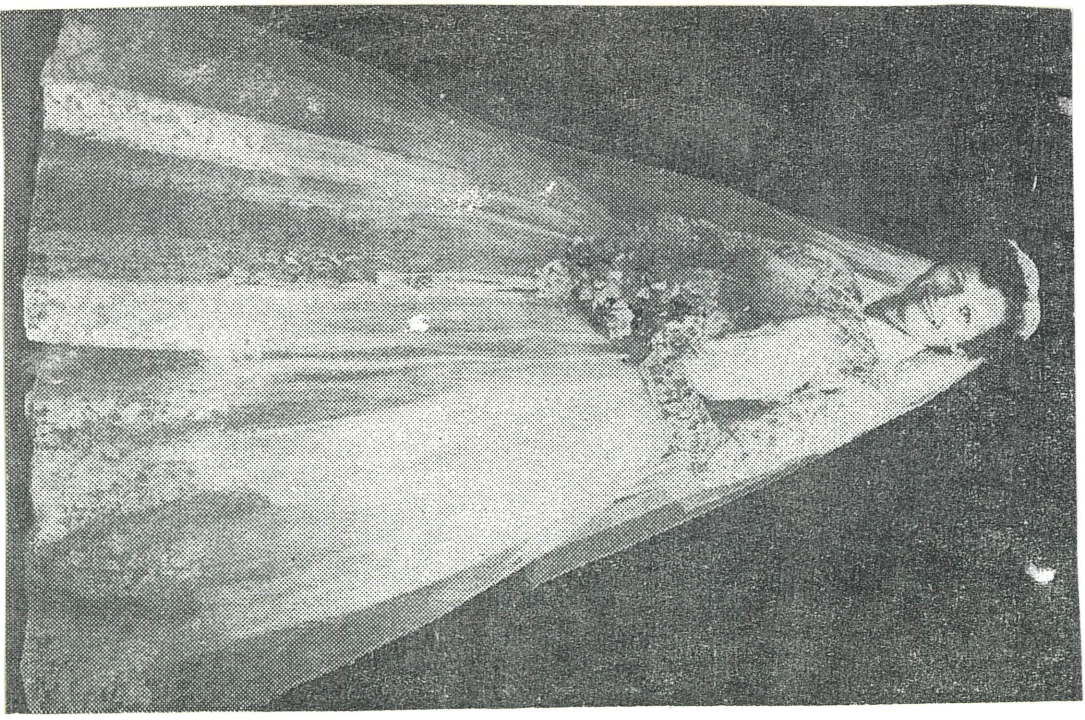

THE PUGH
Mrs. E. M. Pugh, 83, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sophie, about 7 p. m.

Mr. Pugh is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Colton Farlow; one son, Ewart of Route 1, Randleman; three sisters, Mrs. J. G. Alkman of Route 1, Franklinville, and Mrs. Claude Barker, Route 1, Chimney; five grandchildren.

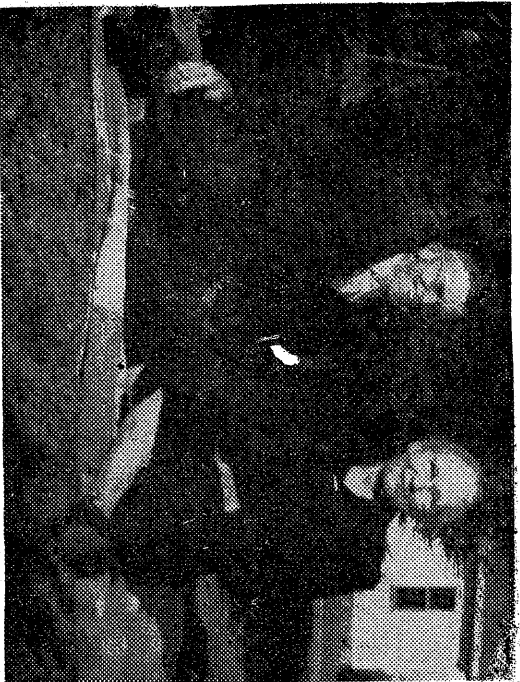

Funeral services will be held today at 3 p. m. at Gray's Chapel, Methodist Church. Burial will be in the church cemetery. The body will remain at Pugh Funeral home until the hour of the services.

Miss Clara Farlow

Mrs. Morris Wayne Farlow

J. C. ALLEN AND THE LATE MRS. ALLEN

Randolph Native Tells Of Long Postal Service

Jeremiah C. Allen of High Point, 65-year-old retired mail parmenter, carrier and Ransseur native, visited the Courier-Tribune office this week and submitted his interview concerning his 37 years and three months of High Point, where he had de-railway mail service out of Washington, D. C., in 1913 and later worked on railway mail cars in eastern North Carolina and on the high Point-Asheboro run, where he stayed until the government issued an order requiring railway mailmen to carry weapons.

Mr. Allen refused to carry a gun. "This caused a little stir at Washington and here," he said. "I was the only clerk in the United States refusing to bear arms."

A part-time Friends minister, Mr. Allen said he did not believe in harming anyone. The upshot was that he switched to a job as mail carrier in High Point.

He was born near Ransseur June 6, 1868, the son of Miles T. Allen and Rachel Moffitt Allen. He finished Franklinville high school under D. M. Weatherly, and taught school in the Holy Spring neighborhood for ten years.

On April 1, 1907, he married Pearl L. Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Cox, whose address then was Brown, N. C. That post office has been discontinued and the neighborhood is now part of Asheboro, route 4.

Soon after their marriage Mrs. Allen joined the Ransseur Society of Friends, commonly called "Quakers", with her husband, who had been a lifelong member and in 1925 they both joined the Friends Meeting established at Friendsville, near Ransseur.

The former mail carrier and his brother, S. S. Allen, married sisters, Myrtle and Pearl Cox, at the Cox home in a double ceremony with a Rev. Mr. Stowe officiating, he recalls.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Allen had three children, Mrs. Fern N. Boles of Tulsa, Oklahoma, Lester M. Allen of Greensboro and Clinton J. Allen of North Asheville.

Mrs. Allen died September 22, 1949, and was buried at Holy Spring in Randolph county. Mr. Allen makes his home in High Point at 1200 Anderson street, but still owns some farm land in Randolph county.

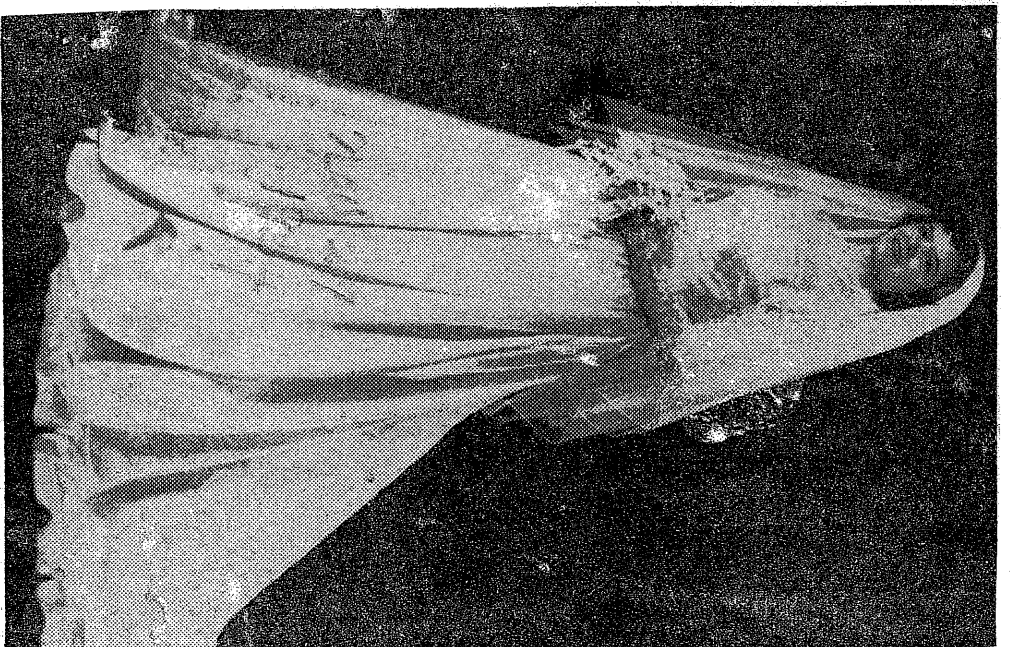

MARY RUTH WATSON, 10, DIES AT HER HOME, SOPHIA, RT. 1

Mary Ruth Watson, 10, died at her home this morning on Sophia, Route 1. She had been ill since January.

Mary Ruth was born January 13, 1932, in Randolph county, a daughter of O. W. Watson and Ruby Spencer Watson.

Survivors include her parents, two brothers, O. W. Watson, Jr. of Clinton and E. Watson of Sophia; two sisters, Jacqueline and Ola E. Watson, also of Sophia, Route 1; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Watson of High Point and a grandmother, Nora Spencer of Genola.

Funeral arrangements were in definite, but will probably be held Monday morning, it was stated.

Mrs. Robert G. Hyde is the former Miss Nancy Louise Hohn, daughter of Mrs. Beulah H. Hohn and the late Mr. H. A. High Point Enterprise, Monday, Nov. 14, 1966

Rich - Farlow Couple Weds

SOPHIA — Miss Elizabeth Ann Farlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy McLain Farlow, was wed to Larry Wade Rich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Talmage Rich, on Sunday with Rev. Bobby Medford officiating at the wedding.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Gary White, organist, and Miss Mary Coleman, soloist of Guilford College.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight peau de soie and Alencon lace designed with a lace bodice featuring a high neckline and long sleeves. A detachable waterau train was attached to the appliqued sheath skirt. Her veil of silk illusion was attached to a lace yllbox headpiece accented with seed pearls. She carried a lace covered Bible topped with white orchid.

Mrs. Keith Davis was matron of honor and Miss Elaine Farlow was bridesmaid. Both are sisters of the bride. Another sister, Beverly, was junior bridesmaid. There were also seven honor attendants, two flower girls, and a ring-bearer.

The attendants wore gowns of gold satin with embossed gold taffeta empire bodices. They wore floor-length A-line skirts with full-length streamers attached by back bows. Their bouyant veils were attached to matching satin bows. They carried arm rings.

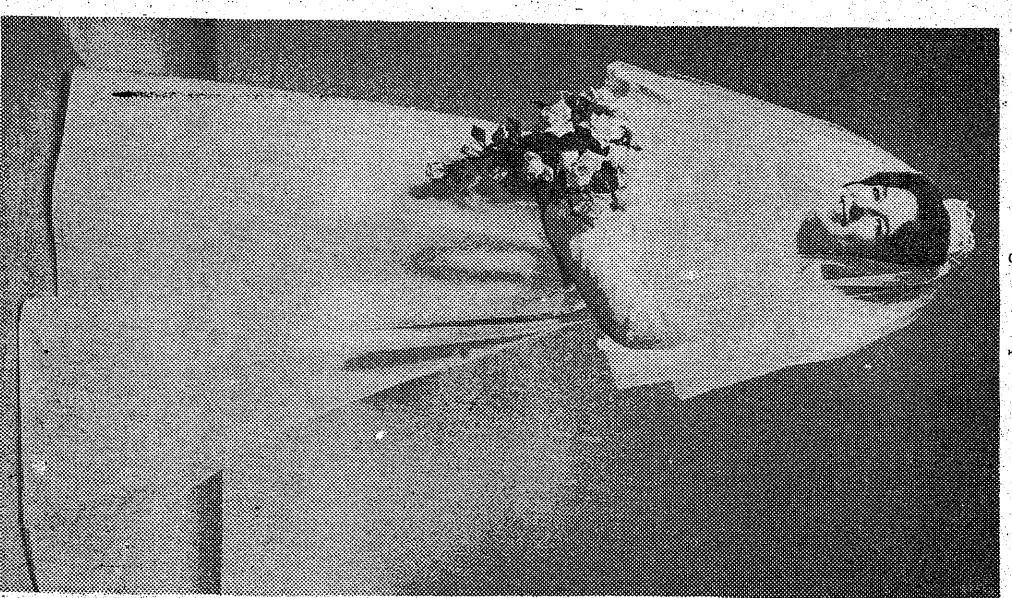

The flower girls wore dresses of white embossed taffeta and carried a lace basket of rose petals.

Best man was the father of the bridegroom and ushers were Boyd Rich his brother, Ernie Rich, Danny Rich and Keith Davis.

A graduate of Randelman High School, the bride attended Guilford College in Greens-

The bridegroom also graduated from Randelman High School with the class of 1965 and attended the hometown division of Guilford College.

The cake-cutting was given by the bride's parents at their home on Saturday. The couple will reside in Sophia.

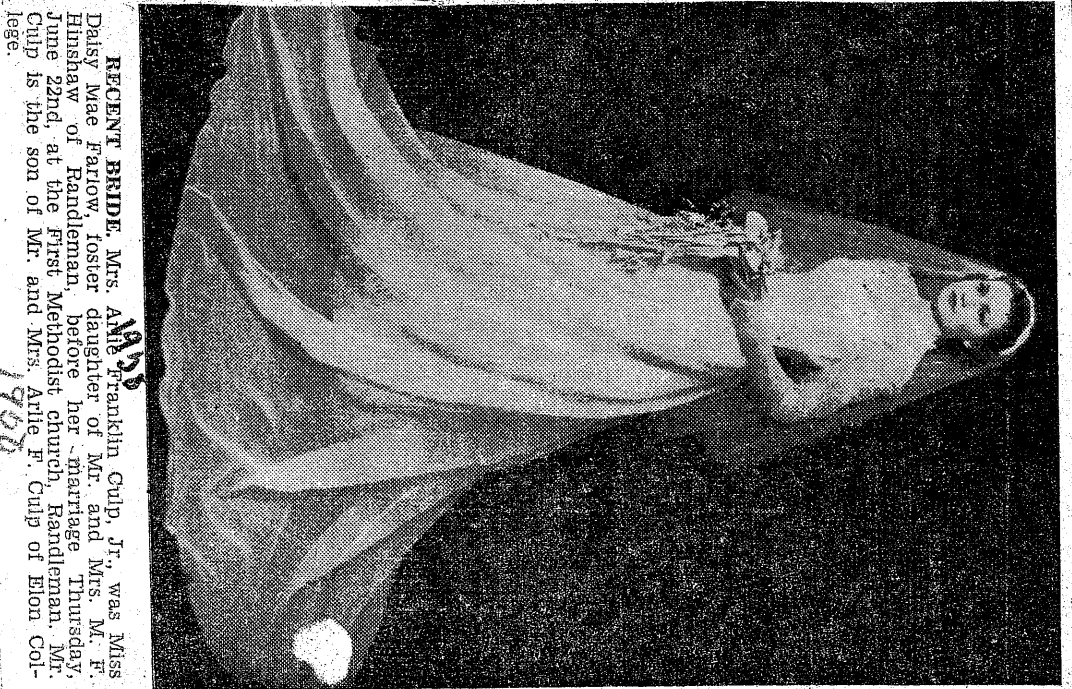

Mrs. Larry Wade Rich

COURIER-TRIBUNE PHOTOGRAPH—ROY COX, JR.

GRAND CHAMPIONS—Named Grand Champion winners in various breeds at today's annual Junior Dairy Show were entries submitted by these young people. Pictured left to right with their entries are Kenneth Lambeth, Ken Steed, Gary Brown, Larry McDowell and Sherwell. Show was sponsored by Hudson-Belk's in Asheboro and Belk-Yates in Randle-

RECENT BRIDE, Mrs. Ame Franklin Culp, Jr., was Miss Daisy Mae Farlow, foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Hinshaw of Randleman, before her marriage Thursday, June 22nd, at the First Methodist church, Randleman. Mr. Culp is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arlie F. Culp of Elon College.